(please sue this version, small typo spotted in previous)

I mentioned that some residents in Balcombe have raised concerns based on unsubstantiated scare stories concerning “toxic and carcinogenic emissions” as a result of flaring. The Parish Council asked us to make a statement on this and some other issues which is attached. We checked the DECC position before commenting. We are also making a public statement about pre-existing shallow gas in West Sussex, also attached.

If you have any questions please call me.

Best regards,
