

I am responding to the plutonium consultation as a private individual.

In respect of the consultation questions:

- 1) I agree that it is sensible to issue generic guidance.
- 2) The process is clear, appropriate and proportional.
- 3) The level of information is appropriate for the purpose of justification. It is not clear, however, the extent of the stock of plutonium to be converted to MOX and if not 100% of the amount in the UK what would be done with the remainder.
- 4) Non apart from information relating to 3 above.

Peter Riley