March 2013

You asked for the Committee's advice about taking up the following appointment:

- A part-time, unpaid role as Honorary Member of the Board of Advisors to the London Capital Club.

London Capital Club

The Committee noted that your proposed role with the London Capital Club is unpaid, albeit you will be granted membership of the Club as part of the role. The Committee also noted that you had no official dealings with your prospective employer or any competitors during your last two years in office.

Taking into account all the circumstances, and noting that it is now six months since you left office, our advice is that you can accept this appointment forthwith, subject to the following conditions:

- 1) you should not draw on any privileged information from your time in Government; and
- 2) for two years from the date of your leaving office, you should not become personally involved in lobbying the UK Government on behalf of your new employers, their parent companies or their clients.

It might be helpful if I add that lobbying is defined in the Business Appointment Rules in the following way: "Lobbying in this context means that the former Minister should not engage in communication with Government - including Ministers, special advisers and officials - with a view to influencing a Government decision or policy in relation to their own interests, or the interests of the organisation by which they are employed, or to whom they are contracted”.

I should be grateful if you would inform us as soon as you take up the appointment or, if earlier, when it is announced that you will do so, either by returning the enclosed form or by emailing this office at the above address. We shall otherwise not be able to deal with any enquiries, since we do not release information about appointments which have not been taken up or announced. This could lead to a false assumption being made about whether you had complied with the Ministerial Code. Similarly, I should be grateful if you would inform us if you propose to extend or otherwise change your role with the London Capital Club as, depending on the circumstances, it may be necessary for you to seek fresh advice.

Once the appointment has been publicly announced or taken up, we will publish this letter on the Committee’s website and include the main details of the applications, together with the Advisory Committee’s advice, in the regularly updated consolidated list on our website and in the next annual report.
