EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM TO
THE STATEMENT OF CHANGES IN IMMIGRATION RULES
LAID ON 22 FEBRUARY 2005 (HC 346)

1. This explanatory memorandum has been prepared by the Home Office and is laid before Parliament by Command of Her Majesty.

2. Description

2.1 This Statement of Changes in Immigration Rules contains the following five policy changes:

- A new provision for visitors to enter the UK for marriage where there is no intention to settle here afterwards (“marriage tourists”).
- A new provision to enable the dependants of foreign and Commonwealth nationals serving in HM Forces to apply for leave to accompany them in the UK.
- Amendment to the definition of “Public funds”.
- Incorporation of a concession outside the Immigration Rules about doctors taking the Professional and Linguistic Assessment Board Test (‘PLAB Test’), and doctors and dentists undertaking clinical attachments.
- Provisions about who will be able to switch into leave as a “Person Intending to Establish Themselves in Business”; “Investor”; or “Retired Person of Independent Means”.

3. Matters of special interest to the Joint Committee on Statutory Instruments

3.1 None.

4. Legislative Background

4.1 The Immigration Rules are the rules made under section 3(2) of the Immigration Act 1971. These constitute a statement of practice, as laid before Parliament by the Home Secretary, to be followed in regulating entry into, and stay of persons in, the United Kingdom. Under section 3(2) the Secretary of State is obliged “.. from time to time (and as soon as may be) lay before Parliament statements of the rules, or any changes in the rules, laid down by him as to the practice to be followed in the administration of this Act ..”.

4.2 The introduction of additional requirements for those subject to immigration control who wish to give notice of marriage in the UK, supplements the provisions of sections 19 to 25 of the Immigration & Asylum (Treatment of Claimants etc) Act 2004, which came into force on 1 February 2005. These provisions introduced additional requirements for those subject to immigration control who wish to give notice of marriage in the UK. Under these provisions, before a person subject to immigration control can give notice of a marriage they will need to:

- hold entry clearance enabling them to marry in the UK; or
- hold the written permission of the Secretary of State; or
- have settled status in the UK.

In addition, they must give notice of marriage at one of a limited number of designated offices.

4.3 This Statement of Changes in Immigration Rules will be laid on 22 February. All the changes will take effect on 15 March.

4.4 This Statement of Changes in Immigration Rules was incorporated into a consolidated version of the Immigration Rules, which can be found under the ‘Laws & Policy’ page at: www.ind.homeoffice.gov.uk, where there are also copies of all the Statement of Changes in Immigration Rules issued since May 2003.

5. Extent

5.1 This Statement of Changes in Immigration Rules applies to all of the United Kingdom.

6. European Convention on Human Rights

6.1 Not applicable.

7. Policy background

7.1 A summary of each of the five policy changes contained in this Statement of Changes in Immigration Rules follows:

‘Marriage tourists’ visa

- Both visa and non-visa nationals will need to obtain entry clearance as a marriage visitor if they wish to come to the UK in a temporary capacity to marry. If they do not do so, a registrar will no longer accept notice of their marriage. Where a person intends to settle in the UK after their marriage they should apply for a fiancé entry clearance in the normal manner.

- This new provision in the Immigration Rules creates a legislative basis for marriage tourists. It allows entry clearance officers to refuse an entry clearance if they are not satisfied that arrangements have been made to give notice of marriage or to marry during the period of leave. It also provides for immigration officers to refuse leave to enter in such circumstances.

Dependants of serving members of the armed forces

- Section 8(4) of the Immigration Act 1971 gives exemption from immigration control (though not from deportation provisions) to various categories of foreign and Commonwealth military personnel:
  - members of the home forces subject to service law;
  - members of a Commonwealth force training in the United Kingdom with the home forces;
  - those serving or posted for service in the United Kingdom as a member of a visiting force including NATO forces; and
  - those serving or posted for service as a member of an international headquarters or defence organisation.
- Dependants of military personnel are not exempt from immigration control. They are currently granted leave to remain under the terms of a concession outside the Immigration Rules. However, they must first seek entry as a visitor before applying for further leave to remain under the concession. This is inconvenient and incurs additional expense because as visitors they can only be granted a maximum period of leave of six months before having to apply, and pay the appropriate fee, for an extension of stay under the concession. Visitor conditions also prohibit employment whereas dependants granted leave under the concession are permitted to work.
- To enable dependants of armed forces members to obtain leave to enter prior to their arrival in the United Kingdom, two new rules have been drafted:
  - Spouses of armed forces members who are exempt from immigration control under section 8(4) of the Immigration Act 1971; and
  - Children of armed forces members who are exempt from immigration control under section 8(4) of the Immigration Act 1971.
- The new Rules require that dependants can be maintained and accommodated without recourse to public funds. Marriages must be subsisting. Children must be under the age of 18, unmarried and not leading an independent life. Under the terms of the concession, leave for dependants of exempt military personnel was granted for periods up to three years, or for the duration of the military posting, whichever was the shorter. The new Rules allow for leave to enter or remain to be granted for up to four years, or for the duration of the posting, whichever is shorter. This is consistent with the minimum period of enlistment in the armed forces. It also provides sufficient leave to cover dependants until their serving spouse, or parent, may qualify for settlement in the United Kingdom under the HM Forces rule after discharge and on completion of 4 years service. The longer period will also reduce the overall cost to dependants as less frequent extensions of stay will be required. Leave is granted on conditions permitting employment.

Public funds

- In deciding whether to grant leave to enter or remain, the Secretary of State will decide whether persons can maintain and accommodate themselves without recourse to public funds. Where leave is granted, it may also be subject to conditions, one of which may be that the person does not have recourse to public funds. The definition of public funds in the Immigration Rules informs these decisions. Where a person breaches a condition of their leave they may be prosecuted or removed.
- The definition of public funds has been amended to delete references to those which no longer exist – invalid care allowance, working families' tax credit and disabled person's tax credit. The amendment also deletes a reference to income-based Jobseeker's allowance which appeared twice. Carer's allowance, state pension credit, working tax credit and child tax credit have now been included in the definition.
- A change has also been made to make clear that a person shall not be regarded as having recourse to public funds if they are not excluded from such funds under specified legislative provisions.

Doctors and dentists taking the PLAB Test and clinical attachments

- There has been a long-standing concession outside the Immigration Rules to enable overseas doctors to come to the UK to take the PLAB (Professional and Linguistic Assessment Board) Test which most overseas doctors take to be granted limited registration with the General Medical Council. Overseas doctors are also granted leave to undertake periods of clinical attachment which are unpaid and involve observation only and not treatment of patients. Doctors and dentists with leave under these concessions can also switch into certain employment categories, providing they will be working as a doctor or dentist.
- The changes bring these concessions into the Immigration Rules in order to make them clear and transparent to doctors, dentists and their employers.
- They specify that dentists can also benefit from the arrangements by undertaking dental observation posts, which are the equivalent of clinical attachments. Dental observation posts have not previously been specifically mentioned.

- We have consulted the Department of Health and key medical and dental organisations about these changes. They supported the added clarity of having these categories in the Immigration Rules.

Switching (business and related categories)

- The current Immigration Rules require that anyone applying for leave to remain as a “Person Intending to Establish Themselves in Business”, an “Investor” or a “Retired Person of Independent Means” has to come to the UK in that category. However, casework guidance allows discretion for this to be waived in certain cases. We have therefore made changes to the Rules to specify who will be able to switch into leave under one of these categories, so that the provisions are clear and transparent. They also restrict switching to those in certain specified categories to re-enforce the separation between temporary and permanent migration categories.
- The changes to those who can switch into leave as a “Person Intending to Establish Themselves in Business” in the UK resemble the provisions for those who are able to switch into work permit employment. If they meet the requirements of the Rules, the following will be able to switch:
  - Work permit holders;
  - Highly Skilled Migrant Programme participants;
  - Science and Engineering Graduates Scheme participants;
  - Innovators;
  - Students who have successfully graduated in the UK; and
  - Working Holidaymakers who have spent more than 12 months in the UK.
- The categories of “Investors” and “Retired Persons of Independent Means” are not primarily employment categories. The changes enable those who are currently in the UK in an employment or business category that directly benefits the UK to switch if they meet the relevant requirements. This applies to those in the UK as work permit holders, Highly Skilled Migrant Programme participants, “Persons Intending to Establish Themselves in Business” and “Innovators”.
- We have also enabled “Persons Intending to Establish Themselves in Business” to switch into leave as an “Innovator” for consistency as both categories allow overseas nationals to set up a business in the UK.
