The Armed Forces Covenant

An Enduring Covenant Between

The People of the United Kingdom
Her Majesty's Government

– and –

All those who serve or have served in the Armed Forces of the Crown

And their Families

The first duty of Government is the defence of the realm. Our Armed Forces fulfil that responsibility on behalf of the Government, sacrificing some civilian freedoms, facing danger and, sometimes, suffering serious injury or death as a result of their duty. Families also play a vital role in supporting the operational effectiveness of our Armed Forces. In return, the whole nation has a moral obligation to the members of the Naval Service, the Army and the Royal Air Force, together with their families.

They deserve our respect and support, and fair treatment.

Those who serve in the Armed Forces, whether Regular or Reserve, those who have served in the past, and their families, should face no disadvantage compared to other citizens in the provision of public and commercial services. Special consideration is appropriate in some cases, especially for those who have given most such as the injured and the bereaved.

This obligation involves the whole of society: it includes voluntary and charitable bodies, private organisations, and the actions of individuals in supporting the Armed Forces. Recognising those who have performed military duty unites the country and demonstrates the value of their contribution. This has no greater expression than in upholding this Covenant.

Section 1: Principles Of The Armed Forces Corporate Covenant

1.1 We Arise Virtual Solutions will endeavour in our business dealings to uphold the key principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, which are:

- no member of the Armed Forces Community should face disadvantage in the provision of public and commercial services compared to any other citizen
- in some circumstances special treatment may be appropriate especially for the injured or bereaved.

Section 2: Demonstrating our Commitment

2.1 Arise Virtual Solutions recognises the value serving personnel, reservists, veterans and military families bring to our business. We will seek to uphold the principles of the Armed Forces Covenant, by:

- promoting the fact that we are an armed forces-friendly organisation; Arise promotes all of it's forces related events widely on the website, along with producing case studies of agents who have come through our forces sourcing channels.
- seeking to support the employment of veterans young and old; Arise attends Career Transition Partnership events across the UK to engage with forces personnel and their families. Arise advertises widely on forces related websites and magazines such as Equipped and Forces Job Shop. We are also now in discussions with Recovery Career Services to form a partnership with that organisation too.
- striving to support the employment of Service spouses and partners; Arise advertises on Recruit for Spouses website and actively pursues partnerships with onsite Army Family Federations.
- endeavouring to offer a degree of flexibility in granting leave for Service spouses and partners before, during and after a partner's deployment; The Arise model enables service leavers to dictate their own hours working 100% of the time from home.
- seeking to support our employees who choose to be members of the Reserve forces, including by accommodating their training and deployment where possible;

- offering support to our local cadet units, either in our local community or in local schools, where possible;
- aiming to actively participate in Armed Forces Day;
- offering a discount to members of the Armed Forces Community;
- any additional commitments Arise Virtual Solutions could make (based on local circumstances).

Arise is one of the only commercial organisations participating in the Ministry of Defence

Partner Employment Programme aimed at co-ordinating the response to large scale numbers of personnel departing the armed forces over the next few years.

2.2 We will publicise these commitments through our literature and on our website, setting out how we will seek to honour them and inviting feedback from the Service community and our customers on how we are doing.
