Dear Sir or Madam

I am writing this letter as I am very concerned about the possible threat of new laws for myself and my pub company Admiral Taverns.

I have been a tenant in my current pub for over years, much of it under Admiral Taverns. The business employs people. I am concerned about the effect new laws would have on my business and our employees.

I have always had an excellent relationship with Admiral Taverns and in particular my BDM. They have helped me out of a tight spot on numerous occasions over the years.

I would much rather have a tie on beer and a lower rent.

I don't understand why legislation is necessary and it could have a devastating impact on certain pubs.

Admiral Taverns have always been very supportive of myself and my business. I do feel very strongly about this potential threat and I hope you will take my views into account.

Yours faithfully
