I

Have been in the industry for years with various landlords some good, some bad, but I have to say Admiral Taverns are one of the best I have worked with.

I feel the pub industry locally is on the up and feel that any further issues or red tape would slow that progress.

On a separate note I feel there should be a level playing field we are responsible for our customers health and wellbeing, whereas in Tesco and other stores I have seen trolleys full of alcohol only, who is the responsible retailer? We are also not allowed to promote cheap alcohol as the big stores do.

yours.
