dear

mr. vince cable.

my wife and i have been in a punch partnership for years throughout this period we have always had a good relationship with punch taverns through our b.r.m (business relations manager).though we are just a small outlet our b.r.m has always been very helpful with any issues that have arisen and sorting out the problem within hours. my views on the beer tie is that small outlets with good rent reviews and property repairs incorporated into their agreement may suffer while larger outlets may benefit. punch taverns must treat every outlet as individuals on this issue. it would also be helpful if the government could lower the rate of vat to 15%
