Introduction

This bulletin presents statistics on activity in the county, family, Crown and magistrates' courts in England and Wales for the third quarter (July to September) of 2009. This is the third edition of the Court Statistics Quarterly bulletin.

Calendar year court statistics are also published by the Ministry of Justice in the statistical report "Judicial and Court Statistics".

These statistical bulletins are available from the Ministry of Justice website at:

County courts (non-family) [Tables 1.1 – 1.5]

Claims issued

Historically, the normal method of taking someone to court is for the person doing so (the claimant) to complete a claim form and take it in to a county court. However, the creation of electronic services has meant that claims for a specified amount of money or repossession of property can be completed via the internet (via www.moneyclaim.gov.uk and www.possessionclaim.gov.uk) while claimants issuing a large number of claims each year (e.g. banks and utilities) can do so through the Claim Production Centre.

In the third quarter of 2009 there were 482,200 claims issued, 13 per cent fewer than in the third quarter of 2008. Compared with the same quarter in 2008, there was a 17 per cent decrease in claims issued for a specified amount of money and a 22 per cent reduction in claims issued for mortgage and landlord possession. In contrast, the number of claims issued for an unspecified amount of money and the number of petitions for insolvency both increased by 14 per cent over the same period.

Case progression, hearings and judgments

On receipt of the claim, the claim form and a response pack is sent to (served on) the defendant who has a specific time limit to reply. The options given to the defendant are to pay up, dispute the claim, or admit the claim and ask for more time to pay up. In the third quarter of 2009, 81,500 defences were made, a 5 per cent increase compared with the third quarter of 2008. If the claim is defended, the usual procedure is for it to be allocated by a judge to one of three case management tracks according to the complexity of the case and the degree of judicial involvement. In total, there were 48,600 allocations to track in the third quarter of 2009, a 10 per cent increase compared with the same quarter in 2008. The number of allocations to the fast track showed a year-on-year increase of 19 per cent, while the number of allocations to the multi track decreased by 5 per cent. This largely reflects the rise in the fast track (claim value) limit from £15,000 to £25,000 for all proceedings issued on or after 6th April 2009, resulting in a large number of cases issued for over £15,000 but not more than £25,000 being allocated to the fast track rather than the multi track. The number of allocations to the small claim track (generally for cases with a claim value of up to £5,000) increased by 10 per cent compared to the third quarter of 2008.

Although most cases settle or are withdrawn, there were 4,900 trials and 11,900 small claim hearings in the third quarter of 2009, increases of 3 per cent and 7 per cent respectively compared with the corresponding quarter in 2008. On average, trials occurred 49 weeks following issue, up from 48 weeks in the third quarter of 2008, while small claim hearings occurred 31 weeks following issue, up from 29 weeks in the same quarter of 2008.

Enforcement

There are various methods of enforcing judgments in the county courts. The most common method is the warrant of execution against a debtor's goods, where unless the amount due under the warrant is paid, saleable items owned by a defendant can be recovered by the court and sold. Other warrant types are for the repossession of property, the return of particular goods or items, and to enforce an order for which the penalty for failure to comply is imprisonment, the warrant of committal which authorises the bailiff to arrest and deliver the person to prison or the court. In the third quarter of 2009:

- 55,400 warrants of execution were issued, a 24 per cent decrease on the third quarter of 2008.
- 35,700 warrants of possession were issued, a decrease of 13 per cent on the same quarter in 2008.
- 500 warrants of delivery were issued, a decrease of 18 per cent on the third quarter of 2008.
- 300 warrants of committal were issued, a decrease of 21 per cent on the third quarter of 2008.

A judgment amount can also be enforced through the claimant applying for:

- An attachment of earnings order obliging the debtor's employer to deduct a set sum from the debtor's pay and forward it to the court. There were 15,100 applications made for attachment of earnings orders in the third quarter of 2009, a decrease of 10 per cent on the same quarter of 2008.

- A charging order enabling the creditor to obtain security for the payment against a property owned by the debtor. There were 31,900 applications made for charging orders in the third quarter of 2009, a decrease of 23 per cent on the same quarter of 2008.
- A third party debt order enabling the creditor to secure payment by freezing and then seizing money owed or payable by a third party to a debtor. There were 1,600 applications made for third party debt orders in the third quarter of 2009, a decrease of 24 per cent on the same quarter of 2008.

In certain circumstances a debtor may apply to a county court to combine debts into an administration order. The debtor must have a judgment debt and at least one other that he is unable to pay with the total indebtedness not exceeding £5,000. Once the debts have been examined and found to be correctly calculated a District Judge can make an order for the debtor to make regular payments to the court. The court will then distribute the money in the appropriate proportions to the creditors listed by the debtor. There were 500 applications for administration orders in the third quarter of 2009, an increase of 9 per cent on the same quarter of 2008.

To assist in determining the most appropriate method of enforcing a judgment, the claimant can apply for an order to obtain information from the judgment debtors. This involves debtors being ordered to attend court to provide details of their means. There were 7,500 orders made to obtain information from debtors in the third quarter of 2009, a decrease of 4 per cent compared with the third quarter of 2008.

Family matters [Tables 2.1 – 2.3]

Family matters are dealt with in the Family Division of the High Court, in county courts and, with the exception of divorce proceedings, in family proceedings courts (those magistrates' courts that hear family cases). Most matters affecting children are dealt with under the Children Act 1989 in all three levels of courts.

Matrimonial matters

There are two ways to dissolve a marriage – a decree absolute of divorce, which ends a valid marriage; or a decree of nullity, which declares that the marriage itself is void. No petition may be made for divorce within the first year of marriage. There were 34,400 petitions filed for dissolution of marriage in the third quarter of 2009, compared to 32,500 in the third quarter of 2008. The number of decrees absolute granted for dissolution fell to 29,500 in the third quarter of 2009 from the 30,700 in the third quarter of 2008.

An alternative to divorce is a decree of judicial separation. This does not dissolve the marriage but absolves the parties from the obligation to live together. The number of petitions filed for judicial separation was 81 in the third quarter of 2009 compared to 107 in the third quarter of the previous year.

Ancillary relief

During or after a divorce, the annulment of a marriage or judicial separation, there may still be a need for the court to settle disputes over money or property. The court can make a financial order, known as ancillary relief and may deal with the sale or transfer of property, maintenance payments, a lump sum payment and/or a pension sharing or attachment order.

In the third quarter of 2009, the total number of applications disposed of was 20,800, down from the 23,200 in the corresponding quarter of 2008.

Domestic violence

Part IV of the Family Law Act 1996 provides single and unified domestic violence remedies in the magistrates' courts and the county courts. Two types of order can be granted: a non-molestation order (which can either prohibit particular behaviour or general molestation); or an occupation order (which can define or regulate rights of occupation of the home).

The number of applications to the county courts for domestic violence remedies increased from 6,700 in the third quarter of 2008 to 6,900 in the third quarter of 2009. The proportion of applications made for non-molestation orders also increased from 69 per cent to 73 per cent in that period.

Matters affecting children

Most matters affecting children are dealt with under the Children Act 1989. Public law cases are those brought by local authorities or an authorised person (currently only the NSPCC) and include matters such as care, supervision and emergency protection orders. Private law cases are those brought by private individuals, generally in connection with divorce or the parents' separation. Order types include parental responsibility, "Section 8" orders (referring to the relevant section of the Children Act 1989), financial applications and special guardianship orders.

In the third quarter of 2009 there were 6,500 public law applications, a 35 per cent increase on the same quarter of the previous year. Three quarters of these applications were made in Family Proceedings Courts. There were also 35,600 private law applications in the third quarter of 2009, a 19 per cent increase on the third quarter of 2008. Just over three quarters (77 per cent) of these applications were made in county courts.

The figures for 2009 are thought to include a degree of double-counting of applications initially lodged in a County Court and then transferred to a Family Proceedings Court. This issue is being investigated by Ministry of Justice statisticians, which may lead to the figures being revised in future bulletins.

Crown Court [Tables 3.1 – 3.5]

Caseload

In the third quarter of 2009, around 16,700 cases were committed for trial in the Crown Court. During the same period around 15,700 cases were completed, leaving an outstanding case balance of around 23,100 at the end of September 2009. Compared with the third quarter of last year, the committed for trial caseload increased by 16 per cent.

A further 8,800 cases were sent for trial during the third quarter of 2009. Around 8,700 cases such cases were completed in this period, leaving an outstanding case balance of around 16,100 at the end of September 2009. Compared with the corresponding period of 2008, the sent for trial caseload decreased by 3 per cent.

Around 9,600 cases from the magistrates' courts were committed for sentence in the Crown Court during the third quarter. Some 9,900 cases were completed, leaving an outstanding case balance of around 4,700 at the end of September 2009. The committed for sentence caseload decreased by 10 per cent compared with the third quarter of 2008.

The Crown Court received around 3,600 appeals against magistrates' courts' decisions in the third quarter of 2009. During the same period around 3,600 cases were completed, leaving an outstanding case balance of around 2,900 at the end of September 2009. Compared with the third quarter of last year, the appeal caseload increased by 3 per cent.

Trials

A trial in the Crown Court is a hearing at which the prosecution produces evidence to prove the case against the defendant. The defendant has had a previous opportunity in an earlier preliminary hearing to plead on the charges they are facing. If they decide to plead not guilty then the case will be adjourned for full trial at a later date.

The Crown Court records the outcome of the main trial. Trial outcomes are listed as 'Effective' (commences on scheduled date and reaches a conclusion), 'Ineffective' (does not commence on due date and requires re-listing) or 'Cracked' (on the day, an acceptable plea is offered or prosecution offers no evidence).

In the third quarter of 2009, around 10,500 trials were recorded in the Crown Court, an increase of 15 per cent compared with the third quarter of last year. Of these, 45 per cent were recorded as effective, 13 per cent were recorded as ineffective and 42 per cent were recorded as cracked.

Defendants

A guilty plea is recorded if a defendant either: (a) pleads guilty to all counts; (b) pleads guilty to some counts, not guilty to others and no jury is sworn in respect of the not guilty counts; or (c) pleads not guilty to some or all counts, but offers a guilty plea to alternatives which are accepted (providing no jury is sworn in respect of other counts). A case is treated as a guilty plea only if pleas of guilty are recorded in respect of all defendants.

In the third quarter of 2009, the Crown Court dealt with 26,600 defendants, an increase of 10 per cent compared with the third quarter of last year. Of these, 68 per cent pleaded guilty to all counts, 29 per cent pleaded not guilty to at least one count, and 3 per cent did not enter a plea. The guilty plea rate (the number of defendants pleading guilty to all counts as a proportion of all defendants with a plea) remained at around 70 per cent.

Timeliness

Following the introduction of policies in 2008 to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of the Crown Court, performance measures were established in all cases to reduce the average number of preliminary hearings.

Average hearing time measures the average duration of all hearings heard in the Crown Court including preliminary, main and sentence hearings. In the third quarter of 2009 the average hearing time was 12.6 hours for not guilty plea trial cases, an increase of 7 per cent compared with the third quarter of last year; 1.3 hours for guilty plea trial cases; 0.5 hours for cases committed for sentence; and 1 hour for appeals.

Average waiting time measures the average length of time between the date of sending or committal and the start of the substantive Crown Court hearing. In the third quarter of 2009 the average waiting times for not guilty plea trial cases and guilty plea trial cases were 24.8 and 12.1 weeks respectively. Compared with the third quarter of last year, they increased by 3 and 7 per cent respectively.

In the third quarter of 2009 the average waiting time for cases committed for trial was 14.1 weeks, an increase of 7 per cent compared with the third quarter of last year; 18.5 weeks for cases sent for trial; 5.5 weeks for cases committed for sentence; and 8.4 weeks for appeals.

Magistrates' courts [Tables 4.1 – 4.3]

Caseload

There were 481,000 criminal proceedings completed in magistrates' courts in the third quarter of 2009. One-third of this volume was due to adult summary motoring proceedings. Adult summary non-motoring proceedings comprised 30 per cent and adult indictable/ triable-either-way proceedings made up 22 per cent. Youth proceedings and adult breach proceedings each comprised less than 10 per cent. Compared with the third quarter of last year, criminal caseload has decreased by 6 per cent.

Every completed offence that is session validated during each quarter is counted, unless it completes on the same day as another offence from the same case. Where a case has more than one offence, then only one is counted (generally the most serious offence is selected).

Trials

A trial in the magistrates' court is a hearing at which the prosecution produces evidence to prove the case against the defendant. If a defendant pleads not guilty, or does not give a plea for a summary offence, then there is a trial. Similarly, for either-way offences, a trial may occur in the magistrates' courts following a decision from either the defendant or the bench.

Magistrates' courts record the number and outcome of trials. Trial outcomes are listed as 'Effective' (commences on scheduled date and reaches a conclusion), 'Ineffective' (does not commence on due date and requires re-listing) or 'Cracked' (on the day, an acceptable plea is offered or prosecution offers no evidence).

In the third quarter of 2009, 45,500 trials were recorded, an increase of less than 1 per cent increase compared with the same quarter of 2008. Of these trials, 43 per cent were recorded as effective, 18 per cent were recorded as ineffective and 38 per cent were recorded as cracked.

Enforcement

Fines are the most commonly used sentence in magistrates' courts, and the enforcement of financial penalties is a Key Performance Indicator for HM Courts Service.

The total value of fines paid has risen in the latest two quarters, after a fall at the end of 2008. In the third quarter of 2009, the amount paid in England and Wales was £62 million, a 4 per cent decrease compared with the same quarter of last year.

Timeliness

Detailed information on magistrates' courts' timeliness is published on a quarterly basis by the Ministry of Justice. This data comes from the Time Intervals Survey, reports on which can be found on the Ministry of Justice website at www.justice.gov.uk/publications/timeintervals.htm.

The Time Intervals Survey data show that in the third quarter of 2009, the estimated average time from charge to completion for adult charged cases, excluding cases sent or committed to the Crown Court for trial, was 7.1 weeks (50 days), a 3 per cent increase from the same quarter last year; this increase is not statistically significant. The estimated average number of hearings per defendant was 2.26 in the third quarter of 2009, a 4 per cent decrease from the same quarter last year; this decrease is statistically significant.

The estimated average time from charge to completion for youth charged cases, excluding cases sent or committed to the Crown Court for trial, was 5.9 weeks (41 days), a 14 per cent increase from the same quarter last year; this increase is statistically significant. The estimated average number of hearings per defendant was 2.38 in the third quarter of 2009, a 2 per cent decrease from the same quarter last year; this decrease is not statistically significant.

Notes:

1 - Claims issued for a specified amount of money, including those made through the Claim Production Centre, County Court Bulk Centre and Money Claim Online.

2 - Claims issued for an unspecified amount of money.

3 - Includes claims made via Possession Claim Online. Please note that these figures have already been published in the Mortgage and Landlord Possession Statistics Bulletin.

4 - Includes claims for return of goods, to evict trespassers, and for interim possession orders, landlord and tenancy applications (generally for a new tenancy agreement), injunctions (to make somebody do something or to stop them doing it), enforcement of Tribunal awards and of orders made in Magistrates' courts, pre-issue applications (to obtain an order for disclosure of information prior to issue of a claim), and orders for costs only.

5 - Includes petitions issued in the District Registries of the High Court but not in the Royal Courts of Justice (note - the headline quarterly National Statistics figures on insolvency proceedings issued include both).

Notes:

1 - Where a claim is defended, further information is gathered before it is allocated to one of the three case management "tracks" shown depending on the value, complexity and importance of the case and the consequential level of judicial involvement required. There may be more than one defence or allocation to track in a case.

2 - The number of defences excludes those recorded on the grounds of the defendant having already paid the amount claimed. Despite some cases involving more than one defendant, it is much lower than the number of claims issued (see Table 1) because the vast majority of claims are not disputed.

3 - The number of allocations to track is lower than the number of defences primarily because defended cases are often settled/withdrawn before they are allocated to track.

4 - A new and higher claim value limit was introduced for fast track cases on 6th April 2009. Since 1999, claims have generally been allocated to the fast track which have a value exceeding the limit of the small claims track (£5,000 for most claim types) but not more than £15,000 (those with a value over £15,000 generally being allocated to the multi track). For all proceedings issued on or after 6th April 2009, the limit has been raised from £15,000 to £25,000.

Notes:

1 - Attachment of earnings' orders oblige the debtor's employer to deduct a set sum from the debtor's pay and forward it to the court.

2 - Includes the making of varied orders and suspended orders enabling the debtor to make payments into court directly but upon failure to do so will result in the debtor's employer being contacted.

3 - Third party debt orders secure payment by freezing and then seizing money owed or payable by a third party to a debtor.

4 - Charging orders obtain security for the payment against a property owned by the debtor.

5 - Administration orders enable a debtor to combine a judgement debt and at least one other debt (with total indebtedness not exceeding £5,000) into a single order for the making of regular payments into court to be distributed to the creditors in the appropriate proportions listed by the debtor.

6 - Multiple orders may be made following an application e.g. where an original order is revoked and then re-instated.

7 - Formerly known as the the oral examination procedure which was changed on 26 March 2002, the process being streamlined and standardised to enable information to be obtained faster.

Notes

Abbreviations: FPC=Family Proceedings Court, CC = County Court, HC = High Court

1. Applications figures have been produced using a new method compared to figures previously published for 2007 and earlier years in the "Judicial and Court Statistics" annual bulletins. Please see Annex A for further details.
2. Figures relate to the number of children subject to applications. Figures have been rounded to the nearest ten.
3. Private Law applications exclude adoptions.
4. There are known data quality problems with the figures for the Family Proceedings Courts. A new data collection method, introduced in April 2007, has made some improvements to the completeness of data.
5. Special Guardianship Orders figures in the Family Proceedings Courts are only available for those courts which share premises and administrative systems with county courts. The total has therefore been estimated based on the proportion of the total public law and private law applications made in each tier of court.
6. The figures for 2009 are thought to include a degree of double-counting of applications initially lodged in a County Court and then transferred to a Family Proceedings Court. This issue is being investigated by Ministry of Justice statisticians, which may lead to the figures being revised in future bulletins.
7. Research undertaken on behalf of Ministry of Justice has identified that some cases that have transferred from the Family Proceedings Court to the County Court have been incorrectly recorded as new applications in the County Court, thus inflating the number of new applications (see Masson et al, 2008). Work is in train to improve the accuracy of County Court records.

Debt Analysis Return (DAR), HM Courts Service Performance Database ('OPT').

Notes:

1 - Magistrates' courts submit information on the enforcement of financial penalties using the Debt Analysis Return.

2 - The amount paid represents the amount of financial penalties collected by the courts in the given quarter.

3 - The collection of enforcement information (DAR) was revised in April 2003 so that it no longer contained confiscation or civil amounts. Collection of data via OPT commenced in 2007.

Annex A: Data sources and data quality

This annex gives brief details of data sources for the figures given in this report, along with a brief discussion on data quality. Further information can be found in “Judicial and Court Statistics 2008” via the Ministry of Justice website at www.justice.gov.uk/publications/judicialandcourtstatistics.htm.

County courts

Most data shown in the tables have been sourced from the county court administrative system CaseMan, used by court staff for case management purposes. This generally contains good quality information about the incidence and dates of major events in a case’s progress through the court system. The following data are of lower quality:

- The numbers of insolvency petitions, applications for administration orders and administration orders made are manually generated counts.
- The numbers of small claims hearings and trials were sourced from CaseMan, but their accuracy is dependent on Court staff entering a correct hearing outcome code which is not essential for their administrative purposes.

Family courts

The information in the tables of data on the family courts was sourced from the county court administrative system FamilyMan, used by court staff for case management purposes.

Some points to note:

- Disposals made one year may relate to applications made in earlier years.
- An application of one type may lead to an order of a different type being made.

Crown Court

This information has been produced using the Management Information System (MIS), a data warehousing facility drawing data directly from court-based administrative systems. Most data shown in these tables have been sourced from the Crown Court administrative system CREST, again used by court staff for case management purposes. This generally contains good quality information about the incidence and dates of major events in a case’s progress.

The Ministry of Justice’s “Criminal Statistics” publication also contains data on the number of proceedings heard in the Crown Court. However, while both sets of figures are produced from the same core source (the CREST system), they are not directly comparable as there are known differences between them. These are due to a number of factors, including differences in the data collation mechanics and the counting and validation rules used, and they reflect different underlying drivers of the analyses being performed. By way of broad illustration, Criminal Statistics counts numbers of defendants and is focused on the final outcomes of criminal court proceedings, while the court statistics presented here count numbers of cases and is focused on flows through the court system. Since the creation of the Ministry of Justice, work has commenced to investigate the differences between the two publications with a view to aligning the two sets of figures in future.

Table 3.5 provides revised statistics for 2008 on the percentage of defendants "sent for trial" where the time from committal to the start of the substantive hearing was less than 26 weeks, compared to those previously published in Table 6.15 of the Ministry of Justice bulletin "Judicial and Court Statistics 2008" (JCS 2008). It has been identified that in JCS 2008, an error was made in the extraction of data from the Crown Court case recording system when these statistics were produced for the years 2004 to 2008. This has now been corrected. Small revisions have also been made to the number of defendants dealt with having been sent for trial in the timeliness statistics, which simply reflect updates to the live case recording system since the data were previously produced. The average waiting time statistics for "sent for trial" cases, and all the waiting time statistics for other Crown Court case types, were not affected by this error. A correction will be provided for the on-line edition of JCS 2008 as soon as possible.

Magistrates' courts

The statistics on completed proceedings in Table 4.1 are sourced from the One Performance Truth (OPT) database, which was rolled out across magistrates' courts during 2008 and is populated based on information contained on the Libra Management Information System. This generally contains good quality information about magistrates' courts' caseloads. The Ministry of Justice's Criminal Statistics publication also contained data on criminal cases in the magistrates' courts. While both sets of figures are produced from the same core source (Libra), as for the statistics on proceedings in the Crown Court, they are not directly comparable as there are known differences between them, for similar reasons. Criminal Statistics counts numbers of defendants, while the court statistics presented here count numbers of completed proceedings.

The statistics on the effectiveness of recorded trials and the enforcement of financial penalties are also sourced from the OPT database.

Detailed information on magistrates' courts' timeliness is already published on a quarterly basis by the Ministry of Justice. This data comes from the Time Intervals Survey, reports on which can be found on the Ministry of Justice website at: www.justice.gov.uk/publications/timeintervals.htm.

Explanatory notes

1. The statistics in this bulletin relate to cases in the county, family, Crown and magistrates' courts in England and Wales during the third quarter (July to September) of 2009. This is the third set of quarterly court statistics to be published by the Ministry of Justice. The first bulletin in this series was entitled "Provisional Court Statistics". Calendar year statistics are published by the Ministry of Justice in the statistical report "Judicial and Court Statistics".
2. Breakdowns of many of the summary figures presented in this bulletin, such as split by case type or by HM Courts Service area, are available on request. Please contact the Constitution and Access to Justice Analytical Services division using the details below.
3. Revisions: The statistics for the third quarter of 2009 are provisional, and are therefore liable to revision to take account of any late amendments to the administrative databases from which these statistics are sourced. The standard process for revising the published statistics to account for these late amendments is as follows. An initial revision to the statistics for the latest quarter may be made when the next edition of this bulletin is published. Final figures for this quarter, and for other quarters in the same calendar year, will be published in the bulletin presenting the statistics for the second quarter of the following year.

Symbols and conventions

The following symbols have been used throughout the tables in this bulletin:

- = Not applicable
- 0 = Nil
- (r) = Revised data
- (p) = Provisional data
