Background

The Qualifications and Curriculum Authority (QCA) was established on 1 October 1997 as a statutory body under Section 21 of the Education Act 1997.

The Department for Education was established on 11 May 2010, but prior to that date the department was the Department for Children, Schools and Families, referred to throughout this report as "the Department".

In September 2007 the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families announced that the QCA regulatory functions would become statutorily independent (as Ofqual), and that the remaining functions of the QCA would be established as the Qualifications and Curriculum Development Agency (QCDA). Through 2009-10 QCDA and Ofqual worked with colleagues at the Department to define the relationship between the two organisations and contribute appropriately to the legislative process. The Apprenticeships Skills, Children and Learning Act 2009 received Royal Assent on 12th November 2009 and both QCDA and Ofqual were vested on 1st April 2010. This is the final Annual Report and Accounts for QCA.

The remit of QCA until 31 March 2010 is detailed in sections 22–26 of the Education Act 1997 and is summarised below.

The role of QCA was to advance education and training in England, particularly with a view to promoting quality and coherence.

QCA's functions in relation to the curriculum and school examinations and assessment were to:

- keep all aspects under review and advise the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families;
- advise the Secretary of State on research and development;
- publish information;
- audit the quality of assessments;
- accredit schemes for the baseline assessment of five-year-old children;
- advise the Secretary of State on the approval of qualifications for use in schools.

QCA's specific functions in relation to external qualifications were to:

- keep all aspects under review and advise the Secretaries of State for Children, Schools and Families and Business, Innovation and Skills
- advise the Secretaries of State on research and development;
- publish information and provide support and advice to those providing courses leading to such qualifications;
- develop and publish criteria for the accreditation of qualifications;
- accredit qualifications and advise the Secretaries of State on their approval.

During 2009-10 QCA comprised of six operating groups and a wholly owned subsidiary company, QCA (Enterprises) Limited, the main function of which was to generate income from sales of QCA publications and products. The results for the QCA Group have been consolidated in accordance with International Accounting Standard 27.

QCA was financed by Grant-in-Aid from the Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF) and grant income from the Department for Employment and Learning (DEL) in Northern Ireland, and received further income from the Department for Children, Education, Lifelong Learning and Skills (DCELLS) in Wales. All the profits of QCA (Enterprises) Limited for 2009-10 have been retained in reserves. QCA was until 31 March 2010 a charity by exemption and the accounts have been prepared in accordance with the accounts direction issued by the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families. The accounts have therefore been prepared in accordance with the Government Financial Reporting Manual (FRM) rather than the Charities SORP.

Results for the QCA Group

Net expenditure for the year amounted to £185.8 million before taxation. Grant-in-Aid received in the year amounted to £179.9 million. The excess net expenditure over Grant-in-Aid received arises from timing of provisions in the financial year, see note 17 to the accounts on page 49 for which Grant-in-Aid will be received in later years.

The profit for the year on ordinary activities before taxation for QCA (Enterprises) Limited amounted to £2.2 million.

The Statement of Financial Position at 31 March 2010 shows net liabilities of £54.2 million. This reflects the inclusion of liabilities falling due in future years which, to the extent that they are not to be met from the QCA's other sources of income, may only be met by future grants or grants-in-aid to QCDA from the sponsoring Department,. This is because, under the normal conventions applying to parliamentary control over income and expenditure, such grants may not be issued in advance of need.

Grant-in-Aid for 2010-11, taking into account the amounts required to meet the QCDA's liabilities falling due in that year, has already been included in the Department's estimates for that year. On 27 May 2010 Rt. Hon Michael Gove MP, the Secretary of State from the Department for Education, wrote to Christopher Trinick DL, Chair of QCDA, confirming that the Government propose to introduce legislation in the autumn of 2010 to abolish the QCDA. (See Note 28 Events after the Reporting Period on page 54). QCDA remit and funding remain in place to cover both continuing activities and to manage transition plans relating to non-continuing and proposed non-continuing statutory activities, and legislation proposing abolition will be placed before Parliament in the autumn. It has accordingly been considered appropriate to adopt a going concern basis for the preparation of these financial statements.

QCA Board

Members of QCA's Board were appointed by the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families. The period of office for each member is set out in the table below.

The membership of QCA's Board was kept under review by the Nominations Committee; one of its principal functions was to plan for the succession of the membership of QCA's Board.

Each member completed a register of interests, which is available for inspection at QCDA offices at Earlsdon Park, Butts Road, Coventry by prior arrangement during normal business hours.

The role of QCA Board members was threefold: to formulate policy advice for the Secretaries of State for Children, Schools and Families and Business, Innovation and Skills; to provide policy direction to guide the work of staff; and to oversee the administration and work of QCA.

The QCA Board had five committees. The Audit Committee dealt with the development and implementation of policies for auditing, financial and management controls and monitors the effectiveness of all levels of management in the use of QCA's resources. The Risk Committee provided challenge and review to the evaluation and identification of risk, and the controls put in place to mitigate it. The Nominations Committee reviewed nominations for appointment to the QCA Board. The Remuneration Committee dealt with pay of the Executive and Directors, along with maintaining oversight of pay and conditions for the next tier of staff. The Ofqual Committee acted as the Board of the interim independent regulator (Ofqual); its role was to carry out the functions specified in the Direction under paragraphs 13 and 14 of Schedule 4 to the Education Act 1997.

The role of the QCDA Board will continue as described above. The QCDA Board has four committees: the Audit Committee; the Risk Committee; the Nominations Committee; and the Remuneration Committee.

Board membership

During 2009-10, the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families formally confirmed the appointment of Roy Clare, John Fairhurst and Elizabeth Reid as new members of the QCA Board.

Headquarters and staff

Until February 2010 QCA was located at 83 Piccadilly, London, W1J 8QA. QCA's new building at Earlsdon Park in Coventry was completed towards the end of 2009. The bulk of staff moves were completed in February 2010 and the organisation's headquarters moved to 53-55 Butts Road, Earlsdon Park, Coventry, CV1 3BH. A proportion of staff remained in an interim building at Spring Place, Coventry Business Park, Herald Avenue, Coventry, CV5 6UB until 1 April 2010. It employed an average of 834 (2008-09: 723) staff during the period covered by this report. Staff involved in delivering tests will be based in 83 Piccadilly until September 2010 when they will relocate to Coventry.

Payment of creditors

QCA was, and QCDA remains, fully committed to the prompt payment of its bills and observes the CBI's 'Better Payment Practice Code'. QCA aimed and QCDA aims to pay bills in accordance with agreed contractual conditions or, where no such conditions exist, within 30 days of receipt of goods and services or the presentation of a valid invoice, whichever is the later. In the year April 2009 to March 2010, 97.3% (2008-09: 99%) of valid invoices were paid within 30 days of the date of the invoice. Trade payables owed as at 31 March equates to 30 days invoicing on a count back basis, although due to the volume of invoicing during March, on a calculated annual invoicing basis, as set out in SI 2008/410, would equate to 55 days.

Working cash balance

The group working balance, being the cash balance that the Department allows to be carried forward to the following financial year, is calculated in accordance with the Financial Memorandum as 2% of total Grant-in-Aid received from the Department during the year. At 31 March 2010 this amounted to £3.6 million. The group balance as defined by these guidelines amounted to £2.0 million. Under the terms of the Financial Memorandum with the Department, it is entitled to recover any excess working balance above 2% from Grant-in-Aid for 2010-11.

Auditors

Under paragraph 18(3) to schedule 4 of the Education Act 1997, the Comptroller and Auditor General is required to examine, certify and report on the financial statements of account. The cost of the statutory audit for the year to 31 March 2010 is £44,000 (2008-09: £42,250). In addition, the audit of the 2008-09 shadow accounts for the implementation of IFRS based reporting was £4,000. The financial statements for QCA (Enterprises) Limited for the year ended 31 March 2010 were audited by KPMG LLP. The fee for this audit is £15,500. (2008-09: £15,700). Taxation services provided by KPMG to QCA (Enterprises) Limited amounted to £1,763.

So far as the Accounting Officer is aware, there is no relevant audit information of which QCA's auditors are unaware. The Accounting Officer has taken all the steps that ought to have been taken to ensure awareness of any relevant audit information and to establish that QCA's auditors are aware of that information.

Statement of QCA's and Chief Executive's responsibilities

Under paragraph 18(1) and (2) of schedule 4 of the Education Act 1997, QCA was required to prepare a statement of account for each financial year in the form and on the basis determined by the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families with the consent of the Treasury. QCA accounts have been prepared on an accruals basis and show a true and fair view of QCA's state of affairs at the end of the period and of its income and expenditure and cash flows for the financial period.

In preparing the accounts QCA was required to:

- observe the accounts direction issued by the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families, including the relevant accounting and disclosure requirements, and apply suitable accounting policies on a consistent basis;
- make judgements and estimates on a reasonable basis;
- state whether applicable accounting standards have been followed, and disclose and explain any material departures in the financial statements;
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis, unless it is inappropriate to presume that the organisation will continue in operation.

The Chief Executive of the QCA, Andrew Hall, was Accounting Officer to 31 March 2010. Following the announcement of his resignation, the Chief Operating Officer of the QCDA, Lin Hinnigan, was appointed as Accounting Officer of the QCDA with effect from 1 April 2010. The relevant responsibilities, including responsibility for the propriety and regularity of the public finances for which the Accounting Officer is answerable and for the keeping of proper records, are set out in the Non-Departmental Public Bodies' Accounting Officers' Memorandum issued by the Treasury and published in Managing Public Money. The Accounting Officer is required to sign the statement of accounts, including a statement on internal control.

Staff relations

To ensure that strategic and operational decisions are understood throughout the organisation, QCA was, and QCDA remains, committed to communicating information as widely as possible and using a wide range of means to encourage effective two-way communication with staff.

We actively engaged with the recognised trade union through regular consultation and negotiation between management and union representatives, in order to ensure the best possible staff relations. Issues covered included pay and grading, corporate initiatives and HR policies.

We believe that learning and development play a fundamental role in the success of both the individual and the organisation, and we made a significant investment in these activities. This year, expenditure amounted to £748,062, or 2.3% of total expenditure on wages and salaries (2008-09: £586,139, 2.1%).

QCA had, and QCDA will continue to have, a dedicated Diversity & Inclusion Programme Manager and team of staff. In its published single equalities scheme, QCA had an action plan for race, gender and disability equality. Progress against this was monitored and reported during the year in line with QCA's diversity strategy. This forms part of a broader diversity and inclusion framework for the organisation that will continue within QCDA.

Disabled people were encouraged to apply for jobs at QCA, and will continue to be encouraged to do so at QCDA. They are also offered developmental opportunities combined with practical support. We also ensured that any individuals who may have become disabled during their employment were given the fullest support to maintain an appropriate role according to their experience and skills.

Health and safety training was provided to all employees. Following a review of health and safety policy and communications, a comprehensive package of revised and updated training was rolled out to all staff in the spring of 2008.

Sickness absence

During 2009-10 the total number of working days lost due to sickness absence amounted to 1,849 days, (2008-09:1,847 days) which is an average of 3.84 days per employee (2008-09: 3.23 days).

Performance assessment

A performance management and assessment system was disseminated to staff and embedded within QCA. This linked performance objectives to personal development, as part of a general strategy to ensure that managers were fully involved in the development of their staff.

Pay policy

QCA's performance management system determined pay increases on an annual basis. There was no entitlement to automatic salary increases or performance bonuses; in any year that QCA determined to award a salary increase and/or performance bonus to an individual member of staff, it was made on the basis of an assessment of that individual's overall performance and conduct during the year. The parameters of the pay award were agreed centrally, and the award was then applied across the organisation according to each individual's performance.

QCA was, and QCDA will remain, committed to the principle of equal pay. We conducted Equal Pay Audits in 2007 and 2009.

Details of the company pension scheme and pension liabilities are disclosed in the Remuneration report on page 21 and note 3 to the accounts on page 39.

Our stakeholders

QCA had a central role in England's education and training systems, and a role in Northern Ireland where we regulated National Vocational Qualifications (NVQs). We worked with our stakeholders with the primary aim of ensuring benefits to the learner.

The principal external organisations with which we collaborated were:

- schools and colleges.

Events after the financial year end

As reported on page 3 the Apprenticeships Skills, Children and Learning Act 2009 received Royal Assent on 12 November 2009 and both QCDA and Ofqual were vested on 1 April 2010. The closing assets and liabilities as reflected within the Statement of Financial Position of QCA as at 31 March 2010 will be split between the two organisations and will transfer to QCDA and Ofqual at 1 April 2010, based on the Transfer Order signed on 31 March 2010. The 2009-10 Net Expenditure account will also be separated and will be reported as comparative figures for QCDA and Ofqual in their respective 2010-11 Annual Reports and Accounts.

As noted on page 4, the Secretary of State for Education has confirmed the proposal to introduce legislation in the autumn to abolish the QCDA. This event after the end of the financial year is detailed in note 28 to the accounts on page 54.

Freedom of Information

QCA has been compliant with the Freedom of Information Act 2000. During the year 2009-10 we responded to 102 separate requests for information under the terms of the Act (2008-09: 112).

Environmental, social and community

During the year, QCA continued to implement its sustainability action plan, and an update is available on the QCDA website. Work began to develop the 2010-2012 Sustainable Development Action Plan, and a Sustainable Development Strategy Group was set up to drive the sustainable development agenda within the organisation.

QCA has over several years encouraged employees to volunteer to become governors of their local schools, and QCDA continues to encourage employees to take opportunities to visit schools and colleges with members of our Centre Support Team, which is spread across England.

Organisational objectives 2009–10

QCA's organisational objectives are set out in the six key result areas (KRAs) for the year:

- KRA 1: To provide a modern, world-class curriculum that will inspire and challenge all learners and prepare them for the future; and to support the curriculum with methods of evaluation and assessment which promote learning and report achievement in learning at individual, institutional and national level.
- KRA 2: Establish an integrated system of qualifications that will meet the needs of learners, employers and higher education and contribute to a successful society and economy, by better harnessing the stock of human talent.
- KRA 3: Enable and safely deliver innovative assessments in schools and colleges, improving the learner experience and minimising administrative burden.
- KRA 4: Regulate awarding bodies, qualifications, examinations and National Curriculum assessments effectively to ensure that the qualifications market is fit for purpose, that qualifications are fair, that standards are secure, that public confidence is sustained and that QCA acts as the public champion of the learner.
- KRA 5: Develop the QCA brand: expand public understanding of the work of QCA, and maintain and promote our reputation among the various stakeholders (principally learners, parents, the education community, industry and employers, and Government).
- KRA 6: Develop systems and internal processes that enable exemplary performance through the work, expertise and commitment of QCA's people.

Performance management

All of QCA's work fell within these six KRAs, and the work was managed as programmes, for which milestones and Success Measures were set at the beginning of the year (Success Measures are agreed with the Department and the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills). The overall success of each work programme was based on reaching the milestones and fulfilling the Success Measures. Progress is monitored and reported throughout the year, providing a transparent means of managing performance.

Performance indicators

The following performance indicators were set by the Department at the start of the 2009-10 financial year:

Delivery Outcomes

1. Early Years Foundation Stage

- 1.1 2009 Early Years Foundation Stage Profile (EYFSP) results are robust and reliable as a consequence of improved moderation by September 2008.

18. Community Cohesion

Provide guidance on curriculum planning to schools (by January 2010) on using the whole curriculum to promote community cohesion with examples of best practice in curriculum planning for community cohesion. Guidance to be disseminated by March 2010.

Risk management

The principal risks facing the organisation in 2009-10 arose from major structural changes and operational challenges that continued from the previous year. These related to the impact of separating the regulatory functions of QCA, establishing these as independent organisations, relocating the organisation to Coventry, while ensuring business continuity, and the successful delivery of National Curriculum tests in summer 2009. Further strategic risks related to managing large and complex programmes as work, such as delivery of the Diploma and the development of the Qualifications & Credit Framework.

Risk management was integral to QCA's business planning and reporting systems, and formed part of day-to-day management practice and it will remain so at QCDA. It was integrated at the strategic, programme and operational level, ensuring that all levels of risk management support one another. Risk registers were maintained at executive, group, programme, project and team level. Led from the top down, risk management was embedded in all the normal working routines and activities of the organisation; risks were identified and escalated from the bottom up.

In December 2008, the Board approved the set up of a Risk Committee that reported to the Board to add scrutiny and challenge to the practical management of risk across the organisation. This was endorsed by the Audit Committee which, from 1 April 2010, will continue to advise the QCDA Board on the adequacy and effectiveness of QCDA's risk management systems, internal controls and related practices. It received as a standing item at each meeting a risk management update and reports by exception on projects and volatile risks. The Audit Committee also received regular presentations from individual Directors on the management of risks in their groups. The Risk Committee met six times in 2009-10 and reported formally to the Board on the discharge of its duties. The Risk and Audit Committees shared meeting minutes.

Following a discussion on the risk of dual reporting by programmes to both the Risk and Audit committees the Chairs' of the committees agreed an approach which included transferring the review of programme risk management to the Risk Committee. The Audit Committee continued to assure the Board that the overall system for risk management was fit for purpose and internal audit continued to report on the organisation's risk management systems. The revised reporting process was implemented at the January Risk and Audit Committee meetings.

The Audit Committee was able to assure the Board that there were satisfactory processes and systems in place to manage risk within QCA. This assurance was based on assurance provide by the internal auditors for 2009-10. The internal auditors identified mostly low and medium rated risks during the course of their audit work on business critical systems, but there were some isolated high risk recommendations. The internal auditors were therefore able to give moderate assurance on the design adequacy and effectiveness of the system of internal control.

Personal data related incidents

There were 7 (2008-09: 6) reported personal data related incidents during the year.

Three of these incidents concerned the loss or theft of hardware including a laptop, two desktop computers and a router. The laptop was password-protected and encrypted in line with guidance provided by CESA (Communications-Electronics Security), the information assurance arm of Government Communications Headquarters (GCHQ). The desktops contained no data, and the laptop contained only information that was already available in the public domain. The laptop incident was reported to the Department and to the Office of the Information Commissioner, but the desktops incident was not because there was no loss of data involved.

Four further incidents related to the following:

- a package containing National Curriculum test papers left outside of a school front door for twenty minutes that was checked and found not to have been tampered with, and the courier was subject to internal disciplinary procedures
- a marker pack went missing at a school in Blackburn, the incident was investigated by the QCA Maladministration team
- a theft of £200 in cash from an employee's desk that was reported to the Police, but the investigation wasn't taken further by the Police because the value was less than £500. An internal investigation of CCTV footage failed to identify a suspect

- a number of staff received letters relating to the relocation to Coventry with personal information about other members of staff.

These incidents were fully investigated and where relevant prompted further guidance to staff and improvements to internal procedures.

The level of inherent risks relating to staff fraud and error due to the amount of change happening within the organisation over the last twelve months remains high, although the bulk of the relocation is completed, and will need to be kept under close scrutiny. The risk level could also be heightened by the uncertainty within the organisation following the announcement of the Government's intention to introduce legislation to abolish the QCDA.

Corporate developments

Organisational realignment and the Apprenticeships Skills, Children and Learning Act

In September 2007 the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families announced that the QCA regulatory functions would become statutorily independent (as Ofqual), and that the remaining functions of the QCA would be established as the Qualifications and Curriculum Development Agency (QCDA). Through 2009-10 QCDA and Ofqual worked with colleagues at the Department to define the relationship between the two organisations and contribute appropriately to the legislative process. The Apprenticeships Skills, Children and Learning Act 2009 received Royal Assent on 12 November 2009 and both QCDA and Ofqual were vested on 1 April 2010. Much work has already been completed to build the operational detail beneath the legislative framework to enable QCDA to undertake its duties and functions under the Act. By working closely with the Department and Ofqual colleagues it has been possible to ensure that processes are efficient, cost effective and recognise the distinct and important contributions each body makes to the education system and its benefits for learners. To secure these arrangements going forward QCDA will, by summer 2010, have in place a Memorandum of Understanding with Ofqual setting out broad ways of working in key areas.

Relocation of QCA

As part of the Department's commitment to implementing the recommendations of the government's Independent Review of Public Sector Relocation, led by Sir Michael Lyons, the majority of relocation activity was completed by February 2010. This included the completion of the new building, the successful move of most staff to the new building and the set up of the IT infrastructure. The teams delivering National Curriculum and Single Level tests will remain in Piccadilly until September 2010 when they will move to the new building at Earlsdon Park in Coventry.

Efficiency review programme

QCA had agreed targets to achieve a 5% per annum reduction in expenditure on administrative or 'back office' costs, against a basis which was agreed with the Department and which was achieved in 2009-10. The government's future targets for public spending require the QCDA to set challenging targets for the reduction of its budget for subsequent years.

Performance review 2009-10

Key Result Area 1: Provide a modern, world-class curriculum that will inspire and challenge all learners and prepare them for the future; and to support the curriculum with methods of evaluation and assessment which promote learning and report achievement in learning at individual, institutional and national level

Independent Review of the Primary Curriculum

QCA ran a national consultation on the report by Sir Jim Rose on his independent review of the primary curriculum. QCA submitted final advice to the Department on the outcomes of the Independent Review. QCA also finalised programmes of learning and essentials for learning and life, under the direction of Sir Jim Rose and in collaboration with a wide range of stakeholders and expert groups.

Primary Curriculum Website

QCA developed a website to support the primary school curriculum which was launched in January 2010. The site contains the proposed curriculum framework alongside guidance and a range of tools and case studies to support schools in designing a curriculum that meets the needs of learners.

Secondary Curriculum and 11-19 Developments

QCA continued to support the implementation of the secondary curriculum that was introduced in September 2008, by working with implementation partners such as Specialist Schools and Academies Trust, CfBT Education Trust and the Department. QCA conducted a national consultation on level descriptions to finalise the changes made as part of the introduction of the secondary curriculum. QCA also developed guidance materials on the sustainable development cross-curriculum dimension.

Assessing Pupils' Progress

QCA continued its collaboration with the National Strategies, which are one of the Government's principal vehicles for improving the quality of learning and teaching in schools and early years settings and raising standards of attainment. QCA continued to support schools across the country to develop an enhanced process for Assessing Pupils' Progress, equipping teachers to make judgements on pupils' progress, fine-tune their understanding of learners' needs, and tailor their planning and teaching accordingly.

GCSEs

QCA accredited revised GCSEs for the majority of subjects. The revisions have been significant and aim to bring GCSE specifications into line with recent reforms to the secondary curriculum and introduce controlled assessments in place of coursework. The results have been well received by awarding bodies.

Equality and Diversity

A group of schools worked with QCA to explore the ways in which equality and diversity can be embedded in the curriculum and how particular equality issues in schools can be tackled through curriculum change. QCA held a consultation with disabled learners and staff to explore the feasibility of establishing a Disability Equality Week in schools and the results will form part of future Departmental policy in this area.

Key Result Area 2: Establish an integrated system of qualifications that will meet the needs of learners, employers and higher education and contribute to a successful society and economy, by better harnessing the stock of human talent

Qualifications and Credit Framework Readiness

During 2009-10 the programme worked with partners to focus on the delivery of a comprehensive capacity building programme for the sector following the adoption of the QCF in 2008. Five key partner agencies undertook the work with QCA and all milestones for the programme were met within budget for the year. During the year BIS agreed that there would be no ongoing remit for QCA from BIS after 31 March 2010. The programme ended with all project deliverables completed and all close down activity finalised by the end of the financial year.

Employer Recognition Programme

Over the course of the year 173 employers were actively engaged in either gaining Awarding Organisation status or having their training recognised within the QCF. A series of communications and case studies were completed and a large number of stakeholder engagement activities undertaken.

Diploma Programme

Teaching of the second phase of Diplomas began in September 2009, following on from the successful first Diploma awards on 27th August. While continuing the development of the final two phases, QCA also had a leading role in streamlining the Diploma awarding processes, ensuring a sustainable business model is fully in place in time for national entitlement in 2013.

14-19 Qualifications and Curriculum Programme

QCA worked on the development and accreditation process for GCSEs in English, Mathematics and ICT with a number of qualifications being approved by Ofqual. These will be available for first teaching in September 2010. Development and accreditation work was completed on a new pair of GCSE linked mathematics qualifications which will be piloted in up to 300 centres from September 2010. A revised set of six criteria was developed for GCSE science and specification accreditation will be completed in July 2010 to enable first teaching in September 2011.

Foundation Learning

The Foundation Learning programme (FL) aims to increase participation in learning by offering better curriculum choice and more flexible learning opportunities to all learners and has now 836 accredited qualifications. There are currently over 10,000 learners engaged in the 14-19 pilot – which consists of 22 Local Authorities. There are an additional 33 in a voluntary network which was introduced to grow capacity as a pre cursor to national roll out in September 2010 and full implementation in September 2013.

Functional Skills

QCA continued its pilot of new Functional Skills qualifications with some 200,000 learners in 3,500 centres. Evaluations continue to be conducted to assess the impact of the introduction of Functional Skills qualifications and their ability to meet the needs of all audiences. QCA conducted a statutory consultation with key stakeholders which supported the development of the Functional Skills Regulatory Criteria. QCA worked closely with the pilot awarding organisations to develop their Functional Skills qualifications in preparation for accreditation and roll out of the qualifications in September 2010.

Research and Evaluation

In 2009-10 QCA continued to assess the impact of reforms in education for 11-19 year olds and reform in vocational qualifications. QCA completed evidence gathering on GCSEs, continued to build candidate level data and successfully completed a full cycle of Achievement and Attainment Tables.

Joint Advisory Committee for Qualifications Approval

QCA worked with the Learning and Skills Council to continue to support the Joint Advisory Committee for Qualifications Approval in providing advice to Government on directing public funds at relevant qualifications for 14-19 year olds. During 2009-10 the committee's effort was directed to the production of a biennial report into the current qualifications offer for 14-19 year olds. The report was submitted to the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families in March 2010 and the recommendations were agreed.

Key Result Area 3: Enable and safely deliver innovative assessments in schools and colleges, improving the learner experience and minimising administrative burden

National curriculum assessments

In 2009 QCA developed national curriculum assessments for 7 and 11 year old pupils in England. For key stage 2 approximately 1.8 million test scripts were delivered to schools, and the tests were administered very successfully by schools. More than 6,000 markers were involved in the external marking of the tests and 99.6% of papers were successfully returned to schools by 7 July, along with their results.

In addition to the successful delivery of the tests, 2009 saw a significant increase in levels of teacher assessment collection. This was as a result of improved online tools for schools to submit data and improved communications strategy for contacting schools and local authorities.

Single level tests

As part of the Department's Making Good Progress pilot, QCA managed the third year of trialling single level tests. The outcomes of these tests are intended to confirm teacher judgements that pupils are working at a particular national curriculum level. QCA developed tests in English reading and writing and in mathematics at levels 3, 4, 5 and 6.

Support to schools and colleges

Surveys of the exams office community showed high levels of appreciation again this year for QCA training, guidance, communications and our efforts to reduce administrative burden in examinations. Our national field team of Support Officers continued to provide targeted support to those schools and colleges that have been dependent on staff who are new to role for their local administration of examinations.

The first wave of exams centres with Diploma learners have also been supported by our field staff throughout their preparations for the first Diploma awards. The second wave of exams office staff, whose schools started teaching the Diploma in September 2009, also completed their hands-on training on Diploma administration, including using the Diploma aggregation service.

Chartered Institute of Educational Assessors

This year over 500 individuals working in 100 consortia have been accredited for the roles of Lead and Domain Assessor as part of the internal assessment requirements of the Diploma, over 50 Chartered Educational Assessors have been trained and accredited in line with the recommendations of the Department's Expert Group on assessment, and four Masters' degree programmes in educational assessment have been supported with partner universities. The Institute now serves over 10,000 individuals working in awarding bodies, schools, colleges and the workplace.

Key Result Area 4: Regulate awarding bodies, qualifications, examinations and National Curriculum assessments effectively to ensure that the qualifications market is fit for purpose, that qualifications are fair, that standards are secure, that public confidence is sustained and that QCA acts as the public champion of the learner

During 2009-10 Ofqual was active in an interim form, as a distinct part of the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority. The Ofqual Committee met regularly throughout the year, reporting to the QCA Board.

In December 2009 the Queen extended Kathleen Tattersall's appointment as Chair of Ofqual and Chief Regulator for a further three years and in December 2009 the Secretary of State appointed Isabel Nisbet as the first Chief Executive. From December 2009 to March 2010, QCA carried out the necessary consultation on how Ofqual would implement its new functions, powers and duties. The necessary work to establish Ofqual as a separate organisation was overseen by a programme board which had been in place since 2008, and included QCA and the Department.

In 2009 the Ofqual Committee agreed a new formulation of the vision for Ofqual: to be the independent regulator of qualifications and assessments that are valued and trusted by learners, users and the wider public.

Each of the individual programmes of work in which Ofqual was engaged related to at least one of these strategic priorities. Under the supervision of the Ofqual Committee, the strategic direction of Ofqual's activities was focused on (a) input to work on the Bill establishing Ofqual, and consultation on its implementation; (b) preparing to launch Ofqual as an independent organisation from 1 April 2010; (c) regulating qualifications, examinations and National Curriculum assessments; (d) establishing a strategy and facility to take on new and extended responsibilities from 1 April 2010.

Key Result Area 5: Develop the QCA brand: expand public understanding of the work of QCA, and maintain and promote our reputation among the various stakeholders (principally learners, parents, the education community, industry and employers, and Government)

Launch of QCDA

The Communications and Marketing Group created a new corporate identity for QCDA, representing its transformation from QCA into a new development agency. Stakeholders and customers were all informed of the new name and role of the organisation via a communications campaign.

News and media

The Media Relations team successfully managed a number of high-profile media issues. These included concerns leading up to national curriculum test season; the successful delivery of the tests; the first year of Diploma awarding and a number of issues leading up to the General Election.

Communications channels

A new website was launched, with a cleaner look, easier navigation and interactivity. A review of newsletters and events was carried out to ensure best value for money, increased stakeholder engagement and new measurement and evaluation methods. The internal communications team introduced round table briefings for Executive Directors to speak to staff, a team brief cascading tool and a staff newsletter.

Stakeholder engagement

Events became more business-focused a wider stakeholder engagement plan was launched to include the West Midlands a specific area for attention. Relationships with the Department were strengthened leading to greater partnership working.

Key Result Area 6: Develop systems and internal processes that enable exemplary performance through the work, expertise and commitment of QCA's people

Legal team

QCA Legal continued to provide high quality advice and support to the organisation, and played a critical role in supporting the development of the legislation that established QCDA and Ofqual.

Equality and diversity

Following publication of its Single Equalities Scheme in December 2007, QCA continued to embed equality and diversity in its work as a service deliverer and as an employer. This informed all aspects of QCA's work in the development of the curriculum and qualifications, and helped to develop QCA as an employer of choice.

Human Resources

The Human Resources team's main focus throughout the year was the continued support of the set-up and relocation of Ofqual and QCDA, which required high volumes of recruitment, supporting the move to a matrix management structure, and revising the HR processes needed to support the new way of matrix working.

Chief Information Officer

The key achievement of 2009-10 for the Chief Information Officer's team was the successful establishment of the IT infrastructure at QCA's new building in Coventry. The other focus throughout the year was the continual improvement of the service provided by QCA's outsourced IT desktop support.

Finance

The Comptroller and Auditor General gave our accounts for 2008-09 a clean audit certificate, without qualification. We exceeded HM Treasury's target of paying 95% of suppliers within 30 days by paying 97.3% of our bills within this time frame.

Looking to the future for QCDA

QCDA's focus in 2010-11 is on efficiently delivering programmes of work that benefit the learner and the wider education industry. The broad programmes of work and key objectives within them are outlined below:

Curriculum and Early Years Foundation Stage

- provision of reports on baseline evidence on the primary school curriculum, and on trends in the secondary school curriculum
- statutory consultations on the new primary curriculum and secondary programmes of study
- working with subject communities to produce and disseminate high quality guidance
- working with the education sector and partners to produce and disseminate high-quality examples of consistent and effective approaches to the teaching and assessment
- provision of evidence based interim advice on areas of learning in the EYFS.

Assessment

- delivery of KS2 National Curriculum tests successfully in May 2010 with 99.9% of results available to schools by the agreed date
- collection of teacher assessment data from schools
- delivery of robust and reliable EYFS Profile and 2010 KS1 results
- delivery of Single Level tests successfully in June 2010 and begin development of Single Level tests for December 2010 and June 2011.

General Qualifications

- provision of advice and recommendations for the implementation of all aspects of A level and GCSEs based on evidence gathered through a robust evaluation process
- implementation of the GCSE mathematics linked pair pilot, management of the mathematics pathways project, and make recommendations into future mathematics qualification development
- JACQA will continue to take an evolutionary approach to helping to develop the qualifications landscape in line with the government's 14-19 qualifications strategy.

Functional Skills

- provision of evidence on the impact of the introduction of Functional Skills qualifications, and associated recommendations for action
- preparation and delivery of high quality communications to support learners, centres, employers, higher education customers and other stakeholders.

Diplomas

- continue to develop the third and fourth phases of Diplomas, while completing a first year review
- plan for the first set of 're-accreditations' for phase 1 diplomas in 2011
- continue to define and implement a sustainable, streamlined business model for future Diploma delivery, while ensuring successful awarding in August 2010.

To ensure that these programmes of work are delivered successfully and efficiently, the organisation has established a matrix management structure that enables staff to be deployed across programmes. The resources for the programmes are aligned to capability groups relevant to their role and skill set. These capability groups provide support and resource to the programmes, and a clear career development path for staff. This ensures that the organisation is able to build its internal capability significantly reducing the use and cost of external consultancy and interims. Throughout 2010-11 the organisation will be reviewing existing processes to look for opportunities to make the organisation more efficient in the delivery of its remit.

Remuneration report

a) Unaudited information

The remit of the Remuneration Committee, as described on page 5, was to agree pay and conditions for the Chief Executive with reference to the recommendations of the Senior Salaries Review Body; to agree pay awards, bonuses, benefits, severance packages and pension arrangements for the posts reporting to the Chief Executive; and to maintain oversight of pay and conditions for the next tier of staff.

Members of the Remuneration Committee were:

Mr Mike Beasley (Chair) (from December 2008)
Mr Christopher Trinick (from November 2008)
Sir David Watson (until September 2009)
Mr Andrew Hall (ex officio) (to March 2010)
Mr Nick Stuart
Professor Michael Arthur

The Committee regularly reviewed the remuneration and benefits of senior managers by comparison with similar NDPBs and with related organisations in the field of education.

The remuneration of senior managers comprised basic pay plus an annual performance-related bonus of up to 15% of basic salary. Basic pay was reviewed annually to reflect the value of the employee's contribution in the preceding year. All increases in basic pay were performance-related. Bonus objectives based on team and individual performance were set at the start of the financial year by way of a Performance Agreement between the individual senior manager and QCA. Objectives reflected performance levels required to achieve QCA's organisational objectives. Bonuses were awarded at the end of the financial year based on the degree to which senior managers have successfully met their objectives.

All senior managers are employed on permanent or fixed-term employment contracts, with a notice period of three months. No senior manager is employed on a service contract.

Total remuneration, including benefits in kind, paid to senior managers during 2009-10 amounted to £1,499,908.

During 2009-10 Carol Copland, Mary Curnock Cook, Sue Horner and Mick Waters received lump sum redundancy payments in the amounts of £75,710, £103,139, £9,690 and £1,575 respectively following their decision not to relocate with the organisation to Coventry. Mary Curnock Cook will also receive contributions to her pension scheme up to the age of 60, valued at £170,266, at a discounted rate at 1.8%.

During 2008-09 contracted payments in lieu of notice were paid to Ken Boston, £59,689 and to David Gee, £41,944; in lieu of annual leave entitlement not utilised to Ken Boston, £16,363 and David Gee, £6,610; and repatriation costs to Ken Boston, £24,284. QCA also agreed to pay legal fees up to a maximum of £15,525 and £2,070 for Ken Boston and David Gee respectively.

1. The monetary value of benefits in kind covers any benefits provided by the employer and treated by the Inland Revenue as a taxable emolument. Benefits in kind were received by Andrew Hall, amounting to £54,689 (2008-98: £56,300) for the provision of living accommodation and travel; Isabel Nisbet, £32,214 (2008-09: £22,700) for the provision of living accommodation and travel; and Mick Walker, £47,546 (2008-09: £10,081) for the provision of hotel accommodation and travel.

2. Pension information is not provided for members with less than one year's service.

(a) Annualised salary excludes relocation costs.

(b) Salary includes gross salary; performance pay or bonuses; reserved rights to London weighting; additional housing cost allowances and relocation costs for the period.

(c) - (e) Pension

Pension benefits are provided through the Civil Service pension arrangements. From 30 July 2007, civil servants may be in one of four defined benefit schemes; either a 'final salary' scheme (classic, premium or classic plus); or a 'whole career' scheme (nuvos). These statutory arrangements are unfunded with the cost of benefits met by monies voted by Parliament each year. Pensions payable under classic, premium, classic plus and nuvos are increased annually in line with changes in the Retail Prices Index (RPI). Members who joined from October 2002 could opt for either the appropriate defined benefit arrangement or a good quality 'money purchase' stakeholder pension with a significant employer contribution (partnership pension account).

Employee contributions are set at the rate of 1.5% of pensionable earnings for classic and 3.5% for premium, classic plus and nuvos. Benefits in classic accrue at the rate of 1/80th of final pensionable earnings for each year of service. In addition, a lump sum equivalent to three years' pension is payable on retirement. For premium, benefits accrue at the rate of 1/60th of final pensionable earnings for each year of service. Unlike classic, there is no automatic lump sum. Classic plus is essentially a hybrid with benefits in respect of service before 1 October 2002 calculated broadly as per classic and benefits for service from October 2002 calculated as in premium. In nuvos a member builds up a pension based on his pensionable earnings during their period of scheme membership. At the end of the scheme year (31 March) the member's earned pension account is credited with 2.3% of their pensionable earnings in that scheme year and, immediately after the scheme year end, the accrued pension is uprated in line with RPI. In all cases members may opt to give up (commute) pension for lump sum up to the limits set by the Finance Act 2004.

The partnership pension account is a stakeholder pension arrangement. The employer makes a basic contribution of between 3% and 12.5% (depending on the age of the member) into a stakeholder pension product chosen by the employee from a panel of four providers. The employee does not have to contribute but where they do make contributions, the employer will match these up to a limit of 3% of pensionable salary (in addition to the employer's basic contribution). Employers also contribute a further 0.8% of pensionable salary to cover the cost of centrally-provided risk benefit cover (death in service and ill health retirement).

The accrued pension quoted is the pension the member is entitled to receive when they reach pension age, or immediately on ceasing to be an active member of the scheme if they are already at or over pension age. Pension age is 60 for members of classic, premium and classic plus and 65 for members of nuvos.

Further details about the Civil Service pension arrangements can be found at the website www.civilservice-pensions.gov.uk

A Cash Equivalent Transfer Value (CETV) is the actuarially assessed capitalised value of the pension scheme benefits accrued by a member at a particular point in time. The benefits valued are the member's accrued benefits and any contingent spouse's pension payable from the scheme. A CETV is a payment made by a pension scheme or arrangement to secure pension benefits in another pension scheme or arrangement when the member leaves a scheme and chooses to transfer the benefits accrued in their former scheme. The pension figures shown relate to the benefits that the individual has accrued as a consequence of their total membership of the pension scheme, not just their service in a senior capacity to which disclosure applies. The figures include the value of any pension benefit in another scheme or arrangement which the individual has transferred to the Civil Service pension arrangements. They also include any additional pension benefit accrued to the member as a result of their purchasing additional pension benefits at their own cost. CETVs are calculated in accordance with The Occupational Pension Schemes (Transfer Value) (Amendment) Regulations and do not take account of any actual or potential reduction to benefits resulting from Lifetime Allowance Tax which may be due when the pension benefits are taken.

The Real increase in CETV reflects the increase in CETV effectively funded by the employer. It does not include the increase in accrued pension due to inflation, contributions paid by the employee (including the value of any benefits transferred from another pension scheme or arrangement) and uses common market valuation factors for the start and end of the period.

Remuneration of the Chairman and other Board members

The Board consisted of up to 13 members. A list of the current Board members can be found on page 4. With the exception of the Chief Executive (ex officio member), members were appointed for a term of up to three years by the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families.

Statement by the Accounting Officer on the System of Internal Control

Scope of responsibility

As Accounting Officer, I have responsibility for maintaining an effective system of internal control that supports the achievement of the QCA policies, aims and objectives, whilst safeguarding the public funds and Departmental assets for which I am personally responsible, in accordance with the responsibilities assigned to me in Managing Public Money.

The Chief Executive of the QCA, Andrew Hall, was Accounting Officer to 31 March 2010. Following the announcement of his resignation, I was appointed as Accounting Officer of the QCDA with effect from 1 April 2010. I have received from Andrew Hall copies of letters of assurance from senior managers who have had delegated authority during the course of the year and his statement of assurance in relation to the operation of the internal control systems. In signing this Statement I place a high level of reliance on the information from Andrew Hall as the Accounting Officer for the whole of the financial year ended 31 March 2010.

QCA's objectives were linked to several Departmental Public Service Agreement (PSA) targets through its work on the curriculum, tests and examinations, qualifications and skills, as well as its regulatory work. I, and my Chairman, have regular meetings with the Department's Ministers and senior officials at which we discuss any risks that could affect the attainment of these objectives. A protocol for strategic and operational planning is also in place with the Department to support the formal agreement of objectives and funding, and putting appropriate risk management in place before new work is accepted.

This was an exceptional year in the history of QCA. We successfully completed the major phases of relocating the organisation to the West Midlands, following the recommendations of the Lyons Review on moving public servants out of London and the South East of England. Under the terms of the Apprenticeships, Skills, Children and Learning Act 2009, we also de-merged the regulatory arm of our organisation and established Ofqual as the independent regulator of examinations and National Curriculum tests. We established the remaining parts of the organisation as the Qualifications and Curriculum Development Agency (QCDA) to develop the curriculum, improve and deliver assessments, and review and reform qualifications. While achieving this, we planned and implemented matrix management of our staff for more effective deployment of available resources, and carried out a planned restructuring of our senior management team. This has been achieved through careful project planning and management of very significant risks. Clarification of accountabilities within the new matrix management has been a key focus of activity at the start of the 2010/11 financial year.

The purpose of the system of internal control

The system of internal control is designed to manage risk to a level acceptable to the QCA Board rather than to eliminate all risk of failure to achieve policies, aims and objectives; it can therefore provide only reasonable, rather than absolute, assurance of effectiveness. The system of internal control is based on an on-going process designed to identify and prioritise the risks to the achievement of QCA's policies, aims and objectives; to evaluate the likelihood of those risks being realised and the impact should they be realised; and to manage them efficiently, effectively and economically.

The system of internal control was in place in QCA for the year ending 31 March 2010 and up to the date of approval of the annual report and accounts, and accords with Treasury guidance.

Capacity to handle risk

QCA's strategic risks were derived from its annual remit for the organisation, which was provided by the Secretary of State at the start of the financial year and set out the organisational objectives of the QCA. As part of QCA's Risk Management Framework all members of the Executive and QCA's senior management team provided assurance that the strategic risks and programme risks allocated to them were managed in accordance with QCA's Risk Management Framework and within QCA's risk appetite, as set out by a series of tolerances approved by the QCA Board.

A risk management competency was incorporated into all job descriptions for programme and project managers.

Risk management training, as part of QCA's corporate training package, was offered to all staff; there was risk training during the induction of new staff; and both forms of training were based on the information provided in QCA's Risk Management Framework documentation.

Standardised and quantitative criteria helped ensure consistent assessment and reporting of risk throughout the organisation.

A number of QCA's major programmes of work were subject to the OGC Gateway Review Process. All Gateway Reviews, including the progress on implementing the recommendations arising from the Reviews, were reported to the QCA Audit Committee; Gateway and other reviews formed part of the information provided to inform the scrutiny of specific projects and programmes that were scrutinised by the QCA Risk Committee; and both Committees reported to the QCA Board.

The risk and control framework

Programme risks that exceeded a pre-determined tolerance were reviewed by the QCA Executive and, if appropriate, escalated to the QCA Board. The QCA Executive also reviewed strategic risks, and all strategic risks were reported to the QCA Board.

The Board published to the organisation its internal Statement of Risk Appetite.

Risk management was handled primarily at Group level through the maintenance of programme and project risk registers. Group Directors completed an end-of-year statement on internal control that confirmed their compliance with QCA policies on risk management, finance and governance, and with the requirements set out in the risk management framework and government accounting procedures.

Directors and Programme Heads reported on risk to both our Audit Committee and Risk Committee.

The QCA Executive carried out a rolling review of the organisation's programmes of work, which included scrutiny of programme risks, how these were managed, and the cumulative impact on the organisation.

Review of effectiveness

I have responsibility for reviewing the effectiveness of the system of internal control. My review of the effectiveness of the system of internal control in 2009-10 was informed by the work of our internal auditors; QCA Directors; the QCA Corporate Affairs team, which had responsibility for the development and maintenance of the internal control framework; and comments made by our external auditors in their management letter and other reports. I have been advised by the Board and the Audit and Risk Committees on the implications of the results of my review of the effectiveness of the system of internal control, and plans to address weaknesses and ensure continuous improvement of the system have been put in place.

The QCA Senior Information Risk Owner (SIRO) has provided an assessment of information risk, drawing on material from information asset owners and from our Chief Information Officer's group, which had a responsibility for ensuring that the QCA had effective information management and security which complied with legislation and government best practice. We were compliant with 58 of the 70 security requirements set out in the Cabinet Office Security Policy Framework, to which all Government Departments and Agencies must adhere. Of the remaining 12 requirements, QCA was partially compliant with four, and is currently in discussion with the Department about the applicability of one, and seven were not applicable. We have a tracking system to monitor our progress against the policies included within the Security Policy Framework and ensure that there is no lessening of effort to maintain our high level of compliance.

We are trialling the use of the government GSX e-mail environment, with a view to enhancing further the security of the personal and sensitive data we transmit electronically; and we follow Cabinet Office guidance on the use of encrypted memory sticks for the secure transfer of all information not already in the public domain.

Two desktop computers and a router were lost during the course of the year. One laptop computer was also lost by a member of staff, and one instance of bulk correspondence having been wrongly addressed was recorded. The desktop computers contained no data and the laptop was encrypted and held no sensitive data. Staff were reminded again of their responsibility to be vigilant when out of the office and in possession of IT equipment. A revised process for merging correspondence with addresses was introduced, with clearer accountabilities and instructions on checking the finished documents. Both incidents were reported to the Information Commissioner's Office and no further action has been taken by the Information Commissioner.

We have set a high quality standard for ourselves, and recognise that information security continues to mature as a discipline across government. On this basis our Chief Information Officer therefore gave QCA a limited assurance rating for information security.

The QCA Board and the Audit and Risk Committees have advised me on the effectiveness of the system of internal control.

The Board approved the strategic risk register at the beginning of the year, and monitored it throughout the course of the year. The Board also received regular reports from the Chief Executive and from its Committees.

The role of the Audit Committee was, and will continue to be, to advise the Board on the adequacy and effectiveness of QCA's risk management systems, internal controls and related practices. During the year the Audit Committee received risk management updates and reports by exception on the progress of projects and growing risks. The Chairman of the Audit Committee reported to the Board following each Committee meeting, giving him an opportunity to alert the Board to any matters of concern.

The role of the Risk Committee complemented that of our Audit Committee by reviewing the effectiveness of the implementation of risk management, and the integrity of risk information reported by projects and programmes within the organisation. During the year the Risk Committee received regular presentations from individual Directors on the management of the risk, and scrutinised and challenged their practical management and reduction of risk.

The QCA internal auditors delivered an audit plan driven by the Executive risks, as agreed by the Audit Committee. The Audit Committee considered reports on each audit as well as the internal auditors' annual report on the effectiveness of the overall system of internal control. Our internal auditors have offered a moderate assurance rating on the design, adequacy and effectiveness of QCA's system of internal control.

Last year, my predecessor identified six internal control issues:

1. The failure of the process for delivering National Curriculum test results by the agreed deadline in summer 2008 was very damaging to QCA, and we fully accepted, and acted upon, the recommendations contained in Lord Sutherland's report on the matter. We have in the last year completed our planned restructuring of the organisation and senior management team. The completion of action to address specific recommendations relating to the National Curriculum tests has been overseen by the National Curriculum Tests Strategic Delivery Group which was chaired by the Department.
2. Compliance with our procurement rules has been strengthened and adhered to. Our Audit Committee and Board have been kept informed of the actions taken to strengthen controls in this area including; the need to obtain Chairman and Chief Executive approval should work need to start ahead of a contract being formally signed has been observed; and the Chief Executive personally authorised the procurement of consultants to keep tight control of this area of procurement.
3. Internal audit recommendations on improving our payroll process have been completed and reported to the Audit Committee.
4. As reported above, our Chief Information Officer continued to strengthen our controls and compliance over data management and security during the year.
5. The transition of business knowledge was a critical element of our successful relocation of QCA in 2009-10 from central London to Coventry. Defined targets were set for each individual who relocated or left the organisation, and line managers confirmed in writing once these had been met.

6. The process for identifying and reporting programme milestones, as well as the guidance supporting this activity and the level of challenge the reports were subjected to, were improved to address these weaknesses identified in 2008-09.

Internal control issues

My attention has been drawn to some areas of internal control, and I have put arrangements in place to address these.

1. Business continuity planning

A full-time Business Continuity Manager led the maintenance of QCA corporate business continuity plans and provided leadership and guidance to business teams in developing their own business continuity plans. Business continuity incident management and strategy teams were established, practical exercises carried out and lessons learned integrated into revised plans. Nevertheless, there is significantly more work to be done in the coming year to align the existing plans with the new management structure of QCDA, improve our planning activities and ensure that training and education are carried out and embedded within the organisational culture.

2. Relocation of QCDA

With the completion of the long-planned relocation to Coventry and the expected high turnover of staff, there has been a concomitant loss of knowledge from the organisation. There is a continuing risk of losing further staff members as those currently working in Coventry on a trial basis determine whether they wish to make their relocation permanent. With so many new staff members there may be a much higher risk of compliance failure, and extra monitoring of basic controls will be applied in the initial part of the year.

3. Back-office support to Ofqual

Although considerable effort was directed towards the smooth separation of the regulatory function of QCA, and planning its establishment as the independent regulator, Ofqual, a risk materialised in connection with one of the suppliers of back-office services. Ofqual was left without these back-office, administrative services. These, however, were not critical to the vesting of the independent regulator on 1 April 2010. QCDA is continuing for an agreed and limited period to provide these services to Ofqual. This will need to be closely monitored and any indication of slippage reported and addressed immediately. Our Audit and Risk Committees, and our Board, are taking a keen interest in this matter – as is the Ofqual Board – and will be kept fully informed.

4. Procurement

The planned restructuring of our Commercial and Procurement team is underway and will help to strengthen controls in this area. Improving the organisation's procurement planning will be of equal importance, and the deployment of programme delivery support resources through matrix management will support this. Tight control of the approval of contracts, and the requirement that the Accounting Officer personally approve any single tender awards has significantly mitigated the risk in this area, and these controls will continue to be applied.

5. IT strategy

This area of strategy has been critical to running our business and will continue to be so. The entire senior management team has made strenuous efforts during the year to assure itself that value for money could be properly demonstrated and change controls were rigorously applied. Given the critical work scheduled for the year ahead, and the lessons learned from the challenges of 2009-10, particular attention will be given to the development and testing of the strategy for 2010-11.

6. QCDA closure announcement (see note 28 to the accounts) and additional government expenditure controls

The systems of internal control will be reviewed for the 2010-11 financial year to ensure that they are robust and appropriate both to managing a business whose work is being wound down or transferred and also to operating in the context of new cross government controls on spending

The Certificate and Report of the Comptroller and Auditor General to the Houses of Parliament

I certify that I have audited the financial statements of the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority for the year ended 31 March 2010 under the Education Act 1997. These comprise the Group and Parent Statements of Financial Position, the Group and Parent Net Expenditure Accounts, the Group and Parent Statements of Cash Flow, and the Group and Parent Statements of Changes in Reserves, and the related notes. These financial statements have been prepared under the accounting policies set out within them. I have also audited the information in the Remuneration Report that is described in that report as having been audited.

Respective responsibilities of the Accounting Officer and auditor

As explained more fully in the Statement of Chief Executive Responsibilities, the Accounting Officer is responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view. My responsibility is to audit the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland). Those standards require me and my staff to comply with the Auditing Practices Board's Ethical Standards for Auditors.

Scope of the Audit of the Financial Statements

An audit involves obtaining evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements sufficient to give reasonable assurance that the financial statements are free from material misstatement, whether caused by fraud or error. This includes an assessment of: whether the accounting policies are appropriate to the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority's and the group's circumstances and have been consistently applied and adequately disclosed; the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority; and the overall presentation of the financial statements.

In addition, I am required to obtain evidence sufficient to give reasonable assurance that the expenditure and income reported in the financial statements have been applied to the purposes intended by Parliament and the financial transactions conform to the authorities which govern them.

Opinion on Regularity

In my opinion, in all material respects the expenditure and income have been applied to the purposes intended by Parliament and the financial transactions conform to the authorities which govern them.

Opinion on financial statements

In my opinion:

- the financial statements give a true and fair view of the state of the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority's and the group's affairs as at 31 March 2010 and of the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority's and the group's net expenditure, changes in reserves and cash flows for the year then ended; and
- the financial statements have been properly prepared in accordance with the Education Act 1997 and the Secretary of State's directions issued thereunder.

Emphasis of matter - Going concern

In forming my opinion, which is not qualified, I have considered the adequacy of the disclosures made in note 1(n) and note 28 to the financial statements concerning the application of the going concern principle in light of the Government's announced proposal to introduce legislation in the autumn of 2010 to abolish the Qualifications and Curriculum Development Agency. This proposal indicates the existence of a material uncertainty which may cast significant doubt about the ability of the Qualifications and Curriculum Development Agency to continue as a going concern. The financial statements do not include the adjustments that would result if the Qualifications and Curriculum Development Agency was unable to continue as a going concern.

Opinion on other matters

In my opinion:

- the part of the Remuneration Report to be audited has been properly prepared in accordance with Secretary of State's directions issued under the Education Act 1997; and

- the information given in Management Commentary, included within the Annual Report, for the financial year for which the financial statements are prepared is consistent with the financial statements.

Matters on which I report by exception

I have nothing to report in respect of the following matters which I report to you if, in my opinion:

- adequate accounting records have not been kept; or
- the financial statements are not in agreement with the accounting records or returns; or
- I have not received all of the information and explanations I require for my audit; or
- the Statement on Internal Control does not reflect compliance with HM Treasury's guidance.

Report

I have no observations to make on these financial statements.

National Occupational Standards Development Levy

A Statutory Instrument was laid before Parliament on 8th April 2008 to abolish the National Vocational Qualifications (NVQ) levy. QCA was required to transfer responsibility for National Occupational Standards Development to the UK Commission for Employment and Skills (UKCES) as at 30th September 2008.

QCA was also required by a ministerial direction to transfer residual NVQ levy income to the UKCES on 30th September 2008 and to make arrangements for the collection of outstanding NVQ levy payments and their transfer to the UKCES for such use.

On the transfer date QCA transferred £11,849,463 to UKCES and a further £4,198,328 has been transferred between 30th September and 31st March 2010 as QCA continues to collect outstanding NVQ levy receipts from Awarding bodies based on NVQ certificates issued up to and including 29th September 2008.

The notes on pages 35 to 55 form part of these accounts.

THE QUALIFICATIONS AND CURRICULUM AUTHORITY

NOTES TO THE ACCOUNTS

1. STATEMENT OF ACCOUNTING POLICIES

These financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the 2009-10 Government Financial Reporting Manual (FReM) issued by the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families and in accordance with the Accounts Direction issued by the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families on 1 October 2008. The accounting policies contained in the FReM apply international Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) as adapted or interpreted for the public sector context. Where the FReM permits a choice of accounting policy, the accounting policy which is judged to be most appropriate to the particular circumstances of the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority for the purpose of giving a true and fair view has been selected. The particular policies adopted by the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority are described below. They have been applied consistently in dealing with items that are considered to be material to the accounts.

1.1 Accounting Convention

These accounts have been prepared under the historical cost convention modified to account for the revaluation of property, plant and equipment, intangible assets and inventories.

a) Subsidiary undertaking

QCA (Enterprises) Limited is a wholly owned subsidiary of QCA. Its principal activity is the sale of QCA publications and products. The consolidated accounts include the operating results of QCA (Enterprises) Ltd, on an acquisition accounting basis.

b) Income

Grant-in-Aid from the Department for Children, Schools and Families

All Grant-in-Aid (GIA) from the Department for Children, Schools and Families has been treated as financing as it is a contribution from a controlling party used to finance activities and expenditure which support the statutory and other objectives of QCA. It is recorded as financing in the cash flow statement and credited to General Reserves.

Grant Income

Grant Income is received from the Department of Employment and Learning (Northern Ireland) for funding the QCA office located in Northern Ireland. Grant for current activities is credited to the Net Expenditure account in the year of receipt.

Other income

All other income is accounted for on an accruals basis. The turnover of QCA (Enterprises) Limited is stated net of value added tax and trade discounts.

c) Expenditure

Expenditure is accounted for in the period to which it relates. Expenditure is stated net of recoverable VAT. Where VAT is irrecoverable expenditure is stated gross.

d) NVQ certification income

Until 29th September 2008 QCA received income from awarding bodies in respect of the certification of NVQs. Information on the number of certificates awarded was received, and assurance was taken, in the following quarter to which it related. Levy income raised under S36 (3) of the Education Act 1997 was spent on developing national occupational standards and has been disclosed separately in the accounts.

A Statutory Instrument was laid before Parliament on 8th April 2008 to abolish the levy. Responsibility for National Occupational Standards was transferred from QCA to the UK Commission for Employment and Skills (UKCES) with effect from 30th September 2008.

e) Non-current assets

(i) Property, plant and equipment

Expenditure on the acquisition of property, plant and equipment is capitalised at cost where the cost for an individual asset is in excess of £1,000. Certain items whose collective cost exceeded the capitalisation threshold (£1,000) have been included in the property, plant and equipment register as grouped assets.

Property, plant and equipment are carried at fair value and depreciated historic cost is used as a proxy for current value for all classes of assets listed below on the basis that the assets have short useful lives and low values. Assets are revalued annually using relevant indices provided by the Office for National Statistics. Where an asset's value is increased as a result of revaluation, the increase is credited to General Reserves. Where an asset is impaired as a result of downward revaluation the charge is taken to the Net Expenditure account.

Depreciation is provided on a straight-line basis so as to write off the cost over their useful economic lives. These have been estimated as follows:

Leasehold Fixtures & Fittings	length of lease
Refurbishment	length of lease
Furniture	7 years
Office equipment	4 years
Motor vehicles	4 years
Information technology	3 years

A full year's depreciation charge is provided for in the year of acquisition and none in the year of disposal for all assets.

(ii) Intangible assets

Intangible assets comprise Development Expenditure of the Diploma Aggregation Service that was generated internally and purchased software licences. Amortisation of Development Expenditure commenced upon completion of the project in September 2008 on a straight line basis over seven years. Software licences are amortised on a straight line basis over 3 years. Development Expenditure and Software licences are stated at modified historic cost less amortisation as a proxy to fair value and are revalued annually using indices on the same basis as property, plant and equipment.

Development Expenditure in Progress relates to the development costs incurred to date on the new regulatory IT system, RITS, under development with Ofqual to replace the legacy regulatory systems operated by QCA/QCDA.

A full year's amortisation charge is provided for in the year of acquisition and none in the year of disposal.

f) Inventories

Inventories are valued at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Cost is determined on a first in first out (FIFO) basis. Net realisable value is the amount that can be realised from the sale of the inventory in the normal course of business after allowing for the costs of realisation.

An allowance is recorded for obsolescence.

g) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash on hand, call and current balances with banks, which are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and which are subject to insignificant risk changes. This definition is also used for Cash flow statements.

h) Taxation

QCA was an exempt charity until 31 March 2010 and had, under the Income and Corporation Taxes Act 1980, obtained exemption from taxes on surplus arising from its charitable objectives. QCA Enterprises Limited is subject to corporation taxes on profits that were not transferred under Deed of Covenant to QCA prior to 1 April 2010.

Taxation on the profit or loss for the year comprises current and deferred tax in respect of the wholly owned subsidiary, QCA (Enterprises) Limited. Taxation is recognised in the Net Expenditure account.

Current tax is the expected tax payable on the taxable income for the year using tax rates enacted or substantively enacted as at the Statement of Financial Position date and any adjustment to tax payable in respect of previous years.

Deferred tax is provided on temporary differences between the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities for financial reporting purposes and the amounts used for taxation purposes. Temporary differences are not provided for the initial recognition of assets or liabilities that effect neither accounting nor taxable profit. The amount of deferred tax provided is based on the expected manner of realisation or settlement of the carrying amount of assets and liabilities, using tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the Statement of Financial Position date.

A deferred tax asset is recognised only to the extent that it is probable that future profits will be available against which the temporary difference can be utilised.

i) Value Added Tax

QCA and QCA (Enterprises) Ltd are registered as a group for the purposes of Value Added Tax, registration no. 706 7645 21.

j) Provisions

Provisions are recognised where a legal or constructive obligation has been incurred which will probably lead to an outflow of resources that can reasonably be expected. Provisions are recorded for the estimated ultimate liability that is expected to arise, taking into account the time value of money. A contingent liability is disclosed where the existence of the obligations will only be confirmed by future events, or where the amount of the obligation cannot be measured with reasonable certainty.

k) Notional costs

The notional cost of capital is designed to show the opportunity cost of funding the net assets needed to provide a particular service. It is a non-cash charge shown on the Net Expenditure account. QCA is in the position of having a credit charge on the Net Expenditure account. This is because instead of showing overall net assets on its Statement of Financial Position QCA has overall net liabilities due to its provisions and liabilities for Relocation and Rent as detailed in note 17 to the accounts.

Cost of capital is charged to the Net Expenditure Account at the prescribed rate of the capital employed and credited back to the retained surplus at the end of the period at the rate of 3.5% (2008-09: 3.5%). Capital employed comprises the average of total assets less current liabilities at the beginning and the end of the financial year, excluding non-interest bearing bank balances with the Office of the Paymaster General and the Bank of England.

l) Foreign currency transactions

QCA has dealings in Euros, and holds a Euro account to hedge against significant fluctuations in exchange rates. Transactions denominated in foreign currencies are translated into their sterling equivalent at the rate ruling on the transaction date. At the Statement of Financial Position date, monetary assets and liabilities denominated in a foreign currency are translated by using the rate of exchange ruling at that date.

m) Liquid resources

IAS 32 (Financial Instruments and Derivatives) requires organisations to disclose information on the possible impact of financial instruments on its risk profile, and how these risks might affect the organisation's performance and financial condition. As an NDPB funded by the Department and BIS, QCA can confirm that it is not exposed to any liquidity or interest rate risks.

n) Going concern

As outlined in more detail in note 28 to the accounts, on page 54, the remit and funding for QCDA remain in place for 2010-11 to cover those activities that will be continuing. Therefore, despite the Statement of Financial position of net liabilities, after excluding the restricted funds for national occupational standards, QCA/QCDA operates as a going concern.

o) IFRSs issued but not yet effective

In line with the requirements of IAS 8, QCA has identified the following IFRSs issued which may have an impact on the accounts but have not been applied as they are not yet effective.

IFRS 9 Financial Instruments

The classification of financial assets under IFRS 9 will be on the basis of the entity's business model for the management, and contractual cash flow characteristics. The effective date is 1 January 2013. The impact of application is uncertain as additional instalments covering financial liabilities and impairment methodology have not yet been published.

IAS 24 Related Party Disclosures

The revised IAS 24 simplifies and clarifies the definition of a related party and there is partial exemption from disclosure of transactions and outstanding balances. The effective date is 1 January 2011. QCDA intends to apply the revised IAS 24 in the financial year to 31 March 2012 but the impact is not likely to be significant. Some transactions and outstanding balances may become exempt from disclosure.

IAS 7 Statement of Cash Flows

In the revised IAS 7, only expenditure that results in the recognition of an asset (rather than simply to generate future income and cash flows) should be classified as a cash flow from investing activities. The effective date is 1 January 2010 and QCDA intends to apply the revised IAS 7 in the financial year ending 31 March 2011. The impact is not expected to be significant. In the financial year ending 31 March 2010 the cash flows from investing activities relates entirely to the recognition of tangible and intangible assets.

IAS 17 Leases

The revised IAS 17 requires leases including both land and buildings to be separately assessed, with the land treated as a finance lease, even if title is not expected to pass to the lessee. Unexpired leases should be reassessed and accounted for retrospectively. The effective date is 1 January 2010. Whilst QCDA intends to apply the revised IAS 17 in the financial year ending 31 March 2011, it is not expected to have a significant impact on the accounts.

2. FIRST TIME ADOPTION OF IFRS

The financial year ended 31 March 2010 is the first year that QCA is presenting its financial statements under IFRS as modified by the Accounts Direction. The last consolidated financial statements presented under UK GAAP were for the year ended 31 March 2009. As IFRS requires comparative figures for the year ended 31 March 2009, the date of transition was 1 April 2008.

There have been no changes to Net Expenditure Account, Statement of Financial Position or Reserves as a result of the change from reporting under UK GAAP to the adoption of IFRS reporting, although there are minor changes of format and terminology. For this reason we have not presented an opening Statement of Financial Position as at 1st April 2008 within this Annual Report and Accounts.

3. STAFF NUMBERS AND RELATED COSTS

3a) Staff costs comprise

	Total £'000	Total £'000
Wages and salaries	32,220	27,462

Pension costs	5,822	5,076
Agency/contract staff and secondment costs	12,182	12,404
Total net costs	53,263	47,469

The Principal Civil Service Pension Scheme (PCSPS) is an unfunded multi-employer defined benefit scheme. QCA is unable to identify its share of the underlying assets and liabilities. The scheme's Actuary valued the scheme as at 31 March 2007. Details can be found in the resource accounts of the Cabinet Office: Civil Superannuation (www.civilservice-pensions.gov.uk).

For 2009-10, employers' contributions of £5,748,473 were payable to the PCSPS (2008-09 £5,019,603) at one of four rates in the range 16.7% to 24.3% of pensionable pay, based on salary bands (the rates in 2008-09 were between 17.1% and 25.5%). The Scheme Actuary reviews employer contributions usually every four years following a full scheme valuation. From 2010-11, the rates will be in the range 16.7% to 24.3%. The contribution rates are set to meet the cost of the benefits accruing during 2009-10 to be paid when the member retires and not the benefits paid during this period to existing pensioners.

Employees can opt to open a partnership pension account, a stakeholder pension with an employer contribution. Employer contributions of £73,320 (2008-09 £59,604), were paid to one or more of a panel of four appointed stakeholder pension providers. Employer contributions are age-related and range from 3% to 12.5% of pensionable pay. Employers also match employee contributions up to 3% of pensionable pay. In addition, employer contributions of £540 (2008-09 £4,200), 0.8% of pensionable pay, were payable to the PCSPS to cover the cost of the future provision of lump sum benefits on death in service and ill health retirement of these employees.

Contributions due to the partnership pension providers at the statement of financial position date were £4,796 (2008-09 £nil). Contributions prepaid at that date were £nil (2008-09 £nil).

4. ANALYSIS OF COSTS BY PROGRAMME

QCA's business plan for the year to 31 March 2010 was the basis for the Chief Executive's Performance Agreement, which was divided into Key Result Areas (KRAs) as follows:

KRA 1: Provide a modern, world-class curriculum that will inspire and challenge all learners and prepare them for the future; and to support that curriculum with methods of evaluation and assessment which promote learning and report achievement in learning at individual, institutional and national level	6,061	6,944
KRA 2: Establish an integrated system of qualifications that will meet the needs of learners, employers and higher education and contribute to a successful society and economy, by better harnessing experience and minimising administrative burden	16,833	19,313

Total QCA Programmes	97,351	104,332

Included in the above charges are consultancy fees totaling £22,488,000 (2008-09: £16,996,000).

5. ANALYSIS OF NET EXPENDITURE BY SEGMENT

QCA has adopted IFRS 8 Operating Segment as revised in April 2009. This constitutes an early adoption as the effective date of the revision to IFRS 8 is 1 January 2010. The amendment clarifies that segmental information for total assets is required only if such amounts are regularly reported to the chief operating decision maker.

IFRS 8 requires operating segments to be identified on the basis of internal reports about components of the Group that are regularly reviewed by the Chief Operating Decision Maker in order to allocate the resources to the segment and to assess its performance.

QCA reports segmental information based on the principal Key Result Areas, (KRAs). The accounting policies of the reportable segments are the same as the Group's accounting policies described in note 1.

The following table presents gross expenditure, income and net expenditure regarding the Group's operating segments for the year ended 31 March 2010 based on management information produced in accordance with UK GAAP.

All activities are undertaken in the UK.

	Gross Expenditure £'000	Income £'000	Net Expenditure £'000

a) Trading Activities

QCA (Enterprises) Ltd is a wholly owned trading subsidiary of QCA selling QCA publications and products. The company transferred £nil (2008-09: £2,711,203) under Deed of Covenant to QCA.

This analysis conforms to HM Treasury's Fees and Charges Guide and is not intended to comply with IFRS 8 Segment Reporting.

QCA (Enterprises) Ltd acts as a trading vehicle for QCA and during the year continued to sell educational materials, and to license the use of intellectual property arising from QCA activities. The surplus for the year exceeded the target established within the annual operating plan.

9. PROGRAMME EXPENDITURE REFUND

As disclosed in the 2008-09 Annual Report and Accounts, following the late delivery of the national curriculum tests at Key Stages 2 and 3, QCA and ETS responsible for the delivery of the tests, agreed to dissolve their five-year contract for national curriculum tests operations with immediate effect. The agreement to end the contract early was made by both parties and there was no payments made by QCA to ETS Europe for any remaining years of the contract. Financial details of the termination meant that ETS Europe made a payment to QCA of £19.5 million, along with the cancellation of other invoices and charges of approximately £4.6 million. ETS had been originally selected due to the strength of their worldwide experience in delivering large scale assessments, and it was disappointing that the issues with the 2008 national curriculum test results meant that the partnership between QCA and ETS Europe had to end early.

13. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

As the cash requirements of QCA are almost wholly funded through Grant-in-Aid provided by the Department, financial instruments play a more limited role in creating and managing risk than would apply to a non-public sector body. The majority of financial instruments relate to contracts to buy non-financial items in line with QCA's expected purchase and usage requirements and the organisation is therefore exposed to little credit, liquidity or market risk.

Relocation Programme – Redundancy

The provision for redundancy was created in 2006-07 following confirmation of the decision that QCA would relocate to Coventry during 2009-10. The QCA was specifically named as part of the Department for Education and Skills commitment to the Cabinet Office, in implementing the recommendations of the government's independent Review of Public Sector Relocation, led by Sir Michael Lyons, to relocating 800 jobs from London and the South-East by 2010. The QCA completed its commitments under the Lyons Review during February 2010, including a number of staff working in the new Coventry office on a 12 month trial basis. The provision has been updated to reflect current staff undertaking the trial or with agreed leaving dates on or after 31st March 2010, and their entitlements under the Civil Service Compensation Scheme as at 31st March 2010. This includes compensatory lump sums and amounts due in lieu of pension payments, and is based on current compulsory redundancy terms for service up to 30th September 2010. The movement in the provision during the financial years 2008-09 and 2009-10 has been disclosed separately in the net expenditure account.

Rent – 83 Piccadilly, London W1J

The provision for rent relating to the current QCA London office has been created following the programme to relocate the QCA to Coventry during 2010 [see Relocation Programme – Redundancy note for background details relating to the relocation programme]. The provision reflects the latest independent expert advice on the likely movement in the London property market and thus the probability of sub-letting 83 Piccadilly office space following QCA vacating the property, up to the end of the current contracted lease period on 31st December 2012. The provision is based on the QCA estimated rent liability for the 3-year period January 2010 to December 2012, plus essential pre-letting refurbishment costs, less up-to-date independent expert advice on potential rental income for the period. The independent expert advice reflects not only the potential market conditions that may apply at that time, but also the relatively short period available for sub-let. The movement in the provision during the financial years 2008-09 and 2009-10 has been disclosed separately in the net expenditure account.

Levy income for the year is based on NVQ certificates issued up to and including 29th September 2008. A Statutory Instrument was laid before Parliament on 8th April 2008 to abolish the levy. QCA was required to transfer responsibility for National Occupational Standards Development to the UK Commission for Employment and Skills (UKCES) as at 30th September 2008.

QCA has continued to collect levy income due in respect of the period prior to 29 September 2008 and transfer surplus cash balances to UKCES.

27. VAT REFUND

On 4 December 2009 QCA received confirmation from HM Customs & Revenue that a VAT ruling deemed the QCA Diploma Aggregation Service ("DAS") to be a standard rated taxable supply. QCA has therefore been able to recover all input VAT on DAS costs since its establishment in April 2006 and has to date received a refund from HM Revenue & Customs in the amount of £2,6,81,809, with further input VAT costs amounting to £398,081 to 31 March 2010 to be recovered. The total amount recoverable over the period from April 2006 to 31 March 2010 has been credited against the relevant expenditure categories in the 2009-10 financial statements. £1,295,073 of the recoverable amount relates to costs capitalised in respect of the DAS intangible asset and this has been adjusted against the cost of the asset, with depreciation charges in the year being revised accordingly, based on the reduced cost of the asset.

28. EVENTS AFTER THE REPORTING PERIOD

On 27 May 2010 Rt. Hon Michael Gove MP, the Secretary of State from the Department for Education, wrote to Christopher Trinick DL, Chair of QCDA, confirming that the Government propose to introduce legislation in the autumn of 2010 to abolish the QCDA. The remit and funding for QCDA remain in place for 2010-11 to cover those activities that will be continuing and to manage the transition of non-continuing activities and, for the time being, maintain non-continuing statutory activities until new legislation is in place.

In light of this event the management have reviewed the appropriateness of the preparation of the financial statements on a 'going concern' basis.

Management note that legislation is required to be passed before QCDA can be abolished and statutory responsibilities ceased or transferred. Any such legislation, if passed, is unlikely to receive royal assent before July 2011. Management also note that given the short period since the announcement, they do not yet have clarity on the nature or timing of any non-statutory activities that may be ceased or transferred, and that such clarity will emerge over the coming months leading up to the publication of a White Paper. In the interim period management are satisfied that sufficient funding is in place to enable QCDA to continue trading and meet its obligations as they fall due.

Given the announced intentions of the Government and the lack of clarity regarding the implications of the abolition of the QCDA management have concluded that there exists a material uncertainty that casts significant doubt upon QCDA's ability to continue as a going concern. In such circumstances QCDA may be unable to continue realising its assets and discharging its liabilities in the normal course of business. Nevertheless after making enquiries, and considering the circumstances described above, together with the outcome of their discussions with the Department for Education, management have a reasonable expectation that QCDA will have adequate resources to continue in operational existence for the foreseeable future. For these reasons, they continue to adopt the going concern basis in preparing the annual report and financial statements.

The accounts do not include the adjustments which would result if QCDA were unable to continue as a going concern.

The financial statements were authorised for issue on 24 June 2010 by Lin Hinnigan (Accounting Officer).
