Summary

About this departmental advice

This is advice from the Department for Education. It is non-statutory, and has been produced to help recipients understand their statutory obligations and duties. It outlines the policies and other documents school governing bodies and proprietors of independent schools are legally required to hold.

Review date

As part of the department's ongoing commitment to reducing bureaucracy for schools, we will continue to review these requirements and will look to simplify the legal obligations wherever possible.

We would welcome any comments or feedback you have on this advice. Please contact us at: www.education.gov.uk/help/contactus

Who is this advice for?

This advice is for school leaders and governing bodies in all schools and proprietors of independent schools, and for local authorities. It covers the following school types: maintained schools, maintained special schools, academies, free schools (including university technical colleges and studio schools), non-state-funded independent schools, pupil referral units (PRUs), sixth-form colleges, further education (FE) colleges with 16 to 19 provision and non-maintained special schools.

Changes from the previous version

In this September 2014 version of the advice the following changes have been made:

Charging and remissions

Amendment to indicate that legislation applies to academies and free schools via their funding agreements.

Legislation: Updated links provided

Special educational needs

Review Frequency: The SEN Information Report should be updated annually and any changes to the information occurring during the year should be updated as soon as possible

Legislation: Updated links provided

Statutory guidance: Updated link provided

Statement of procedures for dealing with allegations of abuse against staff

Statutory guidance: Updated link provided

New Policies

Supporting pupils with medical conditions

Introduction

Governing bodies, or proprietors of academies and independent schools are required to hold each of these policies and other documents, as outlined, however:

- the drafting of school policies can be delegated to any member of school staff;
- there is no requirement for all policies to be reviewed annually; and
- not all policies need to be signed off by the full governing body.

This document also covers how often each policy must be reviewed and shows the level of approval required, where this is prescribed in regulations.

There are instances where statutory guidance states that policies and procedures should be in place. Although this is not the same as a legal requirement, this document makes clear the policies referenced in statutory guidance.

Academies and free schools have greater freedoms than maintained schools in relation to school policies and other documents. Where relevant, arrangements applying to these schools are outlined in legislation or in their funding agreements, which may vary between individual academies and free schools.

All the links to legislation go to the www.legislation.gov.uk website.

Premises management documents

There are many aspects of school premises that require safe management and maintenance such as asbestos, fire safety and statutory testing. For an overview of the legislation and compliance requirements, please see the Compliance Monitoring for Council Buildings report available from the Federation of Property Societies' website. This sets out the responsibilities for employers and duty holders.

DfE provides additional non-statutory advice on asbestos management in schools (available from GOV.UK).

Independent schools, academies and free schools have sole responsibility.

For maintained schools, both local authorities and schools have responsibilities for the repair and maintenance of premises.

Review frequency: please see above link.

Approval: Governing body free to delegate to a committee of the governing body, an individual governor or the headteacher.

Legislation: please see above link.

Equality information and objectives (public sector equality duty) statement for publication

Staff discipline, conduct and grievance (procedures for addressing)

Review frequency: Maintained schools – governing body free to determine. All other establishments may want to include this policy but should refer to general employment law.

Approval: Maintained schools – full governing body.

Academies – governing body free to delegate to a committee of the governing body, an individual governor or the headteacher.

Legislation: For maintained schools (and applied to PRUs) The School Staffing \(England\) Regulations 2009, For all other establishments – general employment law.

D. Documents referenced in statutory guidance

There are instances where statutory guidance states that policies and procedures should be in place. In cases where governing bodies have an obligation to have regard to this guidance, these policies and procedures should be in place unless it can be demonstrated that there is a good reason not to have them. The expectation is that the following policies and procedures will be in place:

Child protection policy and procedures

Review frequency: Annually.

Approval: Governing body or proprietor

Statutory guidance: Keeping children safe in education

Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS)

Those delivering the EYFS are required to have policies and procedures on a range of issues covering safeguarding and welfare. These are set out in detail in the 'Statutory framework for the Early Years Foundation Stage'. Schools are not required to have separate policies to cover EYFS requirements where they are already met through an existing policy. An EYFS profile assessment is required for each child during the academic year they reach the age of five (for most children this is the reception year in primary school) and nursery settings catering for children under three must complete a summary check when a child is aged two.

Review frequency: Varies - please see guidance.

Approval: Governing body free to determine.

Statutory guidance: Statutory framework for the Early Years Foundation Stage. Please also see information on the DfE website about the EYFS curriculum.
