

Dear Madam/Sir,

As a very concerned member of the public, I am writing to you to say that this consultation needs to be halted. The Government cannot continue with its 'business as usual' approach for the nuclear industry in the UK. It is a nonsense to continue with proposals to use plutonium-fuel in reactors without regard to major events such as those at Fukushima. The government should now be looking at all the implications of the accident and tragedy of the events at the Fukushima. We need to know, for example, the extent of the impact on MOX use following Fukushima.

Proposals on the production of MOX fuel should be looked at carefully in the light of their safety, financial costs and proliferation of nuclear technology.

Yours faithfully,

Rae Street
