

HM Courts & Tribunals Service

The Administrative Court
Judicial Review Guide 2016

Contents

Foreword by the Right Honourable Sir Brian Leveson,
President of the Queen's Bench Division

Preface by the Honourable Mr Justice Cranston, Lead Judge of the Administrative Court, the Honourable
Mr Justice Lewis and the Honourable Mrs Justice Whipple DBE

Part A – Preliminary Matters

1.	Introduction	11
1.1	The Judicial Review Guide
1.2	The Civil Procedure Rules
1.3	Practice Directions
1.4	Forms
1.5	Fees
1.6	Calculating Time Limits
1.7	The Administrative Court
1.8	The Administrative Court Office
1.9	The Judiciary and the Master
2.	Parties	17
2.1	Introduction to the Parties
2.2	The Parties
2.3	Multiple Claimants / Defendants / Interested Parties
2.4	Case Titles
3.	Litigants in Person	21
3.1	General
3.2	Obligation to Comply with Procedural Rules
3.3	The Hearing
3.4	Practical Assistance for Litigants in Person
3.5	Legal Representation and Funding
3.6	McKenzie Friends
4.	Vexatious Litigant Orders and Civil Restraint Orders	28
4.1	General
4.2	Effect of a VLO/CRO
4.3	The Application for Permission
4.4	Failure to Apply for Permission

- 4.5 How to Apply for Permission
- 4.6 Application Requirements
- 4.7 Further Documents to File
- 4.8 Service of Application by Vexatious Litigants
- 4.9 Service of Application by Subjects of a CRO
- 4.10 Judge's Directions
- 4.11 Dismissal Unless Reasonable Grounds
- 4.12 Right of Appeal for Vexatious Litigants
- 4.13 Right of Appeal for Subjects of a CRO

5. Before Starting the Claim 31

- 5.1 General Considerations
- 5.2 The Judicial Review Pre-action Protocol
- 5.3 Situations where a Claim for Judicial Review May Be Inappropriate
- 5.4 Time Limits
- 5.5 Judicial Review of Immigration and Asylum Decisions
- 5.6 Judicial Review of First-tier Tribunal Decisions
- 5.7 Public Contract Judicial Reviews
- 5.8 Abuse of Process

Part B – The Claim

6. Starting the Claim 41

- 6.1 Overview of the Judicial Review Procedure
- 6.2 Issuing the Claim
- 6.3 Required Documentation
- 6.4 Duty of Candour
- 6.5 Disclosure
- 6.6 Where to Issue the Claim (Appropriate Venue)
- 6.7 Filing Documents by Fax and Email
- 6.8 Serving the Claim Form
- 6.9 Additional Provisions for Vexatious Litigants or Persons Subject to a Civil Restraint Order

7. Acknowledgement of Service 50

- 7.1 The Acknowledgement of Service
- 7.2 Time Limits
- 7.3 Contents
- 7.4 Defendant's Applications

8.	Permission to Apply for Judicial Review	53
8.1	The Application
8.2	Court Orders on Permission
8.3	Totally Without Merit Orders
8.4	Reconsideration at an Oral Hearing
8.5	Time Estimate for Renewed Hearing
8.6	Procedure at Renewal Hearings
8.7	Alternative Procedure Where the Upper Tribunal is the Defendant
9.	After Permission	60
9.1	Directions for Substantive Hearing
9.2	Amending the Claim
9.3	Action if an Interpreter is Required
9.4	Responsibility for Production of Serving Prisoners and Detained Persons
9.5	Specific Practice Points
10.	Substantive Hearing	64
10.1	Format of the Hearing
10.2	Evidence
10.3	Use of the Welsh Language
10.4	Judicial Review Without a Hearing
10.5	Threshold for Relief
10.6	Judgment and Orders
11.	Remedies	68
11.1	Introduction
11.2	Mandatory Order
11.3	Quashing Order
11.4	Prohibiting Order
11.5	Ordinary Declarations
11.6	Declaration of Incompatibility
11.7	Injunctions
11.8	Damages
11.9	Multiple Remedies
11.10	Remedies Where the Outcome Would Not Be Substantially Different
11.11	Discretionary Remedies

12. Case Management 73

- 12.1 Case Management in the Administrative Court
- 12.2 Duties of the Parties
- 12.3 Role of the Administrative Court Office Staff
- 12.4 Role of the Administrative Court Office Lawyers
- 12.5 Role of the Master of the Administrative Court
- 12.6 Role of the Judiciary
- 12.7 Applications once a Claim has Commenced
- 12.8 Applications for the Claim to be Stayed
- 12.9 Relief from Sanctions
- 12.10 Abuse of the Court's Process
- 12.11 Communications which are Abusive or without Proper Purpose

13. Listing 85

- 13.1 Listing Policies
- 13.2 Listing Procedure
- 13.3 Divisional Courts
- 13.4 Applying to Adjourn a Listed Hearing

Part C – Specific Practice Points

14. Duty of Candour 89

- 14.1 Full Disclosure of Information / Evidence

15. Interim Relief 90

- 15.1 When is Interim Relief Appropriate?
- 15.2 Interim Relief When Lodging the Claim
- 15.3 Interim Relief before Commencement of Proceedings
- 15.4 Interim Relief in Ongoing Proceedings
- 15.5 Reconsideration if Interim Relief is Refused
- 15.6 Criteria for the Grant of Interim Relief
- 15.7 Removals Cases

16. Urgent Cases 95

- 16.1 General
- 16.2 Urgent Consideration – Form N463
- 16.3 Out of Hours Applications
- 16.4 Pre-Action Applications
- 16.5 Abuse of the Procedures for Urgent Consideration

17.	Skeleton Arguments	102
17.1	General
17.2	Content of Skeleton Argument
17.3	Format of Skeleton Argument
17.4	Method of Service
17.5	Timing of Service of Skeleton Arguments
17.6	Sanction for Non-Compliance
18.	Documents	105
18.1	Bundles for Substantive Hearings
18.2	Other Hearings
18.3	Format of Court Bundles
18.4	Timing of Lodging of Trial Bundles
18.5	Sanction for Non-Compliance
19.	Authorities	108
19.1	General
19.2	Format of Authorities Bundles
19.3	Agreement of Contents, and Service of Authorities Bundles
19.4	Sanction for Non-Compliance
20.	Evidence	110
20.1	Witness Evidence
20.2	Expert Evidence
21.	Sanctions	112
21.1	Overview
21.2	Costs Sanctions
21.3	Procedural Sanctions
21.4	Other Sanctions
Part D – Ending the Claim
22.	Ending a Claim	114
22.1	Introduction
22.2	Determined by the Court
22.3	Discontinuance
22.4	Consent Orders & Uncontested Proceedings
22.5	Settlements on behalf of Children and Protected Parties

22.6	Other Points of Practice
23.	Costs	118
23.1	Liability for Costs
23.2	Reasonable Costs and the Basis of the Assessment
23.3	Manner of Assessment and Potential Costs Orders
23.4	Costs at the Permission Stage
23.5	Costs After Settling
23.6	Interveners and Costs
23.7	Orders Which Do Not Mention Costs
23.8	Setting Aside Costs Orders
23.9	Costs when the Claimant has the Benefit of Legal Aid
23.10	Costs from Central Funds (Criminal Cases)
23.11	Costs against Courts or Tribunals
23.12	Wasted Costs Orders
23.13	Costs where a Party is Represented Pro Bono
24.	Protective Costs Orders and Judicial Review Costs Capping Orders	132
24.1	Legislative Change
24.2	Before 8 August 2016: Protective Costs Orders
24.3	PCO: General Principles
24.4	PCO: Procedure
24.5	On or after 8 August 2016: Judicial Review Costs Capping Orders
24.6	JRCCOs: General Principles
24.7	JRCCOs: Procedure
24.8	Environmental Law Cases
25.	Costs Capping	140
25.1	Legislative Change
25.2	Old-Style Costs Capping
25.3	Old-Style Costs Capping: Procedure
26.	Appeals	142
26.1	Appeals in Civil Cases
26.2	Challenging the Grant of Permission
26.3	Appeals Against the Refusal of Permission
26.4	Appeals Against Substantive Decisions
26.5	Appeals in Criminal Cases
26.6	Appealing Case Management Orders
26.7	Appeals Against an Interim Order Made by the Master

Annex 1 – Administrative Court Contacts

Annex 2 – Fees and Forms

Annex 3 – Addresses for Service on Central Government Departments

Foreword

I am very pleased to introduce this new guide to the Administrative Court. It is an invaluable roadmap to the practice and procedure of the Court which will greatly assist all who are involved in proceedings before it. Good practice is identified and pitfalls foreshadowed. I have no doubt as to its utility.

A very significant amount of work has gone into producing this guide and I am particularly indebted to Mr Justice Cranston (as lead Judge of the Court), Mr Justice Lewis and Mrs Justice Whipple for their input, to Natalie Ford who oversaw the production of the Guide, and to David Gardner, the Administrative Court Office lawyer based in Cardiff who did a large part of the research and drafting. A number of other Judges and court staff have had input and I am grateful to all those who played a part in the creation of such a comprehensive document.

The Right Honourable Sir Brian Leveson,
President of the Queen's Bench Division

Preface

This Guide provides a general explanation of the work and practice of the Administrative Court. It is designed to make it easier for parties to conduct judicial reviews in the Administrative Court, by drawing together into one place the relevant statutory provisions, rules of procedure, practice directions, and case law on procedural aspects of judicial review. It provides general guidance as to how litigation in the Administrative Court should be conducted in order to achieve the overriding objective of dealing with cases justly and at proportionate cost.

The Guide has been prepared with all Court users in mind, whether they are persons who lack legal representation (known as 'litigants in person') or persons who have legal representation. We invite all Court users to follow this Guide when they prepare and present their cases.

In recent years, the Administrative Court has become one of the busiest specialist Courts within the High Court. It is imperative that Court resources (including the time of the judges who sit in the Administrative Court) are used efficiently. That has not uniformly been the case to date. There have been particular problems in relation to applications claiming unnecessary urgency, over-long written arguments, and bundles of documents, authorities and skeleton arguments being filed very late (to name just a few problems). These and other bad practices must stop. This Guide therefore sets out in clear terms what is expected. Sanctions may be applied if parties fail to comply.

We welcome any constructive feedback on the Guide. That feedback should be sent to the Senior Legal Managers in the Administrative Court Office by email to administrativecourtoffice.guidefeedback@hmcts.x.gsi.gov.uk. We plan to update this Guide from time to time, as appropriate.

The Honourable Mr Justice Cranston, Lead Judge, Administrative Court

The Honourable Mr Justice Lewis

The Honourable Mrs Justice Whipple DBE

Royal Courts of Justice, July 2016

Part A: Preliminary Matters

1. Introduction

1.1 The Judicial Review Guide

- 1.1.1 This Guide has been prepared under the direction of the lead Judge of the Administrative Court and provides a general explanation of the work and practice of the Administrative Court with particular regard to judicial review. The Guide is designed to make it easier for parties to conduct judicial reviews in the Administrative Court. The definition of public law and administrative law is beyond the scope of this Guide and reference should be made to the many academic and practitioner texts on the subject for further reading.
- 1.1.2 The Guide must be read with the Civil Procedure Rules ('CPR') and the supporting Practice Directions. Litigants and their advisers are responsible for acquainting themselves with the CPR; it is not the task of this Guide to summarise the CPR, nor should anyone regard this Guide as a substitute for the CPR.
- 1.1.3 The Guide does not have the force of law, but parties using the Administrative Court will be expected to act in accordance with it.
- 1.1.4 The Guide is intended to be applicable in the Administrative Court and the Administrative Court Offices across England and Wales.
- 1.1.5 The contents of the Guide, including any websites, email addresses, telephone numbers and addresses, are correct at the time of publication. The Guide will be updated from time to time.

1.2 The Civil Procedure Rules

- 1.2.1 The overriding objective set out in CPR 1.1(1) is central to civil proceedings, including judicial reviews. It requires the parties and the Court to deal with cases justly and proportionately, including at proportionate cost.
- 1.2.2 The CPR are divided into Parts. A particular Part is referred to in the Guide as CPR Part 54, etc., as the case may be. Any particular rule within a Part is referred to, for example, as CPR 54.12(2). The current CPR can be viewed on the Government's website via www.gov.uk/courts-tribunals/administrative-court.
- 1.2.3 The judicial review procedure is mainly (but not exclusively) governed by CPR Part 54 and the associated practice directions. CPR Part 54 and the associated practice directions are required reading for any litigant considering judicial proceedings. More details on these provisions will be given throughout this Guide.

1.3 Practice Directions

- 1.3.1 Most Parts of the CPR have an accompanying practice direction or directions, and other practice directions deal with matters such as the Pre-action Protocols.
- 1.3.2 The practice directions are made pursuant to statute, and have the same authority as the CPR themselves. However, in case of any conflict between a rule and a practice direction, the rule will prevail. Each practice direction is referred to in the Guide with the number of any part that it supplements preceding it; for example, one of the practice directions supplementing CPR Part 54 is referred to as CPR PD 54A. A reference to a particular subparagraph of a practice direction will be referred to as, for example, CPR PD 54A paragraph 5.1.
- 1.3.3 The key associated practice directions to CPR Part 54 are CPR PD 54A (Judicial Review Practice), CPR PD 54D (Venue for Claims), and CPR PD 54E (Planning Court). These practice directions are required reading for any litigant considering judicial proceedings. More details on these provisions will be given throughout this Guide.

1.4 Forms

- 1.4.1 The CPR PD 4 lists the forms generally required to be used under the CPR.
- 1.4.2 The Practice Direction contains 3 tables. Table 1 lists the 'N form' that are referred to and required by the CPR and the Practice Directions. Tables 2 and 3 list forms that are not relevant to this Guide. Other forms may be provided by the Administrative Court Office and are not available online (for example, form 86b – see paragraph 8.4 of this Guide).
- 1.4.3 The relevant N forms that are directly relevant to judicial review proceedings are:

N461	Judicial Review claim form
N461(PC)	Judicial Review claim form (Planning Court)
N462	Judicial Review acknowledgment of service
N462(PC)	Judicial Review acknowledgement of service (Planning Court)

N463	Judicial Review – application for urgent consideration
N463(PC)	Judicial Review – application for urgent consideration (Planning Court)

1.4.4 The following general N forms are also required in a judicial review application:

N215	Certificate of service
N244	Application notice
N260	Statement of costs (Summary Assessment)
N279	Notice of discontinuance
N434	Notice of change of legal representative

1.4.5 The forms contained in CPR PD 4 are available in the various practitioners' textbooks and at the Administrative Court website: www.gov.uk/courts-tribunals/administrative-court

1.4.6 There are a few forms which are not set out in the rules that practitioners must use. One form of importance in judicial review is that for an out of hours application (see paragraph 16.3 of this Guide).

1.5 Fees

1.5.1 By virtue of the Civil Proceedings (Fees) Order 2008 No. 1053 (L. 5) (as amended) the Administrative Court Office is required to charge fees at certain stages in proceedings or when a party requests an order from the Court. The relevant fees (at the time of publication) are outlined in annex 2.¹ Current fees can also be checked at the Administrative Court website at www.gov.uk/courts-tribunals/administrative-court

1.5.2 Some litigants may be entitled to the remission of fees.² Guidance on whether you may be entitled to fee remission can be found on form EX160A and litigants can apply online at www.gov.uk/help-with-court-fees. This Guide will only refer to fees, but a litigant should be aware that fee remission is potentially available for all fees save for copying charges (except for vexatious litigants and persons subject to Civil Restraint Orders where different rules apply, see paragraph 4.5 of this Guide).

¹ The fees are set out in schedule 1 of the Civil Proceedings (Fees) Order 2008 (as amended).

² The fee remission provisions are set out in schedule 2 of the Civil Proceedings (Fees) Order 2008 (as amended).

- 1.5.3 Court fees should not be confused with costs between parties, which can be considerably more than the Court fees. Costs are discussed in this Guide in chapter 23.
- 1.5.4 A litigant in person will be expected to comply with the requirements to use the right form and to pay fees, just like a represented litigant. Litigants in person should therefore make themselves familiar with those parts of this Guide which are relevant to their claim and with the applicable requirements.

1.6 Calculating Time Limits

- 1.6.1 Any reference to days in the CPR or in this Guide will be a reference to clear, calendar days, unless stated otherwise. Therefore, when calculating time limits, every day, including weekends and bank holidays, will count, except for the day of the act or order itself (see CPR 2.8 for more detail and examples).
- 1.6.2 Any reference in the CPR or in this Guide to service of a document does not mean the date that the document is actually received. The date of service is set as the second working day after the day that the document was sent.³

1.7 The Administrative Court

- 1.7.1 The Administrative Court is part of the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court (one of the three divisions of the High Court, together with the Chancery Division and Family Division). The Administrative Court hears the majority of applications for judicial review⁴ and also some statutory appeals and applications which fall outside the remit of this Guide.
- 1.7.2 Judicial review is the procedure by which an individual, company, or organisation may challenge the act or omission of a public body and ensure that the public body meets its legal obligations.
- 1.7.3 The Rt Hon Sir Brian Leveson is the President of the Queen's Bench Division. Mr. Justice Cranston is the Judge in charge of the Administrative Court.

³ CPR 6.14 and CPR 6.26

⁴ See paragraphs 5.5 and 5.6 of this Guide where the exceptions are discussed.

- 1.7.4 Some cases in the Administrative Court come before a Divisional Court, usually consisting of one Lord Justice of Appeal (or the President) and one High Court Judge.
- 1.7.5 Judicial reviews which challenge planning decisions are heard in the specialist Planning Court, a part of the Administrative Court.

1.8 The Administrative Court Office

- 1.8.1 The administration of judicial review cases in the Administrative Court is dealt with by the Administrative Court Office ('ACO'). All documentation must be filed with the ACO and all enquiries on cases must be directed to the ACO (not directly to the judiciary).
- 1.8.2 The ACO and its staff are a part of Her Majesty's Courts and Tribunals Service ('HMCTS'), which in turn is an executive agency of the Ministry of Justice ('MOJ'). There are ACOs in Birmingham Civil Justice Centre, Cardiff Civil Justice Centre, Leeds Combined Court Centre, Manchester Civil Justice Centre, and in the Royal Courts of Justice in London. Contact details for the ACOs can be found in annex 1 to this Guide.
- 1.8.3 As outlined in CPR PD 2A paragraph 2 the ACO in London is open for business from 10 a.m. to 4.30 p.m. (10 a.m. to 4.00 p.m. for the other ACOs) on every day of the year except:
- (a) Saturdays and Sundays;
 - (b) Good Friday;
 - (c) Christmas Day;
 - (d) A further day over the Christmas period determined in accordance with the table specifically annexed to the Practice Direction. This will depend on which day of the week Christmas Day falls;
 - (e) Bank holidays in England and Wales;
 - (f) Such other days as the Lord Chancellor, with the concurrence of senior judiciary, may direct.

1.9 The Judiciary and the Master

- 1.9.1 The judiciary in the Administrative Court consists of the High Court Judges (The Honourable Mr/Mrs Justice...) and other judges or practitioners who have been authorised to sit in the Administrative Court. This Guide will simply refer to judges rather than differentiating between these judges. The judges are addressed in Court as my Lord/my Lady.

1.9.2 In the Royal Courts of Justice there is also a Master of the Administrative Court, currently Master Gidden (addressed in Court as Master). Masters generally deal with interim and pre-action applications, and manage the claims so that they proceed without delay.

2. The Parties

- 2.1 This part of the Guide is intended to give guidance on who should be the parties in a claim for judicial review. Identifying the parties correctly ensures that pre-action discussions are occurring between the proper persons (see reference to the pre-action Protocol at paragraph 5.2 of this Guide). It also ensures that the proper parties are referred to on any Court documents.

2.2 The Parties

2.2.1 Claimant(s)

- 2.2.1.1 Claimants tend to be persons aggrieved by the public law decisions of public bodies who wish to challenge those decisions in the Administrative Court (see reference to 'standing' at paragraph 5.3.2 of this Guide).
- 2.2.1.2 The claimant in judicial review proceedings can be any individual or incorporated company (also known as a corporation). Partnerships are able to bring proceedings in the name of the partnership.
- 2.2.1.3 The Court may allow unincorporated associations (which do not have legal personality) to bring judicial review proceedings in their own name. But it is sensible, and the Court may require, that proceedings are brought in the name of one or more individuals, such as an office-holder or member of the association, or by a private limited company formed by individuals. A costs order may be, and often is, made against the party or parties named as claimant(s).
- 2.2.1.4 Public bodies can be claimants in judicial review proceedings. The Attorney General has a common law power to bring proceedings. Local authorities may bring proceedings by virtue of s.222 of the Local Government Act 1972.

2.2.2 Defendant(s)

- 2.2.2.1 The Defendant in judicial review proceedings is the public body / public office which made the decision under challenge (or failed to make a decision where that failure is challenged), not the individual within that public body or public office.

- 2.2.2.2 Where the decision is made by a Government Department it is the relevant Secretary of State who is the defendant. Therefore, even if the decision challenged is that of a civil servant working in the Home Office, the defendant would still be the Secretary of State for the Home Department.
- 2.2.2.3 Where the decision maker is a Court or Tribunal it is the Court or Tribunal which must be the defendant. The opposing party in the underlying case is named as an 'Interested Party' (see below at 2.2.3).

2.2.3 Interested Parties

- 2.2.3.1 An interested party is defined as any person (including a corporation or partnership), other than the claimant or defendant, who is directly affected by the claim.⁵ For example, where a claimant challenges the decision of a defendant local authority to grant planning permission to a third party, the third party has a direct interest in the claim and must be named as an interested party.
- 2.2.3.2 Where the defendant is a Court or Tribunal, any opposing party in the lower Court or Tribunal would be an interested party in the judicial review.⁶
- 2.2.3.3 Interested parties must be included in pre-action correspondence and named in the claim form. Interested parties must also be served with the claim form, as required by CPR 54.7(b).

2.2.4 Interveners

In judicial review proceedings the Court retains a power to receive evidence and submissions from any other persons. Any person can apply, under CPR 54.17(1), to make representations or file evidence in judicial review proceedings. Potential interveners should be aware that any application must be made promptly⁷ and that there are costs considerations (see paragraph 23.6 of this Guide).

⁵ CPR 54.1(2)(f).

⁶ CPR PD 54A

⁷ CPR 54.17(2)

2.3 Multiple Claimants / Defendants / Interested Parties

- 2.3.1 A claim for judicial review may be brought by one claimant or, in appropriate circumstances, by more than one claimant. It may, for example, be appropriate for the claim to be brought by more than one claimant where a number of different individuals are affected by the decision challenged.
- 2.3.2 A claim may be brought against one defendant or, in appropriate circumstances, against two or more defendants. This may, for example, be appropriate where two or more bodies are responsible for the decision under challenge.
- 2.3.3 There may, exceptionally, be appropriate circumstances in which a number of different challenges by different claimants against different defendants can be combined within one single claim for judicial review. This will, generally, only be appropriate if the different challenges can be conveniently dealt with together.
- 2.3.4 If a claimant considers that any person is directly affected by the claim, they must identify that person as an interested party and serve the claim form on that person.⁸ A defendant must also identify in its acknowledgement of service a person who the defendant considers is an interested party because the person is directly affected⁹ and the Court will consider making that person an interested party when considering permission.
- 2.3.5 Where a person who is a potential defendant or interested party has not been named or served with the claim form, the Court may direct that the claim be served on that person and the person may make representations or lodge an acknowledgement of service if the person so wishes.^{10 11 12}

⁸ CPR 54.6 and 54.7

⁹ CPR 54.8(4)(1)

¹⁰ CPR 19.2(2) & CPR 19.2(4). In an appropriate case, ACO lawyers would have power to make such an order under CPR 54.1A

¹¹ For the requirement to serve the papers on a new party, see CPR PD 5A paragraph 3.1

¹² For removal of parties, see CPR 19.2(3). In an appropriate case, ACO lawyers would have powers to make such an order under CPR 54.1A

2.3.6 In judicial review proceedings the case title differs from other civil proceedings to reflect the fact that judicial review is the modern version of a historical procedure whereby Her Majesty's Judiciary, on her behalf, acted in a supervisory capacity. Technically a judicial review is brought by the Crown, on the application of the claimant, to ensure that powers are being properly exercised. The case title reflects this:¹³

The Queen (on the application of Claimant X) -v- Defendant Y

2.3.7 The case title is sometimes written as follows:

R (on the application of Claimant X) -v- Defendant Y

Or

R (Claimant X) -v- Defendant Y

2.3.8 The Crown will not involve itself in any way in the claim on behalf of the Claimant. The inclusion of the Queen's name in the title is purely formal.

¹³ This form of the case title is stipulated in Practice Direction (Administrative Court: Establishment) [2000] 1 W.L.R. 1654.

3. Litigants in person

3.1 General

- 3.1.1 Many cases in the Administrative Court are now conducted by parties who do not have professional legal representation and who represent themselves ('litigants in person'). It is important for litigants in person to be aware that the rules of procedure and of practice apply to them in the same way as to parties who are represented by lawyers. The Court will have regard to the fact that a party is unrepresented and will ensure that that party is treated fairly, as explained below. Many forms of help are available for individuals who wish to seek legal advice before bringing claims for judicial review.
- 3.1.2 Represented parties must treat litigants in person with consideration at all times during the conduct of the litigation. Represented parties are reminded of the guidance published by the Bar Council, CILEx and the Law Society (see: <http://www.lawsociety.org.uk/Support-services/Advice/Articles/Litigants-in-person-new-guidelines-for-lawyers-June-2015/>)
- 3.1.3 Litigants in person must show consideration and respect to their opponents, whether legally represented or not, to their opponents' representatives, and to the Court.

3.2 Obligation to Comply with Procedural Rules

- 3.2.1 A litigant in person will be expected to comply with the Civil Procedure Rules ('CPR'), and the provisions of this Guide apply to them. Litigants in person should therefore make themselves familiar with those parts of this Guide which are relevant to their claim and also with the applicable provisions of the CPR.
- 3.2.2 For example, the requirement to provide all relevant information and facts (described at paragraph 14.1 of this Guide under the heading 'Duty of Candour') applies to all litigants and includes documents and facts which are unfavourable to the litigant. This requirement applies to litigants in person in the same way as it applies to litigants with representation. Similarly, the requirement to set out grounds of challenge in a coherent and well-ordered Grounds of Claim (see paragraph 6.3.4.1 of this Guide) applies to litigants in person in the same way as it applies to litigants with representation. Litigants in person may be penalised if they do not comply with the rules.

- 3.2.3 Generally, it is the duty of all parties to litigation, whether represented or not, to bring relevant matters to the attention of the Court and not to mislead the Court. This means for example that parties must not misrepresent the law and must therefore inform the Court of any relevant legislation or previous Court decisions which are applicable to their case and of which they are aware (whether favourable or not to their case). In addition there is a particular duty when an application is made to the Court without the other party being present or notified in advance (usually in cases of urgency). Here the litigant is under a duty to disclose any facts or other matters which might be relevant to the Court's decision, even if adverse to their case, and specifically draw the Court's attention to such matters (described at paragraph 14.1 of this Guide under the heading 'Duty of Candour').
- 3.2.4 A litigant in person must give an address for service in England or Wales in the claim form. It is essential that any change of address is notified in writing to the Administrative Court Office ('ACO') and to all other parties to the case, otherwise important communications such as notices of hearing dates may not arrive.

3.3 The Hearing

- 3.3.1 It is very important that litigants in person give copies of any written document which sets out their arguments (known as a 'skeleton argument') which they intend to rely on, and any other material (for example, reports of cases) in support of their arguments, to the Court and to their opponents in good time before the hearing. Litigants in person should familiarise themselves with the rules about skeleton arguments at chapter 17 of this Guide. If they do not follow these rules, the Court may refuse to hear the case, or may adjourn the case to allow the other party or parties proper time to consider and respond to the late skeleton or material, in which case the litigant in person may be ordered to pay the costs incurred by the adjournment.
- 3.3.2 Litigants in person should identify in advance of the hearing the points which they consider to be their strongest points, and they should put those points first in their skeleton argument and in any oral submissions to the Court.
- 3.3.3 At the hearing, the litigant in person will be asked to give their name(s) to the usher or in-court support staff if they have not already done so.
- 3.3.4 The case name will be called out by the court staff. The hearing will then begin.

- 3.3.5 At the hearing, the claimant usually speaks first, then the defendant speaks, and then the claimant has an opportunity to comment on what the defendant has said. Sometimes the judge may think it is sensible, depending on the circumstances, to vary that order and, for example, let the defendant speak first.
- 3.3.6 At the hearing, the judge may make allowances for any litigant in person, recognising the difficulties that person faces in presenting his or her own claim. The judge will allow the litigant in person to explain his or her case in a way that is fair to that person. The judge may ask questions. Any other party in court, represented or not, will also have an opportunity to make submissions to the judge. At the end of the hearing, the judge will usually give a ruling, which may be short. The judge will explain the order he or she makes. Representatives for other parties should also explain the court's order after the hearing if the litigant in person wants further explanation.

3.4 Practical Assistance for Litigants in Person

- 3.4.1 Neither the court staff nor the judges are in a position to give advice about the conduct of a claim. There is however a great deal of practical help available for litigants in person.
- 3.4.2 The Personal Support Unit ('PSU') is a free and independent service based in a number of court buildings which support litigants going through the court process without legal representation. The PSU do not give legal advice and will not represent a litigant, but will assist by taking notes, discussing the workings of the court process, and providing assistance with forms. There are PSUs in each of the court centres in which the majority of judicial reviews are heard (Birmingham Civil Justice Centre, Bristol Civil Justice Centre, Cardiff Civil Justice Centre, Leeds Combined Court Centre, Manchester Civil Justice Centre, and the Royal Courts of Justice in London) as well as some other court buildings. For more information see www.thepsu.org
- 3.4.3 Citizens Advice ('CA') provides advice on a wide range of issues at drop in centres, by telephone, and online (see www.citizensadvice.org.uk).
- 3.4.4 There is a citizens advice at the Royal Courts of Justice which may be able to offer some advice. It is situated on the ground floor, on the left hand side of the main hall (see www.rcjadvice.org.uk)
- 3.4.5 There are a number of guides available designed to help litigants in person. Amongst these are: the Bar Council Guide to representing yourself in Court (see: www.barcouncil.org.uk/media/203109/srl_guide_final_for_online_use.pdf)

and the QB Interim Applications Guide (see: www.judiciary.gov.uk/publications/guide-self-represented-qbd/)

3.5 Legal Representation and Funding

- 3.5.1 There are a number of solicitors firms in England and Wales that conduct judicial review litigation. Further, there are a number of barristers in both England and Wales that will give advice without referral by a solicitor, acting on a direct access basis. Details of these legal professionals can be found on the Law Society (www.lawsociety.org.uk) and Bar Council (www.barcouncil.org.uk) websites respectively.
- 3.5.2 There are three ways that legal representation can be provided: fee paid representation, legal aid, and Pro-bono representation (free legal representation).
- 3.5.3 Fee Paid Representation
- 3.5.3.1 Legal representatives will act for a party that will pay their fees directly. Fee paid representation is generally conducted at an agreed hourly rate or by agreeing a fixed fee in advance.
- 3.5.3.2 Alternatively, some legal representatives will act for a party under a conditional fee agreement ('CFA'). CFAs are commonly known as 'no win, no fee' agreements. The individual firm or barrister will be able to confirm the basis on which they will act.
- 3.5.3.3 Some lawyers will be prepared to undertake a specific piece of work for payment, short of representing the client for the whole of the case. For example, a lawyer may be prepared to draft a skeleton argument for the case, which the litigant in person can then use for the hearing, or appear at a particular hearing. This is sometimes called 'unbundled' work.
- 3.5.4 Legal Aid
- 3.5.4.1 The individual firm or barrister will be able to confirm whether they can work on a legal aid basis and whether a particular claimant will be entitled to apply for legal aid.
- 3.5.4.2 There are three types of legal aid: legal help, which can be used to give limited, initial advice and assistance; investigative representation, which can be used to investigate a potential claim in greater depth than that under legal help; and full representation, which can be used to issue and conduct judicial review proceedings.

3.5.4.3 Litigants in person who may be eligible for legal aid can contact Civil Legal Advice ('CLA'). Litigants can telephone the CLA helpline to find their nearest CLA Information Point on 0345 345 4345. This service is funded by the Legal Aid Agency ('LAA'). The LAA is open from Monday to Friday, 9am to 8pm, and on Saturday, 9am to 12:30pm. Members of the public can also text 'legalaid' and their name to 80010 to get a call back. This costs the same as a normal text message. An online 'eForm' process for applying for legal aid is available. Telephone 0300 200 2020 or email <mailto:contactcivil@legalaid.gsi.gov.uk>.

3.5.4.4 To obtain full representations, and thus engage the legal representative to conduct the judicial review proceedings, the claimant will be required to pass two eligibility tests:

3.5.4.4.1 Financial Eligibility: The Legal Aid Agency will assess the claimant's disposable income and capital. If the claimant's income and/or capital amount to more than the set sum then legal aid will not be available.

3.5.4.4.2 Merits Criteria: The Legal Aid Agency will consider the merits of the proposed claim. If the Legal Aid Agency considers that the proposed claim lacks the requisite merit then legal aid will not be available.

3.5.5 Pro-Bono Advice and Representation

3.5.5.1 Some solicitors firms and barristers will offer limited free advice on the prospects of a claim. The individual solicitor or barrister will be able to confirm if they are prepared to give advice on such terms.

3.5.5.2 There are some specialist organizations that arrange for free advice and representation. The largest are:

3.5.5.2.1 The National Pro-Bono Centre
www.nationalprobonocentre.org.uk

3.5.5.2.2 The Bar Pro-Bono Unit
www.barprobono.org.uk

3.5.5.2.3 Law Works
www.lawworks.org.uk

- 3.5.5.3 A potential litigant should note that pro-bono organizations are overwhelmed with applications and cannot offer assistance to everyone. Further, the application process can be lengthy. The Administrative Court is unlikely to stay a claim or grant an extension of time to file a claim to await the outcome of an application for pro-bono advice or representation.

3.6 McKenzie Friends

- 3.6.1 A litigant in person may have the assistance of a non-legally qualified person, known as a 'McKenzie Friend'. Where a McKenzie friend assists, the litigant in person must be present at the hearing and will be responsible for the conduct of his case at that hearing. But the McKenzie friend may provide some assistance.
- 3.6.2 Guidance on McKenzie Friends was given in Practice Guidance (McKenzie Friends: Civil and Family Courts)¹⁴ which established that a McKenzie Friend may:
- 3.6.2.1 Provide moral support for litigant(s) in person;
 - 3.6.2.2 Take notes;
 - 3.6.2.3 Help with case papers; and
 - 3.6.2.4 Quietly give advice on any aspect of the conduct of the case.
- 3.6.3 The Practice Note also established that a McKenzie Friend may not:
- 3.6.3.1 Act as the litigant's agent in relation to the proceedings;
 - 3.6.3.2 Manage litigants' cases outside Court, for example by signing Court documents; or
 - 3.6.3.3 Address the Court, make oral submissions or examine witnesses
- 3.6.4 The Court can, however, give permission to a person who is not a party and who has no rights of audience to address the Court. But this is only done in exceptional cases, on an application being made, and where it is shown to be in the interests of justice that such permission should be given.

¹⁴ [2010] 1 W.L.R. 1881, [2010] 4 All ER 272, and see <https://www.judiciary.gov.uk/publications/mckenzie-friends/>

- 3.6.5 A litigant who wishes to attend a hearing with the assistance of a McKenzie Friend should inform the Court as soon as possible indicating who the McKenzie Friend will be. The proposed McKenzie Friend should produce a short curriculum vitae or other statement setting out relevant experience, confirming that he or she has no interest in the case and understands the McKenzie Friend's role and the duty of confidentiality.
- 3.6.6 The litigant in person and the McKenzie Friend must tell the Court if the McKenzie Friend is being paid for his or her assistance and be ready to give details of that remuneration. The Court may stop a McKenzie friend from assisting if the Court believes there is good reason to do so in any individual case. It is unlawful for a person who is not authorised to do so to give paid services in respect of immigration matters.
- 3.6.7 If the Court considers that a person is abusing the right to be a McKenzie friend (for example, by attending in numerous claims to the detriment of the litigant(s) and/or the Court) and this abuse amounts to an interference with the proper processes of the administration of justice, the Court may make an order restricting or preventing a person from acting as a McKenzie friend.¹⁵

¹⁵ Noueiri [2001] 1 W.L.R. 2357

4. Vexatious Litigant Orders and Civil Restraint Orders

- 4.1 The Court has power to make a civil restraint order ('CRO') under CPR PD 3C in relation to any person, alternatively to make an order under s.42 of the Senior Courts Act 1981 (a 'vexatious litigant').
- 4.2 The effect of either of those orders is to require the person subject to that order to obtain the permission of the Court to start proceedings before they may commence a judicial review.
- 4.3 This application is distinct from the application for permission to apply for judicial review.
- 4.4 If a person who is subject to such an order fails to make an application for permission to start proceedings, the application for permission to apply for judicial review (or the application for an interim or pre-action order) will be dismissed without further order. The Court may also consider the filing of the application to be a contempt of Court.
- 4.5 The application for permission to start proceedings must be made by filing an application notice (N244 or PF244)¹⁶ with the Administrative Court Office with the relevant fee. This fee is not subject to fee remission and must be paid. If permission to start proceedings is later granted and the applicant is able to claim fee remission then the fee can be refunded.¹⁷
- 4.6 The application notice should state:¹⁸
- 4.6.1 The title and reference number of the proceedings in which the order was made;
- 4.6.2 The full name of the litigant and his/her address;
- 4.6.3 The fact that the litigant is seeking permission pursuant to the order to apply for permission to apply for judicial review (or whatever interim or pre-action order is sought);
- 4.6.4 Explain briefly why the applicant is seeking the order; and

¹⁶ CPR PD 3A paragraph 7.2, CPR PD 3C paragraph 2.6, CPR PD 3C paragraph 3.6, CPR PD 3C paragraph 4.6

¹⁷ Paragraph 19, schedule 2, Civil Proceedings (Fees) Order 2008

¹⁸ CPR PD 3A paragraph 7.3

- 4.6.5 The previous occasions on which the litigant has made an application for permission must be listed.¹⁹
- 4.7 The application notice must be filed together with any written evidence on which the litigant relies in support of his application.²⁰ Generally, this should be a copy of the claim papers which the litigant requests permission to file.
- 4.8 If the litigant is a vexatious litigant, there is no need to serve an application on any other intended litigants unless directed by the Court to do so.²¹ It may be considered to be good practice to do so nonetheless.
- 4.9 If the litigant is subject to a CRO then notice of the application must be given to the other intended litigants, which must set out the nature and the grounds of the application, and they must be given 7 days to respond to the notice before the application for permission is filed. Any response must be included with the application.²²
- 4.10 The application will be placed before a judge who may, without the attendance of the litigant.²³
- 4.10.1 Make an order giving permission to start proceedings (this is not the same as permission to apply for judicial review, see chapter 8 of this Guide);
- 4.10.2 Give directions for further written evidence to be supplied by the litigant before an order is made on the application;
- 4.10.3 Make an order dismissing the application without a hearing; or
- 4.10.4 Give directions for the hearing of the application.
- 4.11 The Court will dismiss the application unless satisfied that the application is not an abuse of process and there are reasonable grounds for bringing the application.²⁴

¹⁹ CPR PD 3A paragraph 7.5

²⁰ CPR PD 3A paragraph 7.4

²¹ CPR PD 3A paragraph 7.7

²² CPR PD 3C paragraph 2.4-2.6, CPR PD 3C paragraph 3.4- 3.6, CPR PD 3C paragraph 4.4-4.6

²³ CPR PD 3A paragraph 7.6, CPR PD 3C paragraph 2.6, CPR PD 3C paragraph 3.6, CPR PD 3C paragraph 4.6

²⁴ s.42(3) of the Senior Courts Act 1981

- 4.12 For vexatious litigants, an order dismissing the application, with or without a hearing, is final and may not be subject to reconsideration or appeal.²⁵
- 4.13 For those subject to a CRO, there is a right of appeal to the Court of Appeal²⁶ (see chapter 26 of this Guide for appeals), unless the Court has ordered that the litigant has repeatedly made applications for permission pursuant to the CRO which were totally without merit, and the Court directs that if the litigant makes any further applications for permission which are totally without merit, the decision to dismiss the application will be final and there will be no right of appeal, unless the judge who refused permission grants permission to appeal.²⁷

²⁵ CPR PD 3A paragraph 7.6 and s.42(4) of the Senior Courts Act 1981

²⁶ CPR PD 3C, paragraphs 2.8, 3.8 and 4.8

²⁷ CPR PD 3C paragraph 2.3(2) and 2.6(3), CPR PD 3C paragraph 3.3(2) and 3.6(3), CPR PD 3C paragraph 4.3(2) and 4.6(3)

5. Before Starting the Claim

5.1 General Considerations

- 5.1.1 Before bringing any proceedings, the intending claimant should think carefully about the implications of so doing. The rest of chapter 5 of this Guide considers the practical steps to be taken before issuing a claim form, but there are a number of general considerations, including personal considerations.
- 5.1.2 A litigant who is acting in person faces a heavier burden in terms of time and effort than does a litigant who is legally represented, but all litigation calls for a high level of commitment from the parties. This should not be underestimated by any intending claimant.
- 5.1.3 The overriding objective of the CPR is to deal with cases justly and at proportionate cost. In all proceedings there are winners and losers; the loser is generally ordered to pay the costs of the winner and the costs of litigation can be large (see chapter 23 of this Guide for costs).
- 5.1.4 Part B of this Guide outlines the procedure when bringing a claim. This section will outline the considerations before bringing a claim, including the pre-action procedure, factors which may make bringing a claim inappropriate, costs protection, the timescales in which proceedings should be started, and the duties of the parties concerning the disclosure of documents.

5.2 The Judicial Review Pre-action Protocol

- 5.2.1 So far as reasonably possible, an intending claimant should try to resolve the claim without litigation. Litigation should be a last resort.
- 5.2.2 There are codes of practice for pre-trial negotiations. These are called 'Protocols'. The appropriate pre-action Protocol in judicial review proceedings is the Judicial Review Pre-action Protocol, which can be viewed on the Government's website via www.gov.uk/courts-tribunals/administrative-court. This is a very important document which anyone who is considering bringing a claim should consider carefully.
- 5.2.3 It is very important to follow the Judicial Review Pre-action Protocol, if that is possible, before commencing a claim. There are two reasons for this. First of all, it may serve to resolve the issue without need of litigation or at least to narrow the issues in the litigation. Secondly, failure to follow the Protocol may result in costs sanctions being applied to the litigant who has not followed the Protocol.

- 5.2.4 A claim for judicial review must be brought within the relevant time limits fixed by the CPR. The Protocol process does not affect the time limits for starting the claim (see paragraph 5.4 of this Guide). The fact that a party is using the Protocol would not, of itself, be likely to justify a failure to bring a claim within the time limits set by the CPR or be a reason to extend time. Therefore, a party considering applying for judicial review should act quickly to comply with the Protocol but note the time limits for issue if the claim remains unresolved.
- 5.2.5 The Protocol may not be appropriate in urgent cases (e.g., where there is an urgent need for an interim order) but even in urgent cases, the parties should attempt to comply with the Protocol. The Court will not apply cost sanctions for non-compliance where it is satisfied that it was not possible to comply because of the urgency of the matter.
- 5.2.6 Stage one of the Protocol requires the parties to consider whether a method of alternative dispute resolution ('ADR') would be more appropriate. The Protocol mentions discussion and negotiation, referral to the Ombudsman and mediation (a form of facilitated negotiation assisted by an independent neutral party).
- 5.2.7 Stage two is to send the defendant a pre-action letter. The letter should be in the format outlined in Annex A to the Protocol. The letter should contain the date and details of the act or omission being challenged and a clear summary of the facts on which the claim is based. It should also contain the details of any relevant information that the claimant is seeking and an explanation of why it is considered relevant.
- 5.2.8 The defendant should normally be given 14 days to respond to the pre-action letter and must do so in the format outlined in Annex B to the Protocol. Where necessary the defendant may request the claimant to allow them additional time to respond. The claimant should allow the defendant reasonable time to respond, where that is possible without putting the time limits to start the case in jeopardy.

5.3 Situations where a Claim for Judicial Review May Be Inappropriate

- 5.3.1 There are situations in which judicial review will not be appropriate or possible. These should be considered at the outset. Litigants should refer to the CPR and to the commentary in academic works on administrative law. The following are some of those situations in outline.

5.3.2 Lack of Standing (or Locus Standi)

- 5.3.2.1 A person may not bring an application for judicial review in the Administrative Court unless that person has a 'sufficient interest' in the matter to which the claim relates.²⁸
- 5.3.2.2 The issue of standing will generally be determined when considering permission but it may be raised and determined at any stage.
- 5.3.2.3 The parties and/or the Court cannot agree that a case should continue where the claimant does not have standing.²⁹ Nor does the Court have a discretion. A party must have standing in order to bring a claim.
- 5.3.2.4 The sufficient interest requirement is case specific and there is no general definition.³⁰ Those whom a decision directly and adversely affects will seldom (if ever) be refused relief for lack of standing. Some claimants may be considered to have sufficient standing where the claim is brought in the public interest.

5.3.3 Adequate Alternative Remedy

- 5.3.3.1 Judicial review is often said to be a remedy of last resort.³¹ If there is another method of challenge available to the claimant, which provides an adequate remedy, the alternative remedy should generally be exhausted before applying for judicial review.
- 5.3.3.2 The alternative remedy may come in various guises. Examples include an internal complaints procedure or a statutory appeal.
- 5.3.3.3 If the Court finds that the claimant has an adequate alternative remedy, it will generally refuse permission to apply for judicial review.

²⁸ s.31(3) of the Senior Courts Act 1981

²⁹ This principle has been confirmed in a number of other cases, for example in R. v Secretary of State for Social Services ex parte Child Poverty Action Group [1990] 2 Q.B. 540 at 556

³⁰ Inland Revenue Commissioners v National Federation of Self-Employed and Small Businesses Ltd [1982] A.C. 617

³¹ See R. v Epping and Harlow General Commissioners ex parte Goldstraw [1983] 3 All E.R. 257 at 262, Kay v Lambeth London Borough Council [2006] 2 A.C. 465 at 492, and more recently in R. (Gifford) v Governor of Bure Prison [2014] EWHC 911 (Admin) at paragraph 37.

5.3.4 The Claim is Academic

5.3.4.1 Where a claim is purely academic, that is to say that there is no longer a case to be decided which will directly affect the rights and obligations of the parties,³² it will generally not be appropriate to bring judicial review proceedings. An example of such a scenario would be where the defendant has agreed to reconsider the decision challenged.

5.3.4.2 Only in exceptional circumstances where two conditions are satisfied will the Court proceed to determine an academic issue. These conditions are: (1) a large number of similar cases exist or are anticipated, or at least other similar cases exist or are anticipated; and (2) the decision in a judicial review will not be fact-sensitive.³³

5.3.5 The Outcome is Unlikely to be Substantially Different.

The Courts have in the past refused permission to apply for judicial review where the decision would be the same even if the public body had not made the error in question. Section 31(3C)-(3F) of the Senior Courts Act 1981 now provides that the Courts must refuse permission to apply for judicial review if it appears to the Court highly likely that the outcome for the claimant would not be substantially different even if the conduct complained about had not occurred. The Court has discretion to allow the claim to proceed if there is an exceptional public interest in doing so.

5.3.6 The Claim Challenges a Decision of one of the Superior Courts.

5.3.6.1 The Superior Courts³⁴ are the High Court, the Court of Appeal, and the Supreme Court. They cannot be subject to judicial review.

5.3.6.2 Where the Crown Court is dealing with a trial on indictment it is a Superior Court and its actions are not subject to judicial review.³⁵ Otherwise, its functions are subject to judicial review.

³² R. v Secretary of State for the Home Department ex parte Salem [1999] 1 AC 450

³³ R. (Zoolife International Ltd) v The Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs [2008] A.C.D. 44 at paragraph 36

³⁴ See the discussion of the differences between inferior and superior Courts in R v Chancellor of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich Diocese ex parte White [1948] 1 K.B. 195.

³⁵ ss,1, 29(3), and 46(1) of the Senior Courts Act 1981.

5.4 Time Limits

- 5.4.1 The general time limit for starting a claim for judicial review requires that the claim form be filed promptly and in any event not later than 3 months after the grounds for making the claim first arose.³⁶ It must not be presumed that just because the claim has been lodged within the three month time that the claim has been made promptly, or within time.³⁷
- 5.4.2 When considering whether a claim is within time a claimant should also be aware of two important points:
- 5.4.2.1 The time limit may not be extended by agreement between the parties (although it can be extended by the Court, see paragraphs 5.4.4 and 6.3.4.3 of this Guide);³⁸
 - 5.4.2.2 The time limit begins to run from the date the decision to be challenged was made (not the date when the claimant was informed about the decision).³⁹
- 5.4.3 There are exceptions to the general time limit rule discussed above. These include the following:
- 5.4.3.1 Planning Law Judicial Reviews:⁴⁰ Where the claim relates to a decision made under planning legislation the claim must be started not later than six weeks after the grounds to make the claim first arose. Planning Legislation is defined as the Town and Country Planning Act 1990, the Planning (Listed Buildings and Conservation Areas) Act 1990, the Planning (Hazardous Substances) Act 1990 and the Planning (Consequential Provisions) Act 1990.
 - 5.4.3.2 Public Contract Judicial Reviews:⁴¹ Where the claim relates to a decision under the Public Contracts Regulations 2015 S.I. 2015/102, which governs the procedure by which public bodies may outsource public services (sometimes referred to as

³⁶ 54.5 (1)

³⁷ See for example R. v Cotswold District Council ex parte Barrington Parish Council [1998] 75 P. & C.R. 515

³⁸ CPR 54.5(2)

³⁹ R. v Department of Transport ex parte Presvac Engineering [1992] 4 Admin. L.R. 121

⁴⁰ CPR 54.5(5).

⁴¹ CPR 54.5(6),

‘procurement’), the claim must be started within the time specified by r. 92 of those Regulations, which is currently 30 days from the date when the claimant first knew or ought to have known that grounds for starting the proceedings had arisen. (Note that this time limit begins to run from the date of knowledge, in contrast to the general rule where the relevant date is the decision date itself). For further guidance on Public Contract Judicial Reviews, see paragraph 5.7 of this Guide.

5.4.3.3 Judicial Review of the Upper Tribunal:⁴² Where the defendant is the Upper Tribunal the claim must be started no later than 16 days after the date on which notice of the Upper Tribunal's decision was sent to the applicant. (Again, note the difference from the general rule, here the time limit is calculated from the date the decision was sent, not the date it was made).

5.4.3.4 Judicial Review of a decision of a Minister in relation to a Public Inquiry, or a member of an inquiry panel.⁴³ The time limit for these challenges is 14 days unless extended by the Court. That shorter time limit does not apply to any challenge to the contents of the inquiry report, or to a decision of which the claimant could not have become aware until publication of the report.⁴⁴

5.4.4 Extensions of Time

5.4.4.1 CPR 3.1(2)(a) allows the Court to extend or shorten the time limit even if the time for compliance has already expired.

5.4.4.2 Where the time limit has already passed, the claimant must apply for an extension in section 8 of the claim form (form N461). The application for an extension of time will be considered by the judge at the same time as deciding whether to grant permission.

5.4.4.3 The Court will require evidence explaining the delay. The Court will only extend time if an adequate explanation is given for the delay, and if the Court is satisfied that an extension of time will not cause substantial hardship or prejudice to the defendant or any other party, and that an extension of time will not be detrimental to good administration.

⁴² CPR 54.7A(3)

⁴³ s.38 (1) of the Inquiries Act 2005

⁴⁴ s. 38(3) of the Inquiries Act 2005

5.5 Judicial Review of Immigration and Asylum Decisions

- 5.5.1 Since the 1st November 2013 the Upper Tribunal (Immigration and Asylum Chamber) ('UT(IAC)') has been the appropriate jurisdiction for starting a judicial review in the majority of decisions relating to immigration and asylum, not the Administrative Court (see Annex 1 for UT(IAC) contact details).
- 5.5.2 The Lord Chief Justice's Practice Direction⁴⁵ requires filing in, or mandatory transfer to, the UT(IAC) of any application for permission to apply for judicial review and any substantive application for judicial review that calls into question the following:
- 5.5.2.1 A decision made under the Immigration Acts or any instrument having effect, whether wholly or partly, under an enactment within the Immigration Acts, or otherwise relating to leave to enter or remain in the UK. The Immigration Acts are defined as: Immigration Act 1971, Immigration Act 1988, Asylum and Immigration Appeals Act 1993, Asylum and Immigration Act 1996, Immigration and Asylum Act 1999, Nationality, Immigration and Asylum Act 2002, Asylum and Immigration (Treatment of Claimants, etc.) Act 2004, Immigration, Asylum and Nationality Act 2006, UK Borders Act 2007, the Immigration Act 2014; or
- 5.5.2.2 A decision made of the Immigration and Asylum Chamber of the First-tier Tribunal, from which no appeal lies to the Upper Tribunal.
- 5.5.3 All other immigration and asylum matters remain within the jurisdiction of the Administrative Court.⁴⁶ Even where an application comes within the classes of claim outlined at paragraph 5.5.2 above, an application which falls within any of the following classes must be brought in the Administrative Court:
- 5.5.3.1 A challenge to the validity of primary or subordinate legislation (or of immigration rules);
- 5.5.3.2 A challenge to the lawfulness of detention;

⁴⁵ Lord Chief Justice's Practice Direction; Jurisdiction of the Upper Tribunal under s.18 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007 and Mandatory Transfer of Judicial Review applications to the Upper Tribunal under s.31A(2) of the Senior Courts Act 1981, dated 21st August 2013 and amended on the 17th October 2014, available at: <https://www.judiciary.gov.uk/publications/lord-chief-justices-direction-regarding-the-transfer-of-immigration-and-asylum-judicial-review-cases-to-the-upper-tribunal-immigration-and-asylum-chamber/> ⁴⁶ See paragraph.5.5.4 of this guide for an example.

- 5.5.3.3 A challenge to a decision concerning inclusion on the register of licensed Sponsors maintained by the UKBA;
 - 5.5.3.4 A challenge to a decision as to which determines British citizenship;
 - 5.5.3.5 A challenge to a decision relating to asylum support or accommodation;
 - 5.5.3.6 A challenge to the decision of the Upper Tribunal;
 - 5.5.3.7 A challenge to a decision of the Special Immigration Appeals Commission; and
 - 5.5.3.8 An application for a declaration of incompatibility under the s.4 of the Human Rights Act 1998.
 - 5.5.3.9 A challenge to a decision which is certified (or otherwise stated in writing) to have been taken by the Secretary of State wholly or partly in reliance on information which it is considered should not be made public in the interests of national security.
- 5.5.4 Challenges to decisions made under the National Referral Mechanism for identifying victims of human trafficking or modern slavery⁴⁷ are not immigration decisions. They fall within the jurisdiction of the Administrative Court.

5.6 Judicial Review of First-tier Tribunal Decisions

- 5.6.1 Since the 3rd November 2008 the Upper Tribunal (Administrative Appeals Chamber) ('UTAAC') has been the appropriate jurisdiction for starting a judicial review that challenges certain decisions of the First-tier Tribunal, not the Administrative Court (see Annex 1 for UT(AAC) contact details).
- 5.6.2 The Lord Chief Justice's Practice Direction⁴⁸ requires filing in, or mandatory transfer to, the UT(AAC) of any application for permission to apply for judicial review and any substantive application for judicial review that calls into question the following:

⁴⁷ Published by the National Crime Agency at <http://www.nationalcrimeagency.gov.uk/about-us/what-we-do/specialist-capabilities/uk-human-trafficking-centre/national-referral-mechanism>

⁴⁸ Lord Chief Justice's Practice Direction, Practice Direction (Upper Tribunal: Judicial Review Jurisdiction),⁴⁸ pursuant to s.18(6) of the Tribunals Courts and Enforcement Act 2007

- 5.6.2.1 Any decision of the First-tier Tribunal on an appeal made in the exercise of a right conferred by the Criminal Injuries Compensation Scheme in compliance with s.5(1) of the Criminal Injuries Compensation Act 1995 (appeals against decisions on reviews); and
- 5.6.2.2 Decisions of the First-tier Tribunal where there is no right of appeal to the Upper Tribunal and that decision is not an excluded decision within paragraph (b), (c), or (f) of s.11(5) of the 2007 Act (appeals against national security certificates).
- 5.6.3 The direction does not have effect where an application seeks a declaration of incompatibility. In that case the Administrative Court retains the jurisdiction to hear the claim.

5.7 Public Contract Judicial Reviews

- 5.7.1 Where a decision made under the Public Contract Regulations 2015 is challenged, claimants may consider it necessary to bring proceedings for judicial review in the Administrative Court as well as issuing a claim in the Technology and Construction Court ('TCC'). Where this happens, the claim will, unless otherwise directed by the Judge in Charge of the Administrative Court or Judge in charge of the TCC, proceed in the TCC before a TCC judge who is also designated to sit in the Administrative Court.
- 5.7.2 If this occurs, the claimant must:
 - 5.7.2.1 At the time of issuing the claim form in the ACO, by letter to the ACO, copied to the Judge in Charge of the Administrative Court and the Judge in Charge of the TCC, request transfer of the judicial review claim to the TCC;
 - 5.7.2.2 mark that letter clearly as follows: 'URGENT REQUEST FOR TRANSFER OF A PUBLIC PROCUREMENT CLAIM TO THE TCC';
 - 5.7.2.3 if not notified within 3 days of the issue of the claim form that the case will be transferred to the TCC, contact the ACO and thereafter keep the TCC informed of its position.
- 5.7.3 This procedure is to apply only when claim forms are issued by the same claimant against the same defendant in both the Administrative Court and the TCC simultaneously (ie within 48 hours of each other).

- 5.7.4 When the papers are transferred to the TCC by the ACO in accordance with the procedure outlined above, the Judge in Charge of the TCC will review the papers as soon as reasonably practicable. The Judge in Charge of the TCC will then notify the claimant and the ACO whether he/she considers that the two claims should be case managed and/or heard together in the TCC.
- 5.7.5 If he or she decides that is so, the claim for judicial review will be case managed and determined in the TCC.
- 5.7.6 If he or she decides that the judicial review claim should not proceed in the TCC, he or she will transfer the judicial review claim back to the Administrative Court and give his/her reasons for doing so, and the claim for judicial review will be case managed and determined in the Administrative Court.

5.8 Abuse of Process

- 5.8.1 It may be an abuse of process to file a judicial review in the Administrative Court, on the basis that under the Lord Chief Justice's practice direction it falls within its jurisdiction and not the jurisdiction of UT(IAC). An example would be a judicial review which purports to fall within the detention exception where there is no obvious distinct merit to that aspect of the claim: see R (Ashraf) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2013] EWHC 4028 (Admin).

Part B: The Claim

6. Starting the Claim

6.1 Overview of Judicial Review Procedure

- 6.1.1 Judicial review is a two stage process which is explained further in this Guide. First the claimant must obtain permission (sometimes referred to as 'leave') to apply for judicial review from the Court. If permission is granted by the Court then the second stage is the substantive claim.
- 6.1.2 Unlike a number of other civil and criminal proceedings the judicial review process does not incorporate a case management conference, although one may be ordered by a judge. The Court expects the parties to liaise with each other and the ACO to ensure that the claim is ready for the Court. An open dialogue between the parties and the staff of the Administrative Court Office is essential to the smooth running of the case.
- 6.1.3 The following flow diagram may be used as a quick guide to the judicial review process. Full details of each stage are outlined later in this Guide:

Judicial Review Process⁴⁹

⁴⁹ © David Gardner, reproduced with kind permission of The University of Wales Press from Administrative Law and the Administrative Court in Wales

6.2 Issuing the Claim

- 6.2.1 All judicial review claims must be started by issuing a claim form in the ACO. Where a claim form is received in the ACO on an earlier date than the date of issue, then, for the purposes of the judicial review time limits (see paragraph 5.4 of this Guide), the claim is begun on the earlier date.⁵⁰ This earlier date will also be noted on the claim form by the ACO. All other relevant time limits will run from the date of issue shown by the Court seal.
- 6.2.2 If the claimant has lodged the claim in the ACO in Cardiff, the claim may be lodged in Welsh or English.
- 6.2.3 When issuing the claim form, it must be accompanied by the relevant fee. If the relevant fee is not paid, the claim form and any accompanying documentation will be returned.
- 6.2.4 If the claim form is returned in accordance with 6.2.3 above, it is not considered to have been issued for the purposes of the judicial review time limits (see paragraph 5.4 of this Guide).

6.3 Required Documentation

- 6.3.1 The claimant must file two copies of the completed judicial review claim form to be retained by the ACO.
- 6.3.2 The claimant must also file an additional copy of the claim form for every defendant and interested party in the claim. The additional copies will be sealed and returned to the claimant to serve on the defendant(s) and interested parties (see paragraph 6.8 of this Guide for service, and see annex 3 for a list of addresses for service on government departments).
- 6.3.3 The claimant is required to apply for permission to apply for judicial review in the claim form. The judicial review claim form automatically includes this application in section 4 of the claim form. The claimant must also specify the judicial review remedies sought (see chapter 11 of this Guide for remedies). There is space for this in the claim form at section 7.
- 6.3.4 The claim form must be accompanied by certain documents, which must be with the claim form when it is filed. The required documents are:
- 6.3.4.1 A detailed statement of the claimant's grounds for bringing the claim for judicial review (which can be outlined in section 5 of the claim form or in an attached document). This document should be as short as possible, while setting out the claimant's arguments in full.

⁵⁰ CRP PD 7A paragraphs 5.1 and 5.2

- 6.3.4.2 A statement of the facts relied on (which can be outlined in section 9 of the claim form, or in an attached document, or in an attached document incorporated with the grounds in a detailed statement of facts and grounds);
 - 6.3.4.3 Any application to extend the time limit for filing the claim form (which can be made in section 8 of the claim form or in an attached document);
 - 6.3.4.4 Any application for directions (which can be made in section 8 of the claim form or in an attached document);
 - 6.3.4.5 Any written evidence in support of the claim or application to extend time;
 - 6.3.4.6 A copy of any decision letter or order that the claimant seeks to have quashed;
 - 6.3.4.7 Where the claim for judicial review relates to a decision of a Court or Tribunal, an approved copy of the reasons for reaching that decision;
 - 6.3.4.8 Copies of any documents on which the claimant proposes to rely;
 - 6.3.4.9 Copies of any relevant statutory material; and
 - 6.3.4.10 A list of essential documents for advance reading by the Court (with page references to the passages relied on).
- 6.3.5 The documentation must be provided in an indexed and paginated bundle.
- 6.3.6 Two copies of the documentation bundle are to be provided to be retained by the Court.
- 6.3.7 Any request for the bundles to be returned when the claim has been closed must be made in writing before the end of the claim.
- 6.3.8 If the claim form is not accompanied by the documentation outlined at paragraph 6.3.4 above without explanation as to why and detail of when it will be provided, the ACO may, at its discretion, return the claim form without issuing it.

- 6.3.9 If the claim form is returned in accordance with 6.3.8 above, it is not considered to have been issued for the purposes of the judicial review time limits (see paragraph 5.4 of this Guide).
- 6.3.10 If the documentation required as outlined at paragraph 6.3.4 above is not filed with a claim form which is issued by the ACO, but at a later date, it has been filed out of time. As such, it must be accompanied by an application to extend time to file the documentation. Such an application must be made on an application notice with the relevant fee (see paragraph 12.7 of this Guide).

6.4 Duty of Candour

- 6.4.1 There is a special duty which applies to parties to judicial review known as the 'duty of candour' which requires the parties to ensure that all relevant information and all material facts are put before the Court.⁵¹ This means that parties must disclose any information or material facts which either support or undermine their case.
- 6.4.2 It is very important that you comply with the duty of candour. The duty is explained in more detail below at paragraph 14.1 of this Guide.

6.5 Disclosure

- 6.5.1 The duty of candour ensures that all relevant information is before the Court. The general rules in civil procedure requiring the disclosure of documents do not apply to judicial review claims. However, the Court can order disclosure, exceptionally, in a particular claim.
- 6.5.2 An application may be made in the course of a judicial review claim for disclosure of specific documents or documents of a particular class or type. A Court may order disclosure (under CPR 31.12(1)) of documents where this is necessary to deal fairly and justly with a particular issue.⁵² An application under CPR 31.12(1) is made in accordance with the principles discussed in paragraph 12.7 of this Guide
- 6.5.3 In practice, orders for disclosure of documents are rarely necessary in judicial review claims. The disclosure of documents may not, in fact, be necessary to allow the Court to consider a particular issue. Furthermore, a defendant may have disclosed the relevant documents (either before proceedings begin or as part of its evidence provided during proceedings (see paragraph 14.1 of this Guide on the duty of candour).

⁵¹ See the discussion of this principle in R. (Al-Sweady) v Secretary of State for Defence [2010] H.R.L.R. 2 at 18; see also R (Bancoult (No 2)) v Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs [2016] UKSC 35

⁵² As discussed in R. v Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs ex parte World Development Movement Ltd [1995] 1 W.L.R. 386 at 396-397

6.6 Where to Issue the Claim (Appropriate Venue)

- 6.6.1 There are five ACOs in England and Wales in which a claim may be issued. They are situated in Birmingham Civil Justice Centre, Cardiff Civil Justice Centre, Leeds Combined Court Centre, Manchester Civil Justice Centre, and in the Royal Courts of Justice in London. Contact details for the ACOs can be found in annex 1 to this Guide.
- 6.6.2 The general expectation is that proceedings will be administered and determined in the region with which the claimant has the closest connection.⁵³ As such the claim should be filed in the ACO with which the claimant has the closest connection.
- 6.6.3 Any claim started in Birmingham will normally be determined at an appropriate Court in the Midlands, in Cardiff in Wales, in Leeds in the North-East of England, in London at the Royal Courts of Justice; and in Manchester, in the North-West of England.
- 6.6.4 Claims where the claimant has the closest connection to the South West of England should be issued in the ACO in Cardiff Civil Justice Centre. The administration of the claim will take place in Cardiff, but all hearings will (unless there are exceptional circumstances) take place in the South West of England (principally in Bristol).
- 6.6.5 Whilst it is not encouraged, the claimant may issue a claim in a different region to the one with which he/she has the closest connection. The claimant should outline why the claim has been lodged in a different region in section 4 of the claim form. The decision should be justified in accordance with the following considerations:
- 6.6.5.1 Any reason expressed by any party for preferring a particular venue;
 - 6.6.5.2 The region in which the defendant, or any relevant office or department of the defendant, is based;
 - 6.6.5.3 The region in which the claimant's legal representatives are based;

⁵³ CPR PD 54D paragraph 5.2

- 6.6.5.4 The ease and cost of travel to a hearing;
 - 6.6.5.5 The availability and suitability of alternative means of attending a hearing (for example, by videolink);
 - 6.6.5.6 The extent and nature of media interest in the proceedings in any particular locality;
 - 6.6.5.7 The time within which it is appropriate for the proceedings to be determined;
 - 6.6.5.8 Whether it is desirable to administer or determine the claim in another region in the light of the volume of claims issued at, and the capacity, resources and workload of, the Court at which it is issued;
 - 6.6.5.9 Whether the claim raises issues sufficiently similar to those in another outstanding claim to make it desirable that it should be determined together with, or immediately following, that other claim; and
 - 6.6.5.10 Whether the claim raises devolution issues and for that reason whether it should more appropriately be determined in London or Cardiff.
- 6.6.6 There are a number of exceptions to the general rule on venue outlined in paragraph 6.6.2 above. The exceptions can be found in CPR PD 54D paragraph 3.1. They are not repeated here as they do not relate to judicial review proceedings.
- 6.6.7 If the claim is issued in an ACO thought not to be the most appropriate, it may be transferred by judicial order. The Court will usually invite the views of the parties if it is minded to transfer the claim to a different venue. The defendant and any interested party can address the issue of venue in their summary grounds.

6.7 Filing Documents by Fax and Email

- 6.7.1 The ACO will generally not accept the filing of documents by fax or email. However, the Administrative Court Office will accept the service of documents by email provided:
- 6.7.1.1 The document being filed does not require a fee;

- 6.7.1.2 The document, including attachments, does not exceed the maximum which the appropriate court office has indicated it can accept by email⁵⁴;
- 6.7.1.3 The email, including any attachments, is under 10Mb in size.
- 6.7.2 Where a document may be emailed it must be emailed to the appropriate ACO general inbox (see the contacts list at annex 1).⁵⁵ Any party filing a document by email should not also file a hard copy unless instructed;
- 6.7.3 A document may be filed by fax where it needs to be filed urgently. Hearing bundles and/or documents which require a fee should only be faxed in an emergency and must be accompanied by an undertaking to pay the fee. Any party filing a document by fax should not also file a hard copy unless instructed;⁵⁶
- 6.7.4 Paragraph 6.7.1 above also applies to skeleton arguments, which must be sent to the dedicated skeleton arguments email address for the relevant ACO (see the contacts list at annex 1). Also see chapter 17 of this guide on skeleton arguments.
- 6.7.5 Any document filed by fax or email after 4pm will be treated as filed on the next day the ACO is open.⁵⁷ If any party intends to file documents by fax, that party should first telephone the relevant ACO to ensure that the fax machine is available, and that there is someone there to receive the document.
- 6.7.6 An email sent to the Court must include the name, telephone number and address / email address for contacting the sender and it (including attachments) must be in plain or rich text format rather than HTML.⁵⁸
- 6.7.7 The ACO or a judge may give instructions or order that a document is to be filed by email or fax in circumstances other than those outlined above.

⁵⁴ In many instances, 50 pages, but parties should check with the appropriate court office.

⁵⁵ CPR PD 5B paragraph 2.1 and 2.2

⁵⁶ CPR PD5A paragraph 5.3

⁵⁷ CPR PD5A paragraph 5.3(6) and CPR PD 5B paragraph 4.2

⁵⁸ CPR PD 5B paragraph 3

6.8 Serving the Claim Form

- 6.8.1 The claimant must serve a sealed copy of the claim form with a copy of the bundle of documentation filed alongside the claim form on the defendant(s) and any interested parties within 7 days of lodging the claim.⁵⁹
- 6.8.2 All Government Departments should be served at the office as stipulated under the Crown Proceedings Act 1947 (reproduced at annex 3 of this Guide). Local authorities should be served at their main offices with a note that papers should be directed to the authority's legal department (see CPR PD 54A, paragraph 6.2(b)).
- 6.8.3 Once the claimant has served the papers on the defendant(s) and any interested party or parties the claimant must confirm this with the ACO by filing a certificate of service (form N215) within 21 days of service of the claim form.⁶⁰ If, after 28 days of lodging the claim form, the Administrative Court Office has not received a certificate of service or an acknowledgment of service from the defendant, then the case will be closed.
- 6.8.4 If a claim is closed because the claimant fails to file a certificate of service within time, the claim will only be reopened by judicial order. Such an order must be applied for on an application notice with the relevant fee (see paragraph 12.7 of this Guide). In the application the claimant must explain why the certificate of service was not filed on time, whether the failure caused any prejudice to any party or any delay to the judicial review process, and outline the reasons why the claim should be reopened.

6.9 Additional Provisions for Vexatious Litigants or Persons Subject to a Civil Restraint Order

- 6.9.1 If a claimant is subject to a civil proceedings order made under s.42 of the Senior Courts Act 1981 or is subject to a civil restraint order made under CPR 3.11 then the claimant must apply for permission to start proceedings before he/she may file an application for permission to apply for judicial review.
- 6.9.2 Such an application must be made on form N244 or PF244 and be accompanied by the relevant fee. This fee is not subject to fee remission, but it can be refunded if permission to start proceedings is granted.
- 6.9.3 The requirements for vexatious litigants or persons subject to a civil restraint order are discussed in greater detail in chapter 4 of this Guide.

⁵⁹ CPR 54.7

⁶⁰ CPR 6.17(2)(a)

7. The Acknowledgement of Service

7.1 The Acknowledgement of Service

- 7.1.1 Any defendant or interested party served with the claim form who wishes to take part in the application for permission to apply for judicial review must file and serve an acknowledgement of service.⁶¹
- 7.1.2 When filing an acknowledgement of service form N462 must be used.
- 7.1.3 Filing an acknowledgment of service is wise for any defendant and any interested party in order for the Court to know if that person intends to contest the claim, but it is not mandatory.
- 7.1.4 If a party fails to file an acknowledgment of service within the relevant time limit (see paragraph 7.2 below) this will have three effects on the claim:
- 7.1.4.1 The papers will be sent to a judge to consider whether to grant permission to the claimant to apply for judicial review without having heard from the party who has failed to file the acknowledgement of service;
 - 7.1.4.2 In the event that the judge does not grant or refuse permission outright, but directs that permission falls to be considered at an oral hearing (see paragraph 8.2.5 of this Guide), or if the judge refuses permission and the claimant applies for reconsideration at an oral hearing (see paragraph 8.4 of this Guide), the party may not take part in that hearing without the permission of the Court;⁶² and
 - 7.1.4.3 The judge considering any substantive application for judicial review may consider that party's failure to submit an acknowledgement of service when considering costs (see chapter 23 of this Guide for costs).⁶³
- 7.1.5 If the party does not file an acknowledgment of service and permission is subsequently granted (see paragraph 8.2.2 and chapter 10 of this Guide), the party may still take part in the substantive application for judicial review.⁶⁴

⁶¹ CPR 54.8(2)

⁶² CPR 54.9(1)(a)

⁶³ CPR 54.9(2)

⁶⁴ CPR 54.9(1)(b)

7.1.6 If the claim was started in or has been transferred to the ACO in Cardiff, the acknowledgement of service and any evidence may be lodged in Welsh or English.

7.2 Time Limits

7.2.1 The acknowledgment of service must be filed at the ACO within 21 days of the claim papers being served.⁶⁵ The 21 day time limit may be extended or shortened by judicial order. If appropriate, a judge may also consider permission to apply for judicial review without waiting for an acknowledgment of service.

7.2.2 The parties cannot agree between themselves to extend the deadline,⁶⁶ it can only be extended by an order of the Court. An application for an extension of time must be made in accordance with the interim applications procedure and on payment of the relevant fee (see paragraph 12.7 of this Guide). Alternatively, the application can be made retrospectively in the acknowledgment of service in section D, provided permission has not already been considered.

7.2.3 The acknowledgment of service must be served on all other parties no later than 7 days after it was filed with the ACO.

7.2.4 As soon as an acknowledgement of service has been filed by each party to the claim, or upon the expiry of the relevant time limit, the papers will be sent to a judge who will consider whether to grant permission to apply for judicial review by considering the papers alone (see chapter 8 of this Guide).

7.2.5 The judicial review procedure does not allow for the claimant to respond to the acknowledgment of service during the paper application process. The ACO will not delay consideration of permission on the basis that the claimant may wish to reply. Any replies that are received before a case is sent to a judge to consider permission will be put before the judge but it is a matter for the judge as to whether he/she is willing to consider the reply.

7.3 Contents

7.3.1 The acknowledgment of service must:

⁶⁵ CPR 54.8(2)(a)

⁶⁶ CPR 54.8(3)

- 7.3.1.1 Set out the summary grounds for contesting the claim, if the party does contest it.⁶⁷ These must be as concise as possible. The summary grounds of defence may be part of the acknowledgment of service in section C, or they may be included in an attached separate document.
- 7.3.1.2 State if the party is intending to contest the application for permission on the basis that it is highly likely that the outcome for the claimant would not have been substantially different if the conduct complained of had not occurred, by ticking the box in section A, and set out the summary of the grounds for doing so.⁶⁸
- 7.3.1.3 State, in section B, the name and address of any person the party believes to be an interested party.⁶⁹
- 7.3.1.4 State, in section E, if the party contests the claimant's application for an automatic costs limit under the Aarhus convention (see paragraph 24.4 of this Guide), if one was made.

7.3.2 Evidence may be filed with the acknowledgment of service but it is not required.

7.4 Defendant's Applications

When lodging the acknowledgment of service the party may request further directions or an interim order from the Court in section D.⁷⁰ Examples of applications that may be made at this stage are for the party's costs of preparing the acknowledgment of service and for the discharge of any previously made injunctions.

⁶⁷ CPR54.8(4)(a)(i)

⁶⁸ CPR 54.8(4)(a)(ia)

⁶⁹ CPR 54.8(4)(a)(ii)

⁷⁰ CPR 54.8(4)(b)

8. Permission to Apply for Judicial Review

8.1 The Application

- 8.1.1 The claimant must obtain permission from the Court to apply for judicial review. If permission is granted, the claim will usually proceed to a full hearing (often referred to as the substantive hearing – see Chapter 10 of this Guide).
- 8.1.2 In the first instance the claim papers (comprising the papers filed by the claimant and any acknowledgment(s) of service) are sent to a judge. The judge will then consider the papers and determine whether to grant permission to apply for judicial review.
- 8.1.3 The Court will refuse permission to apply for judicial review unless satisfied that there is an arguable ground for judicial review having a realistic prospect of success,⁷¹ although there are a number of orders the Court can make before ultimately determining this question (see paragraph 8.2 of this Guide).
- 8.1.4 Even if a case is thought to be arguable, the judge must refuse permission if the judge considers that the outcome for the applicant would not have been substantially different if the conduct complained of had not occurred.⁷²

8.2 Court Orders on Permission

- 8.2.1 There a number of different orders that may be made by the judge following consideration of the papers. The following are the most common orders made by judges considering permission to apply for judicial review, but they are not exhaustive.

8.2.2 Permission Granted

The judge has determined that there is an arguable case and that the case will proceed to a substantive hearing of the application for judicial review. In this event, the judge will usually give directions for the substantive hearing.

8.2.3 Permission Refused

⁷¹Description of the test taken from Sharma v Brown-Antoine [2007] 1 W.L.R. 780

⁷² s.31(3F) of the Senior Courts Act 1981

The judge has determined that none of the grounds advanced by the claimant are arguable and as such the claim should not proceed to a substantive hearing. When permission is refused on the papers, the judge will record brief reasons for that decision in the order.⁷³ The judge may order the claimant to pay the defendant's costs of preparing an acknowledgement of service at this stage (see paragraph 23.4 of this Guide).

8.2.4 Permission Granted in Part

8.2.4.1 The judge has determined that some of the grounds advanced by the claimant are arguable. The judge will direct the matter to proceed to a substantive hearing on those grounds only.

8.2.4.2 The claimant can request that the refused grounds are reconsidered for permission at an oral hearing (see paragraph 8.4 of this Guide).

8.2.5 Permission adjourned to an oral hearing on notice

The judge has made no determination on the application for permission. Instead the application for permission will be considered at an oral hearing in Court with the claimant and any other parties who wish to make representations to the Court attending. The hearing will take a similar form to that of a renewed permission hearing (see paragraph 8.4 of this Guide).

8.2.6 Permission adjourned to a 'rolled up hearing'

8.2.6.1 The judge has made no determination on the application for permission. Instead the application for permission will be considered in Court with the substantive hearing to follow immediately if permission is granted.

8.2.6.2 In practice, at the rolled up hearing the judge will not necessarily consider permission then the substantive hearing one after another formulaically. The judge is more likely to hear argument on both points together and give a single judgment, but the manner in which the hearing is dealt with is within the discretion of the judge.

8.2.6.3 When preparing documentation for a rolled up hearing the parties should apply the same rules as apply when preparing for a substantive hearing (see chapter 9 of this Guide). This is because, despite the fact that permission has not yet been granted or refused, substantive consideration of the application for judicial review will, if appropriate, take place on the same day. Thus, the documentation before the Court should be the same as if the hearing was the substantive hearing.

⁷³ CPR 54.12(2)

8.2.6.4 Where a rolled up hearing is ordered the claimant will be asked by the ACO to sign an undertaking to pay the fee for the substantive application for judicial review which would then become payable in the event that the judge later grants permission.

8.2.7 The application for permission is to be resubmitted

The judge has made no determination on the application for permission. Instead the judge will request the parties perform some act (such as file additional documents or representations) or await some other event (such as the outcome of a similar case). Once the act or event has been performed, or when the time limit for doing so has expired, the papers will be resubmitted to the judge to consider permission on the papers.

8.3 Totally Without Merit Orders

8.3.1 If the judge considers that the application for permission is ‘totally without merit’ then he/she may refuse permission and certify the claim as being totally without merit in the order.

8.3.2 The term ‘totally without merit’ has been defined broadly and applies to a case that it is bound to fail, not one that is necessarily abusive or vexatious.⁷⁴

8.3.3 Where a case is certified as totally without merit there is no right to a renewed oral hearing⁷⁵ (see paragraph 8.4 of this Guide) and the claim is concluded in the Administrative Court, albeit appeal rights do apply (see paragraph 26.3 of this Guide).

8.4 Reconsideration at an Oral Hearing

8.4.1 If permission is refused the claimant should consider the judge’s reasons for refusing permission on the papers before taking any further action.

⁷⁴ R. (Grace) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2014] 1 W.L.R. 3432, and Samia W v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2016] EWCA Civ 82

⁷⁵ CPR 54.12(7)

- 8.4.2 If the claimant takes no further action then, seven days after service of the order refusing permission, the ACO will simply close the case. If the Court has directed the parties to file written submissions on costs or has given directions in relation to any other aspect of the case, the claim will remain open until the costs or that other aspect are resolved. If there is an interim or costs order in place at that time, and unless the Court has directed otherwise, it will continue in effect (even though the case is closed administratively) and the parties will have to apply to set aside that order (see paragraph 12.7 of this guide).
- 8.4.3 If, having considered the reasons, the claimant wishes to continue to contest the matter they may not appeal, but they may request that the application for permission to apply for judicial review be reconsidered at an oral hearing (often referred to as a renewed hearing).⁷⁶
- 8.4.4 When the ACO serves an order refusing permission to apply for judicial review on the papers it will also include a renewal notice (form 86b). If the claimant wishes to have their application for permission to apply for judicial review reconsidered at an oral hearing they should complete and send this form back to the ACO within seven days⁷⁷ of the date upon which it is served. The claimant should send a copy of the 86b to any party that filed an acknowledgement of service.
- 8.4.5 The Claimant must provide grounds for renewing the application for permission, and must in those grounds address the judge's reasons for refusing permission by explaining in brief terms why the claimant maintains those reasons are wrong. It is not sufficient simply to state that renewal is sought on the original grounds, without seeking to explain the asserted error in the refusing judge's reasons. If the refusing judge's reasons are not addressed, the judge may make an adverse costs order against the claimant at the renewal hearing and/or impose any other sanction which he/she considers to be appropriate.⁷⁸
- 8.4.6 Upon receipt of the renewal notice the ACO will list an oral hearing (see paragraph 13.2.1 of this Guide on listing). The hearing cannot, without judicial order, take place without all parties being given at least two days notice of the hearing.⁷⁹ The ACO will send notice to all parties of the date of the hearing.
- 8.4.7 The renewed hearing is normally a public hearing that anyone may attend and observe and will take place in Court before a judge. The only issue at the

⁷⁶ CPR 54.12(3)

⁷⁷ CPR 54.12(4)

⁷⁸ See, in an extradition context, Roby Opalfvens v Belgium [2015] EWHC 2808 (Admin), at [14]

⁷⁹ CPR 54.12(5)

hearing is the arguability of the claim or particular grounds, so hearings are expected to be short, with the parties making succinct submissions.

8.5 Time Estimate for Renewed Hearing

- 8.5.1 The standard time estimate for a renewed permission hearing is 30 minutes to include the Court giving judgment, if that is appropriate, at the end of the hearing.
- 8.5.2 If either party reasonably believes that the renewed hearing (including judgment) is likely to last more than 30 minutes, that party should inform the ACO as soon as possible of that fact, and of that party's revised time estimate (including judgment). Failure to inform the ACO may result in the hearing having to be adjourned on the hearing day for lack of Court time, in which event the Court will consider making a costs order against the party or parties which should have notified the Court of the longer time estimate.
- 8.5.3 Even where a party informs the Court that the renewed hearing is likely to take more than 30 minutes, the Court will only allocate such Court time as it considers appropriate, bearing in mind the pressure on Court time from other cases. In any event, it is rare that permission hearings will be allocated a time estimate over two hours.

8.6 Procedure at Renewal Hearings

- 8.6.1 The defendant and/or any interested party may attend the oral hearing. Unless the Court directs otherwise, they need not attend.⁸⁰ If they have not filed an acknowledgement of service, they will have no right to be heard, although the Court may nonetheless permit them to make representations (see paragraph 7.1.4 of this Guide).⁸¹
- 8.6.2 Where there are a number of cases listed before a judge in any day, an attempt will be made to give a time marking for each case. This may be shown on the daily cause list or the judge's clerk may contact the parties and/or their representatives. Alternatively, at the start of the day's list, the judge may release the parties and/or their representatives until a specific time later in the day.
- 8.6.3 At the hearing, the judge retains discretion as to how the hearing will proceed. Subject to that discretion, generally, the hearing will follow a set pattern:

⁸⁰ CPR PD 54A paragraph 8.5

⁸¹ CPR 54.9(1)(a)

- 8.6.3.1 The claimant will speak first setting out his/her grounds and why he/she contends they are arguable;
 - 8.6.3.2 The defendant(s) will speak second setting out why the grounds are not arguable or other reasons why permission should not be granted;
 - 8.6.3.3 Any interested parties will speak third to support or contest the application for permission;
 - 8.6.3.4 The claimant is usually given a right to a short reply;
 - 8.6.3.5 The decision refusing or granting permission, and, if appropriate, any further directions or orders will usually be announced at the conclusion of the hearing.
- 8.6.4 Any party before a hearing in the Administrative Court in Wales has the right to speak Welsh or English. The guidance outlined at paragraph 10.3 of this Guide also applies to permission hearings.
- 8.6.5 The test for granting permission at an oral hearing is the same as the one applied by the judge considering permission on the papers (see paragraph 8.1.3 of this Guide).
- 8.6.6 In the event that permission is refused at the renewed hearing then the claim has ended in the Administrative Court (subject to any appeal – see paragraph 26.3 of this Guide). In the event that the judge does give permission then the case will proceed to the substantive hearing, which will take place on a later date (unless the hearing was ‘rolled up’ (see paragraph 8.2.6 of this Guide), in which case the substantive hearing will follow immediately). The date for the hearing may be ordered by the judge or listed by the ACO (see paragraph 13.2.2 of this Guide for listing).

8.7 Alternative Procedure Where the Upper Tribunal is the Defendant

- 8.7.1 In some claims the Upper Tribunal will be the appropriate defendant. This will generally only arise where the Upper Tribunal has refused permission to appeal against the decision of the First-tier Tribunal, because all other decisions of the Upper Tribunal are subject to a right of appeal, which should be exercised instead of applying for judicial review. Where the claimant wishes to challenge the decision of the Upper Tribunal when it has refused permission to appeal from a decision of the First-tier Tribunal the judicial review procedure is amended by CPR.54.7A. The claimant should read all of CPR 54.7A. The most important points are outlined below.
- 8.7.2 The Court will only grant permission to apply for judicial review if it considers:

- 8.7.2.1 That there is an arguable case which has a reasonable prospect of success that both the decision of the Upper Tribunal refusing permission to appeal and the decision of the First Tier Tribunal against which permission to appeal was sought are wrong in law; and
 - 8.7.2.2 That either the claim raises an important point of principle or practice or there is some other compelling reason to hear the claim.⁸²
- 8.7.3 The general procedure in CPR Part 54 will apply, save for the following amendments:
- 8.7.3.1 The application for permission may not include any other claim, whether against the Upper Tribunal or not and any such other claim must be the subject of a separate application;⁸³
 - 8.7.3.2 The claim form and the supporting documents must be filed no later than 16 days after the date on which notice of the Upper Tribunal's decision was sent to the applicant, not the normal three months;⁸⁴
 - 8.7.3.3 If the application for permission is refused on paper there is no right to a renewed oral hearing (see paragraph 8.4 of this Guide), albeit appeal rights do then apply (see paragraph 26.3 of this Guide).⁸⁵
 - 8.7.3.4 If permission to apply for judicial review is granted and if the Upper Tribunal or any interested party wishes there to be a hearing of the substantive application, it must make a request for such a hearing no later than 14 days after service of the order granting permission, in which case the ACO will list a substantive hearing. If no request for a hearing is made within that period, the Court will make a final order quashing the Upper Tribunal's decision without a further hearing.⁸⁶ The case will then return to the Upper Tribunal to consider permission to appeal again.

⁸² CPR 54.7A(7)

⁸³ CPR 54.7A(2)

⁸⁴ CPR 54.7A(3)

⁸⁵ CPR 54.7A(8)

⁸⁶ CPR 54.7A(9)

9. After Permission

9.1 Directions for Substantive Hearing

- 9.1.1 When permission to apply for judicial review is granted, the claim will proceed to the substantive hearing on a later date.
- 9.1.2 Unless the judge orders a particular date for the hearing, the ACO will list the substantive hearing as soon as practicable (see paragraph 13.2.2 of this Guide for listing).
- 9.1.3 When granting permission a judge will often give directions as to how the case will progress to the substantive hearing, including:
- 9.1.3.1 The time within which the defendant or interested party or parties should file detailed grounds of resistance and any evidence on which they intend to rely at the hearing;
 - 9.1.3.2 Who should hear the case, and specifically whether it should be heard by a Divisional Court (a Court with two or more judges),
 - 9.1.3.3 Other case management directions including a timetable for skeleton arguments, trial bundles and authorities bundles to be lodged.
- 9.1.4 Judicial directions will supersede any standard directions. If the judge does not make any directions, the following standard directions apply:
- 9.1.4.1 The claimant must pay the relevant fee to continue the application for judicial review. Failure to do so within 7 days of permission being granted will result in the ACO sending the claimant a notice requiring payment within a set time frame (normally 7 more days). Further failure will result in the claim being struck out without further order.⁸⁷
 - 9.1.4.2 Any party who wishes to contest or support the claim must file and serve any detailed grounds and any written evidence within 35 days of permission being granted;⁸⁸
 - 9.1.4.3 The claimant must file and serve a skeleton argument no less than 21 working days⁸⁹ before the substantive hearing (see paragraph 17.2 of this Guide for the contents of the skeleton argument).⁹⁰

⁸⁷ CPR 3.7(1)(d), (2), (3), & (4)

⁸⁸ CPR 54.14(1)

⁸⁹ CPR PD54A paragraph 15 refers to 'working' days. This is different from the normal presumption in the CPR that days means 'calendar' days, save for periods of time of less than 5 days, see CPR

- 9.1.4.4 The defendant and any other party wishing to make representations at the substantive hearing must file and serve a skeleton argument no less than 14 working days before the substantive hearing.⁹¹
- 9.1.4.5 The claimant must file a paginated and indexed bundle of all relevant documents required for the hearing of the judicial review when filing the skeleton argument⁹² (21 working days before the hearing unless judicial order allows for a different time period). The bundle must include those documents required by the defendant and any other party who is to make representations at the hearing.⁹³ The parties should be liaising as far before the substantive hearing as possible to agree what is required in the agreed bundle.

9.2 Amending the Claim

- 9.2.1 If the claimant wishes to file further evidence or rely on further grounds then the claimant must ask for the Court's permission to do so.⁹⁴ To seek permission the claimant must make an application in line with the interim applications procedure discussed at paragraph 12.7 of this Guide.
- 9.2.2 This rule also applies to other parties who are filing documents outside the 35 day time limit (discussed at paragraph 9.1.4.2 of this Guide).
- 9.2.3 The application may be dealt with in advance of the substantive hearing or at the hearing itself. The decision on when the application should be dealt with is ultimately a judicial one, but the parties should indicate a preference when lodging the application.
- 9.2.4 The Court retains a discretion as to whether to permit amendments. In R (Bhatti) v Bury Metropolitan Borough Council [2013] EWHC 3093 (Admin) the Court warned that, where the defendant has reconsidered the original decision challenged and has provided a fresh decision which it now relies on, it may not

2.8(3). It is a feature of the CPR that if the judge, when granting permission, expressly orders the skeleton argument to be filed '21 days' before the substantive hearing, then it must be provided 21 calendar days, not working days, before the substantive hearing. This is because CPR 2.8(3) applies to all judicial orders.

⁹⁰ CPR PD 54A paragraph 15.1

⁹¹ See footnote 89 above

⁹² CPR PD 54A paragraph 16.1

⁹³ CPR PD 54A paragraph 16.2

⁹⁴ CPR 54.15 and CPR 54.16(2) respectively.

be appropriate to seek to amend the claim. Instead, it may be more appropriate to end the claim (see chapter 22 of this Guide) and, if the claimant seeks to challenge the new decision, to commence a new claim. The exceptions to this principle, where the Court may be prepared to consider the challenge to the initial decision, are narrow, and apply only where:

9.2.4.1 The case raises a point of general public importance; and

9.2.4.2 The point which was at issue in relation to the initial decision challenged remains an important issue in relation to the subsequent decision.⁹⁵

9.3 Action if an Interpreter is Required

9.3.1 If a party or witness requires an interpreter it is generally the responsibility of that party or the party calling the witness to arrange for the attendance of and to pay for the interpreter.

9.3.2 The ACO can arrange an interpreter to attend free of charge to the party seeking an interpreter's assistance where:

9.3.2.1 The party is a litigant in person who cannot address the Court in English (or Welsh if the case is proceeding in Wales) and the party cannot afford to pay for an interpreter, does not qualify for legal aid and does not have a friend or family member who the judge agrees can act as an interpreter; and

9.3.2.2 The judge agrees that an interpreter should be arranged free of charge to that party; or 9.3.2.3 In such other circumstances as ordered by the Court.

9.3.3 It is the responsibility of the party which requests an interpreter free of charge to that party to make the request in writing as soon as it becomes clear that a hearing will have to be listed and an interpreter is required.

9.3.4 The party which requests an interpreter free of charge must inform the ACO in writing that an interpreter is required and the party must state which language the interpreter will be required to translate into English and vice versa (or into Welsh and vice versa if the case is proceeding in Wales: see paragraph 10.3 of this Guide for use of the Welsh language).

⁹⁵ R (Bhatti) v Bury Metropolitan Borough Council [2013] EWHC 3093, and see R (Yousuf) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2016] EWHC 663 (Admin)

9.3.5 Where the party does not notify the Court that an interpreter is required and a hearing has to be adjourned to arrange for an interpreter to attend on another occasion, the Court may make an adverse costs order against the party requiring an interpreter (see paragraph 23.1 of this Guide).

9.4 Responsibility for Production of Serving Prisoners and Detained Persons

9.4.1 Where a serving prisoner or a detained person is represented by counsel it is generally not expected that the serving prisoner or detained person will be produced at Court, unless the Court orders otherwise.

9.4.2 Where the serving prisoner or detained person is acting without legal representation, it is the responsibility of the serving prisoner or detained person to arrange for their attendance at Court or for a video-link to be arranged between the Court and prison or detention centre. The serving prisoner or detained person must make the request that they be produced at Court for the hearing or that a video-link should be arranged, to the prison or detention centre authorities, as soon as they receive notice of the hearing. The prison or detention centre authorities are responsible for considering requests for production, for arranging production of a person at Court, and for arranging video-links.

9.5 Specific Practice Points

Reference should be made to the guidance contained under Part C of this Guide, Specific Practice Points, which gives detailed guidance on skeleton arguments (at chapter 17), documents (at chapter 18xx) and authorities (at chapter 19).

10. Substantive Hearing

10.1 Format of the Hearing

10.1.1 The hearing is generally a public hearing which anyone may attend and observe. The hearing normally takes place before a single judge, unless the Court orders the case to be heard by a Divisional Court (see paragraphs 1.7.4 and 13.3 of this Guide on Divisional Courts).

10.1.2 The Court will decide how the hearing should proceed. But most hearings follow the following sequence:

10.1.2.1 The claimant will speak first setting out the arguments in support of the grounds of claim.

10.1.2.2 The defendant will speak second setting out the arguments in support of the grounds of defence;

10.1.2.3 Any interested parties and/or interveners will speak third to support, contest, or clarify anything that has been said; and 10.1.2.4 The claimant will have a right to reply to the other parties' submissions.

10.2 Evidence

10.2.1 Evidence before the Court will nearly always consist of witness statements and written evidence without allowing oral evidence to be given and without cross examination of witnesses.

10.2.2 The Court retains an inherent power to hear from witnesses.⁹⁶ If a party seeks to call or cross-examine a witness, an application should be made in accordance with the interim applications procedure outlined in section 12.7 of this Guide. As a matter of practice, it is only in very exceptional cases that oral evidence is permitted in a judicial review. Permission will be given only where oral evidence is necessary to dispose of the claim fairly and justly⁹⁷.

⁹⁶ See the comments of Munby J (as he then was) in R. (PG) v London Borough of Ealing [2002] A.C.D. 48 at paragraphs 20 and 21.

⁹⁷ R (Bancoult) v Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs [2012] EWHC 2115 at 14;

10.3 Use of the Welsh Language

- 10.3.1 A hearing before the Administrative Court in Wales is subject to the provisions of s.22 of the Welsh Language Act 1993 and as such any person addressing the Court may exercise their right to speak in Welsh. This right applies only to hearings in Wales and so, if the party seeks to exercise this right they should start the claim in the ACO in Cardiff or seek transfer of the claim to the ACO in Cardiff.
- 10.3.2 Under the Practice Direction Relating to the Use of the Welsh Language in Cases in the Civil Courts in Wales, the Court may hear any person in Welsh without notice of the wish to speak in Welsh, providing all parties and the Court consent.⁹⁸
- 10.3.3 In practice, the parties should inform the Court as soon as possible,⁹⁹ preferably when lodging the claim papers, if any person intends to speak in Welsh. This will allow the Court to make proper directions and allow the ACO in Cardiff to make practical arrangements.
- 10.3.4 There are bi-lingual judges who can consider such claims, but nonetheless, it is likely that an order will be made for simultaneous translation, where a translator appears in Court translating into English and Welsh.¹⁰⁰

10.4 Judicial Review Without a Hearing

If all parties agree, the substantive consideration may take place without a hearing, and the judge will decide the claim by considering the papers alone. The parties should inform the ACO in writing if all parties have agreed to this course of action. The judge, on consideration of the papers, may refuse to make a decision on the papers and order an oral hearing.

10.5 Threshold for Relief

- 10.5.1 To succeed in the claim the claimant must show that the defendant has acted unlawfully.

⁹⁸ Paragraph 1.2 of the Practice Direction Relating to the Use of the Welsh Language in Cases in the Civil Courts in Wales

⁹⁹ Paragraph 1.3 of the Practice Direction Relating to the Use of the Welsh Language in Cases in the Civil Courts in Wales

¹⁰⁰ This was the format ordered in R. (Welsh Language Commissioner) v National Savings and Investments [2014] P.T.S.R. D8 and is in line with HMCTS's Welsh language scheme 2013-2016, paragraph 5.26.

10.5.2 Even if a claimant establishes that the defendant has acted unlawfully, the Court has a discretion whether to grant a remedy or not.

10.6 Judgment and Orders

10.6.1 When the hearing is concluded the Court will usually give judgment in one of two ways:

10.6.1.1 Orally, then and there, or sometimes after a short adjournment (this is referred to as an 'ex tempore' judgment).

10.6.1.2 The Court may give judgment in writing some time after the hearing (this is referred to as a 'reserved' judgment).

10.6.2 A reserved judgment will be 'handed down' at a later date. The hand down procedure is governed by CPR PD 40E. Unless the Court otherwise directs, at least two working days before the hand down date the judge will provide a copy of the judgment to legal representatives in the case.¹⁰¹ That draft is confidential and any breach of that confidentiality is a contempt of court. The legal representatives may then propose any typographical corrections.¹⁰²

10.6.3 After the draft judgment has been circulated the parties are obliged to attempt to agree the form of the final order and any consequential orders¹⁰³ (usually costs and permission to appeal – see chapters 23 and 26 of this Guide). The parties should submit an agreed order, which should include the terms of any orders made by the judge in Court and the terms of any agreed consequential orders, by 12 noon the day before the hand down date.¹⁰⁴ If the parties can agree a final order then they need not attend the hand down hearing.¹⁰⁵

10.6.4 If consequential orders cannot be agreed then the Court will decide consequential orders by considering representations. This may be done in one of two ways:

10.6.4.1 The parties may attend Court on the date of handing down and make representations orally. The Court will then decide on

¹⁰¹ CPR PD 40E paragraph 2.3

¹⁰² Ibid, paragraph 3.1

¹⁰³ Ibid, paragraph 4.1

¹⁰⁴ CPR PD 40E, paragraph 4.2

¹⁰⁵ Ibid, paragraph 5.1

consequential orders. The parties should inform the ACO in good time if they intend to do this as time will need to be allocated for the judge to hear representations. Such a hearing would usually last for 30 minutes, rather than the 5 minutes set aside for a simple hand down; or

- 10.6.4.2 The parties may agree a final order that allows them to make written representations within a set time period on consequential orders, which the Court will then consider and, at a later date, make an order based on those written representations alone.
- 10.6.5 The final judgment will then be handed down in Court. In practice this is a short hearing at which the judge makes the final copy of the judgment available and endorses it. The judge will not read the judgment verbatim. The judge will adjourn any consequential matters which remain to be dealt with at a later date.
- 10.6.6 The ACO will send sealed copies of any orders approved by the judge to the parties. Until an order has been approved and sealed the parties should not assume that any agreed orders will be approved. It is the sealed order itself that holds legal force as opposed to the judgment and it is the order that must be enforced if a party fails to comply with the terms.
- 10.6.7 All substantive judgments are made publicly available at the website www.bailii.org which does not charge a fee for access.

11. Remedies

11.1. When the claimant starts a claim he/she must state in section 7 of the claim form what remedy he/she seeks from the Court in the event that he/she is successful. There are six remedies available to a successful claimant in judicial review proceedings, all of which are listed in sections 31(1) and 31(4) of the Senior Courts Act 1981 as well as CPR part 54. This section of the Guide will discuss those remedies.

11.2 Mandatory Order

11.2.1 A mandatory order is the order the Court can make to compel a public body to act in a particular way.

11.3 Quashing Order

11.3.1 A quashing order quashes, or sets aside, the decision, thereby confirming that the challenged decision has no lawful force and no legal effect.

11.3.2 After making a quashing order the Court will generally remit the matter to the public body decision maker and direct it to reconsider the matter and reach a fresh decision in accordance with the judgment of the Court.¹⁰⁶

11.3.3 The Court has power to substitute its own decision for the decision which has been quashed.¹⁰⁷ This power is only exercisable against the decisions of the inferior Courts or Tribunals, only on the grounds of error of law, and only where there is only one possible decision now open to the decision maker.

11.4 Prohibiting Order

11.4.1 A prohibiting order prohibits a public body from taking an action that the public body has indicated an intention to take, but has not yet taken.

11.5 Ordinary Declarations

11.5.1 A declaration is a statement by the Court as to what the law on a particular point is or is not. Using the declaratory remedy the Administrative Court can

¹⁰⁶ As outlined in s.31(5)(a) of the Senior Courts Act 1981 and CPR 54.19(2)(a)

¹⁰⁷ Under s.31(5)(b) of the Senior Courts Act 1981 and CPR 54.19(2)(b)

examine an act (including an act announced but not yet taken) of a public body and formally declare that it is lawful, or unlawful.

- 11.5.2 A declaration does not have any coercive effect although a public body is expected to comply with the declaration. A declaration can be a remedy on its own,¹⁰⁸ or can be granted in combination with other remedies.
- 11.5.3 A declaration will not be granted where the question under consideration is a hypothetical question, nor where the person seeking the declaration has no real interest in it, nor where the declaration is sought without proper argument (e.g. in default of defence or on admissions or by consent).¹⁰⁹

11.6 Declaration of Incompatibility

- 11.6.1 If the Court determines that any Act of Parliament is incompatible with a Convention right, that is a right derived from the European Convention on Human Rights 1950 ('ECHR') which is incorporated into the law of the United Kingdom by the Human Rights Act 1998, it may make a declaration of incompatibility.¹¹⁰
- 11.6.2 A declaration of incompatibility may be made in relation to subordinate legislation if the Court is satisfied that (disregarding any possibility of revocation) the Act of Parliament concerned prevents removal of the incompatibility.¹¹¹
- 11.6.3 The principles behind ordinary declarations (see paragraph 11.5 of this Guide above), such as the requirement that a declaration will not be made in hypothetical circumstances, apply.¹¹²
- 11.6.4 A declaration of incompatibility does not affect the validity, continuing operation or enforcement of the provision in respect of which it is given and it is not binding on the parties to the proceedings in which it is made.¹¹³ The declaration acts to inform Parliament of the incompatibility of that provision with a Convention right.

¹⁰⁸ CPR 40.20

¹⁰⁹ Re F [1990] 2 A.C. 1

¹¹⁰ ss.4(1) and 4(2) of the Human Rights Act 1998

¹¹¹ ss.4(3) and 4(4) of the Human Rights Act 1998.

¹¹² See, for example, Taylor v Lancashire County Council [2005] 1 W.L.R. 2668

¹¹³ s.4(6) of the Human Rights Act 1998

- 11.6.5 The claimant must state in the remedies section of the claim form (section 7) if they are applying for a declaration of incompatibility, giving precise details of the Convention right which has allegedly been infringed, and the domestic law provision which is said to be incompatible.¹¹⁴
- 11.6.6 The claimant should consider making the Crown, via the relevant Secretary of State, an interested party, if a declaration of incompatibility is sought. In any event, where an application for a declaration of incompatibility has been made the Court may order that notice should be given to the Crown.¹¹⁵ If the Court is considering making a declaration of incompatibility and the Crown is not already a party, the Court must inform the relevant Secretary of State and allow him/her at least 21 days¹¹⁶ to consider whether to intervene and make representations.¹¹⁷

11.7 Injunctions

- 11.7.1 An injunction is an order to act in a particular way (a positive injunction) or to refrain from acting in a particular way (a negative injunction). It is a remedy that is not confined to judicial review, although it is available in judicial review.

11.8 Damages

- 11.8.1 Whilst primarily a private law remedy, the Administrative Court has power to award damages.
- 11.8.2 The right to seek damages in judicial review proceedings is subject to two provisos:
- 11.8.2.1 The claimant may only seek damages if they are also seeking another remedy, not just damages alone;¹¹⁸ and
 - 11.8.2.2 The claimant may only seek damages if a private law claim for damages on the same basis would have succeeded (had it been brought in the County Court or appropriate division of the High Court).¹¹⁹

¹¹⁴ CPR PD 16 paragraphs 15.1(2)(a), (c)(i), & (d)

¹¹⁵ CPR 54A PD paragraph 8.2 & CPR PD 19A paragraph 6.1

¹¹⁶ CPR 19.4A(1)

¹¹⁷ s.5(1) of the Human Rights Act 1998

¹¹⁸ CPR 54.3(2).

¹¹⁹ s.31(4) of the Senior Courts Act 1981

11.8.3 Where the assessment and award of damages is likely to be a lengthy procedure the general practice of the Administrative Court is to determine the judicial review claim, award the other remedy sought (if appropriate), and then transfer the claim to either the County Court or appropriate division of the High Court to determine the question of damages.

11.9 Multiple Remedies

11.9.1 The Court may grant more than one remedy where it is deemed appropriate.

11.10 Remedies Where the Outcome Would Not Be Substantially Different

11.10.1 If the claimant is successful in judicial review proceedings, but the Court considers that it is highly likely that the outcome for the claimant would not be substantially different even if the unlawful decision by the public body was set aside or remedied, the Court must refuse to grant any form of relief and must not award damages, except in exceptional public interest cases.¹²⁰

11.11 Discretionary Remedies

11.11.1 Remedies in judicial review proceedings are within the discretion of the Court.

11.11.2 Even where a claimant shows that a defendant has acted unlawfully, the Court may refuse to grant a remedy, in particular where:¹²¹

11.11.2.1 The claimant has delayed in filing the application for judicial review and the Court considers that the granting of the remedy sought would be likely to cause substantial hardship to, or would substantially prejudice the rights of any person, or would be detrimental to good administration.

11.11.2.2 The error of law made by the public body was not material to the Court's decision.

11.11.2.3 The remedy would serve no useful practical purpose.

11.11.2.4 The claimant has suffered no harm or prejudice.

¹²⁰ s31(2A) Senior Courts Act 1981 and s31(2B) Senior Courts Act 1981

¹²¹ See R. (Baker) v Police Appeals Tribunal [2013] EWHC 718 (Admin)

11.11.3 The principles on discretionary remedies discussed above do not apply to the award of damages.

12. Case Management

12.1 Case Management in the Administrative Court

12.1.1 All proceedings in the Administrative Court, from the start of the claim to the end, are subject to the overriding objective outlined in CPR 1.1. The overriding objective requires all cases to be dealt with justly and at proportionate cost.

12.1.2 Dealing with a case justly and at proportionate cost includes:¹²²

12.1.2.1 Ensuring that the parties are on an equal footing;

12.1.2.2 Saving expense;

12.1.2.3 Dealing with it in ways which are proportionate to the amount of money involved, to the importance of the case, to the complexity of the issues, and to the financial position of each party;

12.1.2.4 Ensuring that it is dealt with expeditiously and fairly;

12.1.2.5 Allotting to it an appropriate share of the Court's resources, while taking into account the need to allot resources to other cases;
and 12.1.2.6 Ensuring compliance with rules, practice directions and orders.

12.1.3 In ensuring that the overriding objective is complied with, the Court must actively manage cases,¹²³ which includes (but is not limited to) the following:

12.1.3.1 Encouraging the parties to co-operate with each other in the conduct of the proceedings;

12.1.3.2 Identifying the issues at an early stage;

12.1.3.3 Deciding promptly which issues need full investigation and trial and accordingly disposing summarily of the others;

12.1.3.4 Deciding the order in which issues are to be resolved;

¹²² CPR 1.1(2)

¹²³ CPR 1.4

- 12.1.3.5 Encouraging the parties to use an alternative dispute resolution procedure if the Court considers that appropriate and facilitating the use of such procedure;
 - 12.1.3.6 Helping the parties to settle the whole or part of the case;
 - 12.1.3.7 Fixing timetables or otherwise controlling the progress of the case;
 - 12.1.3.8 Considering whether the likely benefits of taking a particular step justify the cost of taking it;
 - 12.1.3.9 Dealing with as many aspects of the case as it can on the same occasion;
 - 12.1.3.10 Dealing with the case without the parties needing to attend at Court;
 - 12.1.3.11 Making use of technology; and
 - 12.1.3.12 Giving directions to ensure that the trial of a case proceeds quickly and efficiently.
- 12.1.4 The parties are required to help the Court to further the overriding objective.¹²⁴
- 12.1.5 This chapter of the Guide is intended to provide more detail on what is expected from the Court, the ACO, and the parties in order to further the overriding objective.

12.2 Duties of the Parties

- 12.2.1 The parties must make efforts to settle the claim without requiring the intervention of the Court. This is a continuing duty and whilst it is preferable to settle the claim before it is started, the parties must continue to evaluate the strength of their case throughout proceedings, especially after any indication as to the strength of the case from the Court (such as after the refusal or grant of permission to apply for judicial review). The parties should consider using alternative dispute resolution (for example, mediation) to explore settlement of the case, or at least to narrow the issues in the case.

¹²⁴ CPR 1.3

- 12.2.2 CPR Part 54 does not provide for a formal case management hearing in judicial review proceedings, although the parties may apply for an interim order or the Court may make case management orders with or without a hearing. It is not uncommon for the first time the parties appear in Court before the judge to be the final hearing of the claim. As such, the parties have a duty to ensure that they maintain effective, constructive, and regular communication with each other and the ACO (see also paragraph 14.1 of this Guide on the Duty of Candour).
- 12.2.3 The parties must comply with the procedural provisions in the CPR, the relevant Practice Directions and orders of the Court (including orders by an ACO lawyer). If a party knows they will not be able to do so they should inform the ACO and the other parties as soon as possible and make the application to extend the time limit as soon as possible (in accordance with the interim applications procedure in 12.7 of this Guide).
- 12.2.4 If a party is aware that they may need to apply for an interim order (extending time as per paragraph 12.2.3 above or for interim relief in accordance with chapter 15 of this Guide) they should inform the other parties and the ACO as soon as they know they may need to make the application. The application should then be made as quickly as possible. Delay in making an application and/or a failure to put the ACO and the other parties on notice, especially where it requires urgent consideration, is a factor which may weigh against the granting of the order.
- 12.2.5 The parties should, if possible, agree the form of any case management order and/or interim relief and file an agreed consent order, which will be subject to the Court's approval. A fee is payable when submitting a consent order and the reasons for requesting the order should be included in an accompanying application notice (N244 or PF244).
- 12.2.6 The parties should also comply with any requests from ACO staff members (such as requests for documents or information). Whilst these requests do not have the force of an order of the Court, failure to comply with such a request may be a factor considered by a judge or ACO lawyer that weighs against granting an interim order, permission to apply for judicial review, substantive relief, or costs.
- 12.2.7 If the parties are aware that a case is likely to settle without the further involvement of the Court they should inform the ACO as soon as possible.
- 12.2.8 The parties and their legal representatives should ensure compliance with the CPR, Practice Directions and rules. Of particular importance are: the duty of candour, the requirement to make full disclosure of all material facts (see paragraph 14.1 of this Guide), and the procedures for bringing urgent cases before the Court, see chapter 16 of this Guide.

12.3 Role of the Administrative Court Office Staff

- 12.3.1 The staff members in the ACO handle the day to day running of the ACO from the start of the process to the finish. One of their duties is to ensure that the cases are properly managed by requesting missing or late documents from the parties and by referring problematic issues to an ACO lawyer, the Master, or a judge.
- 12.3.2 The ACO staff members are not legally qualified, and cannot give legal advice on the merits of the claim. Staff members may be able to assist with the basic judicial review procedure. However, any advice from a member of staff as to procedure must not be considered to circumvent any legal provision (be that provision in statute, case law, the CPR, or a Court order) or the provisions of this Guide. Parties and the Court are responsible for the conduct of proceedings and the parties will not be able to rely on the advice of the ACO as a reason for not complying with legal provisions.
- 12.3.3 The ACO staff may contact the parties to request information or specific documents if that information or document is required under the CPR or is thought to be necessary to allow the Court to properly consider or case manage the claim. The parties should comply with any requests unless they are unable to do so, when written reasons should be given for the failure.
- 12.3.4 The ACO staff have a duty to ensure that cases are being managed in accordance with the overriding objective. As such, where it appears that a case is not being managed in accordance with the overriding objective they have a duty to either make enquiries of the parties to establish the proper further course of action and/or to refer the case to an ACO lawyer or judge to consider further case management. Examples (but not an exhaustive list) of scenarios in which ACO staff may act as such are:
 - 12.3.4.1 The claim appears to have been filed and/or issued in the Administrative Court under the judicial review provisions when it appears the claim should properly have been filed and/or issued in another Court or under a different provision;
 - 12.3.4.2 The parties have failed to comply with procedural provisions in the CPR or a Court order;
 - 12.3.4.3 The claim has been stayed for some time without a satisfactory update from the parties;
 - 12.3.4.4 The staff member has concerns over the conduct of the parties.

12.4 Role of the Administrative Court Office Lawyers

- 12.4.1 An ACO lawyer must be a qualified solicitor or barrister. The role of the ACO lawyer is as a non-partisan lawyer, subject to the duties of an officer of the Court (as all lawyers are). Therefore, whilst employed by HMCTS, their primary duty is to the Court. The role in itself is three fold:
- 12.4.1.1 To provide advice on practice and procedure in the Administrative Court to whoever requires it; be that judges, ACO staff, practitioners, or litigants;
 - 12.4.1.2 To provide legal research and updates for the judges of the Administrative Court; and
 - 12.4.1.3 To communicate with the parties and exercise delegated judicial powers to ensure that cases in the Administrative Court are managed properly.
- 12.4.2 As an ACO lawyer is independent of the parties he/she cannot give advice on the merits of the claim. An ACO lawyer may draw the parties' attention to provisions or precedents that may have an impact on the claim. If this is done the parties should consider what is said, but this should not be considered to be formal legal advice or a determination on the law. The parties have responsibility for the conduct of their own claim and the decision on the law is the preserve of the judge who considers the claim.
- 12.4.3 An ACO lawyer has a duty to ensure that the case is managed in accordance with the overriding objective and may enter into discussions with the parties or make case management orders (when applied for, when a case is referred to them by an ACO staff member, or of his/her own volition) to further the overriding objective and properly manage the case. Any order of an ACO lawyer will always be made after consideration of the papers without a hearing.
- 12.4.4 The specific powers that the ACO lawyer may use are delegated by the President of the Queen's Bench Division¹²⁵ and include:
- 12.4.4.1 Extending or abridging time for filing documents;
 - 12.4.4.2 Making orders giving directions;
 - 12.4.4.3 Adding to or removing parties from the claim;

¹²⁵ CPR 54.1A(1)

- 12.4.4.4 Varying a Judge's order for directions;
 - 12.4.4.5 Considering applications for abridgement of time for acknowledgment of service;
 - 12.4.4.6 Determining applications for an extension of time in which to file a renewal notice;
 - 12.4.4.7 Ordering a claim issued in Cardiff is to be heard in Bristol or elsewhere on the Western Circuit;
 - 12.4.4.8 Transferring a case to the Upper Tribunal (Immigration Asylum Chamber); and
 - 12.4.4.9 Approving consent orders (including orders to quash and costs).
- 12.4.5 An Administrative Court Office lawyer may not make any orders in judicial review proceedings which relate to criminal causes or matters;
- 12.4.6 If a party is not content with an order of the ACO lawyer then CPR 54.1A(5) provides that the party may request that the order is reviewed by a High Court Judge. Such a review may take place on the papers or by way of an oral hearing in Court.¹²⁶ The choice of how the review takes place is the choice of the party requesting the review. The request for a review must be made by filing the request in writing (a letter or application notice may be used) within 7 days of the date on which the party was served with the ACO lawyer's order.¹²⁷ As long as the request is filed within 7 days (or such time as allowed by the order) there is no fee. If it is filed out of time then an application must be made to file the request out of time and it must be made on an application notice (N244 or PF244) with the relevant fee.

12.5 Role of the Master of the Administrative Court

- 12.5.1 The Master has the power to make any order allowed under the CPR unless the CPR expressly states that the Master may not make such an order. In judicial review proceedings this means that the Master generally deals with interim applications that do not come within the powers delegated to the ACO lawyers.¹²⁸ This includes, but is not limited to:¹²⁹

¹²⁶ CPR 54.1A(5) & (6)

¹²⁷ CPR 54.1A(7)

¹²⁸ CPR 2.4(a) and CPR PD 2B paragraph 3.1(c)

¹²⁹ CPR PD 2B paragraph 3.1A

- 12.5.1.1 Making interim orders relating to case management or interim remedies (including those claims for judicial review relating to criminal causes and applications to vary bail conditions, provided the prosecutor does not oppose the variation);
 - 12.5.1.2 Determining liability for costs and making summary assessments of costs (see chapter 23. of this Guide for costs); and
 - 12.5.1.3 Making orders relating to applications from vexatious litigants for permission to start or continue claims for judicial review (see paragraphs 4.10 and 4.11 of this Guide).
- 12.5.2 The Master may make orders with or without a hearing.¹³⁰
- 12.5.3 The Master is under a duty to case manage the claim in accordance with the overriding objective. To this end the Master may request enquires are made of the parties by an ACO lawyer or ACO staff member or he/she may make case management orders (when applied for, when a case is referred to him/her by an ACO staff member or ACO lawyer, or of his/her own volition).
- 12.5.4 Any challenge to the terms of an order made by the Master without a hearing must be made by applying for reconsideration of the order at an oral hearing.¹³¹ The application must be made on form N244 or PF244 and the relevant fee is payable. The hearing will be listed before a judge in Court. See paragraph 15.4 of this Guide for further details.
- 12.5.5 A challenge to an order made by the Master at an oral hearing must be made by appealing to a High Court judge (see paragraph 26.6 of this Guide on appeals).¹³²

12.6 Role of the Judiciary

- 12.6.1 Judges of the Administrative Court have all the powers of the High Court under statute, the CPR, and under the inherent jurisdiction of the Court.
- 12.6.2 In ensuring that the overriding objective is complied with, the Court must actively manage cases (see paragraph 12.1 of this Guide).

¹³⁰ CPR 23.8

¹³¹ R. (MD (Afghanistan) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2012] 1 W.L.R. 2422

¹³² CPR PD 52A paragraph 4.3

12.6.3 Any challenge to the terms of a case management order made without a hearing must be made by applying for reconsideration at a hearing (see paragraph 15.5 of this Guide). Any challenge to an order made at an oral hearing must be appealed (see paragraph 26.6 of this Guide).

12.7 Applications Once a Claim has Commenced

12.7.1 An application for directions or an interim order can be made at any time after commencement of the Claim.¹³³ For pre-commencement applications, see paragraph 16.4 of this Guide; for applications for interim relief, chapter 15 of this Guide.

12.7.2 To make such an application:

12.7.2.1 The application must be filed with the ACO on an application notice (N244 or PF244 are the most commonly used).

12.7.2.2 The application must be accompanied by payment of the relevant fee.

12.7.2.3 The application must be accompanied by evidence stating why the direction or order is required.

12.7.2.4 A draft order should be enclosed with the application.

12.7.3 Where possible, a copy of the application, evidence and accompanying draft order should be sent to the proposed defendants and interested parties to give them notice that the application is being made. Where the application has been made without giving notice to the other parties then the evidence supporting the application should explain why the application has been made without giving notice.

12.7.4 In the application notice the applicant may request the application be considered at a hearing or by a judge considering the papers. In either event, the ACO will send the papers to a judge, master, or ACO lawyer to consider in the first instance. A judicial order may be made on the papers alone if it is thought that a hearing would not be appropriate. Otherwise, a hearing may be listed to hear the application. Such a hearing is usually listed at short notice (see paragraph 13.2.3 of this Guide).

12.7.5 It is the responsibility of each party to indicate the likely length of the hearing to determine the application (if the application is determined at a hearing). The length of hearing should include time for giving judgment.

¹³³ CPR 23

12.8 Applications for the Claim to be Stayed

- 12.8.1 If either party wishes to stay a Claim, an application must be made to the Court for that to occur (see paragraph 12.7 of this Guide for the procedure for making applications). Save in exceptional circumstances, an application for stay should be made on notice to the other parties, and their agreement to it should be sought before the application is made.
- 12.8.2 The duration of the proposed stay must be made clear in the application notice. Usually, a stay is sought pending the outcome of a particular event (for example, the conclusion of a related Tribunal appeal or a lead case in the Court of Appeal) or for a specific period of time (not usually exceeding a few weeks or months).
- 12.8.3 A stay will not normally be permitted to enable the defendant to reconsider the decision under challenge in the claim. Where the defendant agrees to reconsider, the judicial review should generally be withdrawn. A fresh claim can then be brought if the claimant wishes to challenge the reconsideration.¹³⁴ In any event, the Court's permission will be required to amend the claim form in light of any subsequent decision (see paragraph 9.2 of this Guide).

12.9 Relief from Sanctions

- 12.9.1 Where a party has failed to comply with a provision under the CPR, Practice Direction or an order of the Court, which specifies a sanction for non-compliance, that party must apply for relief from sanction.¹³⁵ If they do not then the Court may refuse to consider that party's case¹³⁶ and/or make an adverse costs order against the party.¹³⁷
- 12.9.2 An application for relief from sanction must be made in line with the interim applications procedure (see paragraph 12.7 of this Guide). The application for relief from sanction may be considered by an ACO lawyer, the Master, or a judge.

¹³⁴ See R (Bhatti) v Bury Metropolitan Borough Council [2013] EWHC 3093, and R (Yousuf) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2016] EWHC 663 (Admin)

¹³⁵ CPR 3.8(1)

¹³⁶ CPR 3.4(1)(c)

¹³⁷ CPR 44.2(4)(a), CPR 44.2(5)(c), and CPR 44.4(3)(a)(i)

12.9.3 When considering whether to grant an application for relief from sanction, the ACO lawyer, the Master, or a judge, must consider the principles outlined in Mitchell v News Group Newspapers Ltd [2013] EWCA Civ 1537, Denton v T.H. White Ltd [2014] EWCA Civ 906.¹³⁸ These cases should be considered if making such an application, but, in summary, the Court will consider the application in three stages:

12.9.3.1 Identify and assess the seriousness and significance of the failure to comply with any rule or Court order. If the breach is neither serious nor significant, the Court is likely to grant relief.

12.9.3.2 Consider why the default occurred. If there is a good reason for it, the Court will be likely to decide that relief should be granted, but merely overlooking the deadline is unlikely to constitute a good reason.

12.9.3.3 Evaluate all the circumstances of the case, so as to enable the Court to deal justly with the application including consideration of the first two factors. Particular weight is to be given to the need for litigation to be conducted efficiently and at proportionate cost and to enforce compliance with rules, practice directions and orders.

12.10 Abuse of the Court's Process

12.10.1 The Court has a duty to ensure that the Court's process is not abused. If a party, a legal representative, or any other person acts in a way thought to be inappropriate the Court may, in an appropriate case:

12.10.1.1 Strike out statements of case;¹³⁹

12.10.1.2 Make an adverse costs order requiring the person to pay a party's costs (see paragraph 23.1 of this Guide);¹⁴⁰

12.10.1.3 Make a wasted costs requiring a legal representative to pay a party's costs (see paragraph 23.12 of this Guide);¹⁴¹

¹³⁸ See Hysaj v Secretary of state for the Home Department [2014] EWCA Civ 1633 and Altomart Ltd v Salford Estates (No.2) Ltd [2014] EWCA Civ 1408 which suggest that relief from sanction may be appropriate even where no sanction is specified.

¹³⁹ CPR 3.4(1)(c)

¹⁴⁰ CPR 44.2(4)(a), CPR 44.2(5)(c), and CPR 44.4(3)(a)(i)

¹⁴¹ Section 51(6) Senior Courts Act 1981 and CPR 46.8

12.10.1.4 Refer a legal representative to their regulatory body to consider further sanctions;¹⁴²

12.10.1.5 Make a Civil Restraint Order (see chapter 4 of this Guide).¹⁴³

12.10.2 Before making any of the above orders, the Court will usually give the relevant party, legal representative, or third party the opportunity to make representations on the appropriateness of such an order.

12.10.3 Scenarios which may be considered to be an abuse of process include, but are not limited to:¹⁴⁴

12.10.3.1 Acting in bad faith or with an improper purpose.

12.10.3.2 Attempting to re-litigate a decided issue.

12.10.3.3 Raising in subsequent proceedings matters which could and should have been litigated in earlier proceedings.

12.10.3.4 Starting proceedings or applying for an order after improper delay.

12.10.3.5 Persistent failure to comply with rules or orders of the Court.

12.10.3.6 Knowingly starting proceedings in the Administrative Court which ought to be issued in another Court or Tribunal.

12.10.3.7 Proceedings which are frivolous, vexatious, harassing or manifestly groundless.

12.11 Communications which are Abusive or without Proper Purpose

12.11.1 The ACO is generally in a position to communicate with the parties in person at the public counter, by telephone, email, or post (see annex 1 for details) and will respond to communications if the communication so requires. The exception to this principle will apply if a person has been made subject to a notification of restricted communication.

¹⁴² R (Hamid) v SSHD [2012] EWHC 3070 (Admin)

¹⁴³ CPR 3.11, CPR PD 3C, and CPR 23.12

¹⁴⁴ Examples taken from Halsbury's Laws of England, Vol.11 Civil Procedure (2015), Part 19, paragraph 1044, and from R (Ashraf) v SSHD [2013] EWHC 4028 (Admin)

- 12.11.2 Such a notification will be sent by the manager of the ACO if it is considered that the person has been communicating with the ACO in a manner which is:
- 12.11.2.1 Aggressive, intimidating, or harassing; or
 - 12.11.2.2 Persistent, time consuming, and without proper purpose.
- 12.11.3 Such a notification will inform the persons that the form in which they may communicate with the ACO is restricted to the manner outlined in the notice, all other forms of communication will be ignored, and that a response to the permitted form of communication will only be made if the communication raises a new issue that requires the response of the ACO.
- 12.11.4 Notifications of restricted communication will be sent in writing to the last known address for the person subject to the notification.
- 12.11.5 The person subject to the notification may request in writing at any time that the ACO manager rescinds the notification at his/her discretion. Such a request should include reasons for the request and will be responded to in writing.
- 12.11.6 A notification of restricted communication is made by the manager of the ACO as an employee of HMCTS. Any complaint against such a notification must be made in accordance with the HMCTS complaints policy.
- 12.11.7 The Court, under its inherent jurisdiction to control its own proceedings, may also make, rescind, or vary a notification of restricted communication.

13. Listing

13.1 Listing Policies

- 13.1.1 The Administrative Court has a listing policy that will be followed by the ACO when it lists any hearing. This policy can be found on the Administrative Court website: www.gov.uk/courts-tribunals/administrative-court.
- 13.1.2 The ACO in Cardiff has a supplementary listing policy that supplements the general listing policy. This policy can be made available on request from the ACO in Cardiff.
- 13.1.3 This section of the Guide will summarise the procedure in the policies, but the policies themselves should be referred to for full details.
- 13.1.4 The policies are intended to be applied flexibly. The ACO may, where it considers it appropriate to do so, list cases otherwise than in accordance with the policies.
- 13.1.5 A particular case may be listed in a particular way by reason of a judicial order.

13.2 Listing Procedure

- 13.2.1 For permission hearings, hearings will usually be fixed for a date without seeking the views of representatives. Several weeks' notice of the hearing will normally be given.
- 13.2.2 For substantive hearings, the ACO will usually consult with counsel's clerks to attempt to agree a suitable date for the hearing. This will generally occur in one of two ways:
 - 13.2.2.1 In the ACO in London, the ACO will telephone or email either counsel's clerks and/or solicitors to arrange an appointment to fix the hearing. Five working days' notice will be given of the appointment. At the appointment if parties are unable to agree a date that is also acceptable to the Court, the ACO will list the matter for first available date convenient to the Court. Failure to attend the appointment will mean the matter will be listed without consultation.
 - 13.2.2.2 In the other ACOs, the ACO will either email or telephone counsel's clerks for all parties to request the dates of availability for counsel on the Court record (that is to say the Court has been informed counsel is/are acting). Unless availability is provided over the telephone at the time of the initial contact the clerk will be informed that they must provide availability within 48 hours otherwise the ACO will list the matter for first available date convenient to the Court. If parties are unable to agree a date that is also acceptable to the Court, the ACO will list the matter for first available date convenient to the Court.

- 13.2.3 Interim relief hearings are usually listed in the same way as renewal hearings, but where interim relief is required urgently the hearing may be listed at short notice with little or no consultation as to the availability of the parties. The application will usually be fixed on the basis that it will take no longer than 30 minutes to hear, unless a different time estimate is required by a judge, master, or ACO lawyer. If a party considers that the application will require a longer hearing, the suggested time estimate must be confirmed as soon as possible, in writing with reasons.
- 13.2.4 Due to limited judicial time the ACO is unable to routinely take into account the availability of litigants representing themselves (litigants in person) or instructing solicitors. However, if there are dates when a litigant in person is unable to attend and there are good reasons for not being able to attend then the litigant in person may inform the ACO in writing in advance and the ACO may be able to take this into account when listing.
- 13.2.5 A substantive hearing will be allocated a hearing time estimate by either the judge granting permission or the ACO. If a party considers that the application will require a longer hearing, the suggested time estimate must be confirmed as soon as possible, in writing with reasons.
- 13.2.6 Once the hearing has been listed, all parties will be sent a listing notice by the ACO which confirms the date, location, and time estimate for the hearing. The start time of the hearing will not be in the listing notice. Generally, Administrative Court hearings start at 10.30am, but this may be changed up until 2.00pm the day before the hearing. The parties should check the hearing time on the day before the hearing by telephoning the ACO or checking the hearing time online at www.gov.uk/courts-tribunals/administrative-court..

13.3 Divisional Courts

- 13.3.1 Divisional Courts may be convened for any case in the High Court.¹⁴⁵ A Divisional Court means that two or more judges sit together.

¹⁴⁵ s. 66 of the Senior Courts Act 1981

- 13.3.2 If a judicial review is allocated to the Divisional Court, the listing arrangements will be different, particularly if the case is considered to be urgent. The ACO will not be able to offer as many suitable available dates for a hearing and will not generally take account of the availability of each party's counsel when listing the hearing.

13.4 Applying to Adjourn a Listed Hearing

- 13.4.1 If a party wishes to apply to adjourn a listed hearing then the application must be made in one of the following ways:

13.4.1.1 By agreeing with all other parties that the hearing should be adjourned and filing a draft consent order for the approval of the Court,¹⁴⁶ one of terms of which is that the hearing is adjourned. Such an order must be signed by all parties and must be accompanied by the relevant fee (although see paragraph 13.4.1.2 below). The parties may also include further directions sought in such a draft order. The parties should not assume that a hearing has been adjourned unless they have been informed by the ACO that the consent order has been approved. A consent order should also include reasons for the hearing being adjourned, which should be included in an accompanying application notice (form N244 or PF244).

13.4.1.2 If the parties agree a consent order to adjourn the hearing, which does not seek other directions, and they file the draft consent order with the ACO more than 14 days before the hearing, then no fee is payable. The other provisions noted at paragraphs 13.4.1.1 and 22.4 of this Guide will still apply.

13.4.1.3 If the parties cannot agree a consent order, then a party may make an application to adjourn the hearing in line with the interim applications procedure (see paragraph 12.7 of this Guide). Such an application must be made on form N244 or PF244 and be accompanied by the relevant fee. The application notice should include the reasons for the request, any attempts made to agree the request with the other parties, and any responses from the other parties to that request. A draft of the order sought should also be attached to the application.

- 13.4.2 The decision to adjourn a listed hearing is a judicial decision and cannot be taken by the ACO. The hearing will generally not be adjourned unless there are good reasons to do so, even where all parties agree that the hearing should be adjourned. Where the sole reason for seeking the adjournment is that counsel is/are not available for the hearing the application to adjourn will rarely be granted. Where the matter has been listed to be heard by a Divisional Court the Court will be very reluctant to grant an adjournment.

¹⁴⁶ See paragraph 22.4 of this Guide for the procedure for filing a consent order in the context of ending a claim – the procedure is identical.

Part C: Specific Practice Points

14. Duty of Candour

- 14.1.1 There is a special duty which applies to parties to judicial review known as the ‘duty of candour’ which requires the parties to ensure that all relevant information and facts are put before the Court.¹⁴⁷ This means that parties must disclose any information or material facts which either support or undermine their case.
- 14.1.2 This rule is needed in judicial review claims, where the Court’s role is to review the lawfulness of decisions made by public bodies, often on an urgent request being made, where the ordinary rules of disclosure of documents do not apply (see paragraph 6.5 and chapter 20 of this Guide on evidence) and where the witness statements are usually read (rather than being subject to cross examination by witnesses who are called to give their evidence orally).
- 14.1.3 The rule is particularly important where the other party has not had the opportunity to submit its own evidence or make representations (usually an urgent application – see chapter 16 of this Guide).
- 14.1.4 The Court will take seriously any failure or suspected failure to comply with the duty of candour. The parties or their representatives may be required to explain why information or evidence was not disclosed to the Court, and any failure may result in sanctions.
- 14.1.5 Specifically, claimants in judicial review proceedings must ensure that the Court has the full picture. In some circumstances, to ensure this, it is not sufficient simply to provide the relevant documents. Instead, a specific explanation of a document or an inconsistency must be given, usually by witness statement attested by the claimant.¹⁴⁸
- 14.1.6 The duty of candour is a continuing duty. The claimant must reassess the viability and propriety of a challenge in light of the defendant’s Acknowledgement of Service and Summary Grounds.¹⁴⁹

¹⁴⁷ See the discussion of this principle in R. (Al-Sweady) v Secretary of State for Defence [2010] H.R.L.R. 2 at 18; see also R (Bancoult (No 2)) v Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs [2016] UKSC 35

¹⁴⁸ R (Mohammed Shahzad Khan) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2016] EWCA Div 416 at 45

¹⁴⁹ Ibid, 48

15. Interim Relief

15.1 When is Interim Relief Appropriate?

- 15.1.1 A party (usually the Claimant) may request an interim remedy whilst the case is pending. Common examples are:
- 15.1.1.1 An interim order stopping the action the defendant plans to take (e.g – to prevent removal from the UK, assuming that UTIAC has no jurisdiction in the matter, see paragraph 5.5 of this Guide);
 - 15.1.1.2 An interim order requiring the defendant to act in a certain way (e.g – to provide the claimant with accommodation).
- 15.1.2 Interim relief is usually requested in the claim form. But it can be applied for at any stage of proceedings and in exceptional cases can be applied for before proceedings are commenced. The procedure is outlined in CPR Part 23, supplemented in places by CPR Part 25 and CPR Part 54.
- 15.1.3 The Court may require the claimant to give undertakings as a condition of any interim relief:
- 15.1.3.1 The claimant may be required to give an undertaking in damages, so that if the defendant succeeds at the end of the day, and has suffered financial loss as a result of the relief ordered in the claimant's favour in the meanwhile, the claimant will have to compensate that loss; and
 - 15.1.3.2 An undertaking operates as if it was a Court order, and breach of an undertaking is equivalent to breaching a Court order, which the Court can sanction by imposing an adverse costs order on the party in default, refusing to hear the application, striking out the claim and proceeding to consider committal for contempt of Court.

15.2 Interim Relief When Lodging the Claim

- 15.2.1 Interim relief is usually applied for at the same time as lodging the claim papers (see chapter 6 of this Guide on starting proceedings).
- 15.2.2 Such an application can be made by making the application in section 8 of the claim form (form N461). As with the statement of facts and grounds, the substance of the application can be contained in a separate document to which section 8 of the claim form refers.

- 15.2.3 The application for interim relief will be considered by the judge on the papers, usually at the same time as the application for permission to apply for judicial review. The advantage for all parties is that this process reduces paperwork, reduces Court time, and does not require an additional fee.
- 15.2.4 The judge considering the application for interim relief alongside permission may either make an order based on the papers alone or order that the application for interim relief be dealt with at a hearing in Court (see paragraph 13.2.3 of this Guide for listing of such hearings).
- 15.2.5 Where the circumstances of the case require urgent consideration of the application for permission to apply for judicial review and/or any interim relief, a different procedure applies. This is dealt with separately in this Guide (see chapter 16).

15.3 Interim Relief before Commencement of Proceedings

- 15.3.1 In exceptionally urgent circumstances a person may apply for interim relief before starting proceedings. See paragraph 16.4 of this Guide for the procedure where an urgent application is made before proceedings have been commenced.

15.4 Interim Relief in Ongoing Proceedings

- 15.4.1 Where a claim has already been lodged but it subsequently becomes clear that an interim order is required, the party seeking interim relief should issue an application on form N244 or PF244. If the application is urgent, the party should make that clear in the application form, and indicate the timescale within which the judge is requested to consider the application in that application and, preferably, in a covering letter as well. Such an application, whether it is made urgently or not, should always, unless it is impracticable, be served on all the other parties. The Court is unlikely to consider the application unless the opposing party has been given an opportunity to respond to the application in writing.

15.5 Reconsideration if Interim Relief is Refused

- 15.5.1 Where an application for an interim order has been refused without a hearing (that is to say that the judge made the order considering the papers alone), a party may request the decision be reconsidered.¹⁵⁰

¹⁵⁰ R. (MD (Afghanistan) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2012] 1 W.L.R. 2422

- 15.5.2 Reconsideration is requested by lodging an application notice (N244 or PF244) with the relevant fee. The application must be served on all other parties.
- 15.5.3 If an application is made for reconsideration after refusal on the papers then reconsideration must take place at an oral hearing in Court (see paragraph 13.2.3 of this Guide on listing).
- 15.5.4 If reconsideration is required within a set time frame the application must make the relevant timescale clear in the application and, preferably, in a covering letter as well.
- 15.5.5 Where reconsideration of an order made on the papers is extremely urgent and cannot wait until the Court's sitting hours, then the application for reconsideration can be made to out of hours judge in accordance with paragraph 16.3 of this Guide. In such circumstances the practitioner will be asked to undertake to pay the relevant fee on the next working day.
- 15.5.6 A party who wishes to challenge a decision made on the papers must apply for reconsideration in the Administrative Court before they can appeal (see chapter 26 of this Guide for appeals).¹⁵¹

15.6 Criteria for the Grant of Interim Relief

- 15.6.1 When considering whether to grant interim relief while a judicial review claim is pending, the judge will consider:¹⁵²
- 15.6.1.1 Whether there is a real issue to be tried. In practice, in judicial review claims, that involves considering whether there is a real prospect of succeeding at the substantive hearing, that is to say a more than a fanciful prospect of success;
 - 15.6.1.2 Whether the balance of convenience lies in granting the interim order;
 - 15.6.1.3 Any other factors the Court considers to be relevant.

¹⁵¹ R. (MD (Afghanistan)) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2012] 1 W.L.R. 2422 at paragraph 21

¹⁵² R. (Medical Justice) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2010] A.C.D. 70 and American Cyanamid Company v Ethicon Limited [1975] AC 396

- 15.6.2 Generally, there is a strong public interest in permitting a public authority's decision to continue, so the applicant for interim relief must make out a strong case for relief in advance of the substantive hearing.
- 15.6.3 The Court will be reluctant to grant any form of interim relief without establishing the defendant's response to the application. The Court is likely, if time permits, to permit the defendant an opportunity to respond to the application. In an urgent case, this may be by abridging time for service of the Acknowledgement of Service or calling the matter in for a hearing on short notice.
- 15.6.4 If time does not permit the defendant to be heard, then the Court will consider granting relief for a very short period until the defendant has been able to make its submissions (in writing or at a hearing).
- 15.6.5 Sometimes, if the merits of the underlying claim are unclear and there is no particular urgency in granting relief, the Court will give directions for an 'expedited' (speedy) determination of permission, or trial of the claim (possibly on the basis that permission should be 'rolled up' with the substantive hearing – see paragraph 8.2.6 of this Guide). In this way, the Court can be sure that both parties have had a chance to put their arguments before the Court before any form of order granting (or refusing) relief is made.

15.7 Removals Cases

- 15.7.1 There are particular rules relating to cases where a claimant challenges a decision to remove him or her from the jurisdiction, see CPR PD 54A, paragraph 18. Such challenges would now generally fall within the jurisdiction of UTIAC. A person who makes an application for permission to apply for judicial review of a removal decision must file a claim form which must:
- 15.7.1.1 Indicate on the face of the claim form that the practice direction applies;
 - 15.7.1.2 Attach to the claim form a copy of the removal directions and the decision to which the application relates;
 - 15.7.1.3 Attach any document served with the removal directions including any document which contains the UK Border Agency's factual summary of the case; and
 - 15.7.1.4 Contain or be accompanied by the detailed statement of the claimant's grounds for bringing the judicial review (or give the reasons why compliance with the last two conditions is not possible)

- 15.7.2 That person must send copies of the claim form to the UK Border Agency.
- 15.7.3 The Court has set out certain principles to be applied when such applications are made in R (Madan) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2007] EWCA Civ 770:
 - 15.7.3.1 Such applications must be made promptly on the intimation of a deportation decision and not await the actual fixing of removal arrangements;
 - 15.7.3.2 The detailed statement of grounds must include a statement of all previous applications made in respect of that applicant's immigration status and indicate how the present state of the case differs from previous applications;
- 15.7.4 Counsel and solicitors appearing on the application, in the absence of the defendant, are under professional obligations to draw the judge's attention to any matter adverse to their client's case, including in particular any previous adverse decisions, and to take a full note of the judge's judgment or reasons, which should then be submitted to the judge for approval.

16. Urgent Cases

16.1 General

- 16.1.1 The Administrative Court often deals with urgent cases. This is a very important part of the Court's work, and the availability of the Court to deal with urgent cases is in the public interest. However, the Court's experience in recent years is that some litigants and practitioners are misusing, and even abusing, the procedures for seeking urgent adjudication. The consequence of this is or may be that those claimants with genuinely urgent cases have had to wait longer than they needed to, because wholly unmeritorious and/or non-urgent cases are ahead of them in the queue.
- 16.1.2 All litigants and their advisers are reminded of the rules relating to urgent applications which are summarised below. In particular,
- 16.1.2.1 It is very important that litigants and their advisers state clearly on the Court forms what are the reasons for urgency (see paragraph 16.2 below).
- 16.1.2.2 It is very important that litigants and their advisers comply with their duty of candour which requires them to disclose all relevant material to the Court (see paragraph 14.1 of this Guide)
- 16.1.3 The CPR, Practice Directions and other obligations owed to the Court must be complied with. If they are not complied with, the party in default is likely to be made subject to an adverse costs order (for example, being made to pay some or all of the other party's legal costs, or being unable to recover their own legal costs, even if successful), and risks having their claim dismissed for non-compliance. Professional representatives may face applications for wasted costs, or be referred to their Regulator for consideration of disciplinary action, for failure to comply with their professional obligations.
- 16.1.4 Professional representatives are reminded of the following passage from R (Hamid) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2012] EWHC 3070 (Admin):
- “[7] ... If any firm fails to provide the information required on the form and in particular explain the reasons for urgency, the time at which the need for immediate consideration was first appreciated, and the efforts made to notify the defendant, the Court will require the attendance in open court of the solicitor from the firm who was responsible, together with his senior partner. It will list not only the name of the case but the firm concerned. ...”

16.2 Urgent Consideration – Form N463

- 16.2.1 Where the circumstances of the case require urgent consideration of the application for permission to apply for judicial review and/or any interim relief (which is not so urgent that it has been sought pre-action, but still sufficiently urgent that the Court is being asked to deal with it within a shortened timeframe), the Claimant may apply for urgent consideration at the same time as issuing the claim form.¹⁵³ These situations will generally be those where some irreversible action will take place if the Court does not act to prevent it, or where an expedited judicial review is required.
- 16.2.2 The claimant must complete form N463, providing the following information (which is required to be inserted in the relevant boxes on that form):
- 16.2.2.1 The circumstances giving rise to the urgency. If the form is filed only shortly before the end of the working day, an explanation should also be provided as to why the application was not made earlier in the day;
 - 16.2.2.2 The timescale sought for the consideration of the application;
 - 16.2.2.3 The date by which any substantive hearing should take place;
 - 16.2.2.4 Efforts taken to put the defendant on notice of the application for urgent consideration;
 - 16.2.2.5 The grounds on which any interim order is sought.
- 16.2.3 A draft of the order sought should be attached which sets out the relief sought and any directions for an expedited hearing.
- 16.2.4 The full claim papers (see chapter 6 of this Guide on starting proceedings, ie claim form and required supporting documents) must be filed alongside the urgent application. Where the application for urgent consideration is filed at the same time as the claim papers there is no additional fee for the urgent application, it is covered by the fee to start proceedings.
- 16.2.5 The claimant should serve the claim papers and the Form N463 with supporting documentation on the defendant and interested parties, advising them of the application and that they may make representations.

¹⁵³ Practice Statement (Administrative Court: Listing and Urgent Cases) [2002] 1 W.L.R. 810

- 16.2.6 The Administrative Court Office will have a judge available to consider any urgent application received between 10am and 4pm (4.30pm in London), Monday to Friday, excluding public holidays (See CPR PD 2A, paragraph 2.1). The judge may either make an order based on the papers alone or order that the application (or part of it) be dealt with at a hearing in Court (see paragraph 13.2.3 for listing of such hearings). In appropriate situations the Master or an ACO lawyer may consider the application and request further information or make an order.
- 16.2.7 It is not appropriate for any urgent application arising in relation to a judicial review to be put before the judge in charge of the interim applications Court ('Court 37'). The Administrative Court has a judge available to deal with immediate applications in the context of a judicial review: see paragraph 16.2.6 above. Court 37 deals with other Queen's Bench Division matters.
- 16.2.8 Wherever possible the Court will want representations from the defendant before determining the application. In cases where interim relief is sought, the Court will generally make an order allowing the defendant a short time to file written submissions before deciding the application, unless irreversible prejudice would be caused to the claimant in the meanwhile; alternatively, the judge may list the matter for a hearing on notice to the defendant (see paragraph 13.2.3 of this Guide for listing). In cases where an expedited substantive hearing is sought, the Court may abridge time for service of the defendant's acknowledgement of service and request the defendant's views on the order sought, to enable the Court to take an early view on permission and any consequential case management directions.
- 16.2.9 If the matter is put before a judge who concludes that the application was not urgent, and is suitable for disposal according to the ordinary procedures of the Court, he or she may refuse to deal with the matter on an urgent basis, and may make an adverse costs order against the applicant or his legal representatives (see paragraph 23.1 of this Guide on costs).

16.3 Out of Hours Applications

- 16.3.1 In the event that an urgent application needs to be made outside the sitting hours of the Administrative Court (see paragraph 16.2.6 of this Guide) and the application cannot wait until the sitting hours recommence, then the claimant may make the application to the out of hours High Court Judge. A High Court Judge is on call at all times to deal with very urgent applications which cannot wait until the next working day.

- 16.3.2 If a party needs to make an out of hours application to the Court, the acting barrister or solicitors should telephone 020 7947 6000¹⁵⁴ and speak to security who will take certain details for forwarding onto the Queen's Bench Division out of hours duty clerk.
- 16.3.3 The out of hours duty clerk will require the practitioner to complete the out of hours form, which can be downloaded from the Government website (http://hmctsformfinder.justice.gov.uk/HMCTS/GetForm.do?court_forms_id=3007) and emailed to QBDutyClerk@hmcts.gsi.gov.uk. (Emails must not be sent to this address unless the out of hours duty clerk has invited you to do so.)
- 16.3.4 The out of hours judge may deal with the application on paper. Alternatively, the out of hours judge may telephone the representatives acting for the claimant to enable them to make their submissions orally before deciding the application. The representatives will be required to provide a telephone number on which they can be reached. The out of hours judge may also telephone any other party to the application if he or she considers that to be appropriate (this is often done in immigration cases where the application seeks a stay on removal).
- 16.3.5 The fact that a judge is being asked to make an order out of hours, usually without a hearing, and often without any representations from the defendant's representatives and in a short time frame, means that the duty of candour (to disclose all material facts to the judge, even if they are not of assistance to the claimant's case) is particularly important, see paragraph 14.1 of this Guide.
- 16.3.6 Legal representatives must consider very carefully whether an out of hours application really is required and should only make such an application if the matter really cannot wait until the next working day.
- 16.3.7 The out of hours service is not available to litigants in person.

16.4 Pre-Action Applications

- 16.4.1 In exceptionally urgent circumstances, a person may apply, typically for interim relief, before starting judicial review proceedings. The Court may only grant a pre-action order where:

16.4.1.1 The matter is urgent; or

¹⁵⁴ As required by CPR PD 54D paragraph 4.2 and CPR PD 25A paragraph 4.5

- 16.4.1.2 It is otherwise necessary to do so in the interests of justice.¹⁵⁵
- 16.4.2 The claimant should carefully consider whether the matter is really so urgent that an application should be made before the claim is started. It is much better to apply at the same time as lodging the claim papers if that is possible: this will make it easier for the Court to understand the issues and is likely to conserve legal costs.
- 16.4.3 The claimant should always try to reach an agreement with the public authority, even for a short period, before applying for pre-action interim relief. The Court will expect to be told about such efforts and why they have not succeeded, if the matter is brought before the Court instead.
- 16.4.4 If the matter really is urgent and no short-term compromise can be reached, then the claimant can make an application for a pre-action relief by filing an application notice (N244 or PF244) with the ACO¹⁵⁶. The application must be accompanied by the relevant fee, must be supported by evidence establishing why the order is required¹⁵⁷, and should enclose a copy of the draft order. Where possible a copy of the application, evidence, and draft order should be sent to the proposed defendants and interested parties to give them notice that the application is being made.¹⁵⁸ Where the application has been made without giving notice to the other parties then the evidence supporting the application should explain why the application has been made without giving notice.¹⁵⁹
- 16.4.5 In the application notice the applicant may request the application be considered at a hearing or by a judge considering the papers. In either event, the ACO will send the papers to a judge, master, or ACO lawyer to consider in the first instance. A judicial order may be made on the papers alone if it is thought that a hearing would not be appropriate.¹⁶⁰ Otherwise, a hearing will be listed to consider the application. Such a hearing is usually listed at short notice.
- 16.4.6 Wherever possible the Court will want representations from the defendant before determining any application made in advance of issuing the claim form. Unless, by not granting that order, irreversible prejudice would be ¹⁵⁵ CPR 25.2(2)(b).

¹⁵⁶ CPR 23.3(1)

¹⁵⁷ CPR 25.3(2)

¹⁵⁸ CPR 23.4(1)

¹⁵⁹ CPR 25.3(3)

¹⁶⁰ CPR 23.8(c)

caused to the claimant, the Court will generally make an order allowing the defendant a short time period to file written representations or the Court will direct that the application should be dealt with at a hearing listed with notice being provided to the defendant.

- 16.4.7 The claimant will usually be required to undertake to file a claim form and grounds of claim, usually within a short period, or, if no satisfactory undertaking is offered, will be directed by the Court to do so.¹⁶¹

16.5 Abuse of the Procedures for Urgent Consideration

- 16.5.1 Where an application for urgent consideration or an out of hours application is made which does not comply with this Guide and/or it is manifestly inappropriate, the Court may make a wasted costs order or some other adverse costs order (see paragraphs 23.1 and 23.12 of this Guide respectively).¹⁶²

- 16.5.2 In R. (Hamid) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2012] EWHC 3070 (Admin) (see paragraph 16.1.4 above) the Court held that where urgent applications are made improperly the Court may summon the legal representative to Court to explain his or her actions and would consider referring that person, or their supervising partner (if different) to the relevant regulator. Examples (but not an exhaustive list) of applications which have been held to be inappropriate under the Hamid rule are:

16.5.2.1 The claimant's solicitor had delayed making the urgent application until the last minute and had not disclosed the full facts of the case in an attempt to use the urgent process to prevent his client's removal from the UK.¹⁶³

16.5.2.2 The claimant's solicitor requested urgent interim relief against a decision that had been made three years earlier.¹⁶⁴

16.5.2.3 A practitioner advanced arguments that his client was suicidal and psychotic when they knew or ought to have known were false and/or inconsistent with their own medical evidence.¹⁶⁵

¹⁶¹ CPR 25.2(3)

¹⁶² Practice Statement (Administrative Court: Listing and Urgent Cases) [2002] 1 W.L.R. 810 at 811

¹⁶³ R. (Hamid) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2012] EWHC 3070 (Admin)

¹⁶⁴ R. (Butt) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2014] EWHC 264 (Admin)

¹⁶⁵ R (Okondu) v Secretary of State for the Home Department (wasted costs; SRA referrals; Hamid) IJR [2014] UKUT 377 (IAC)

- 16.5.2.4 A practitioner lodged an application with grounds that were opaque and brief and failed to set out any of the claimant's history of criminality.¹⁶⁶
- 16.5.3 Practitioners should be aware that the Court can identify those who are responsible for abusing the Court's processes by making adverse costs orders (see paragraph 23.1 of this Guide) or by activating the Hamid procedure outlined above which may lead to those practitioners being disciplined by their Regulator. Also see paragraph 12.10 of this Guide on abuse of the Court's process.

¹⁶⁶ R (Okondu) v Secretary of State for the Home Department (wasted costs; SRA referrals; Hamid) IJR [2014] UKUT 377 (IAC)

17. Skeleton Arguments

17.1 General

- 17.1.1 A skeleton argument is a written document setting out a summary of the party's arguments in the case.
- 17.1.2 The rules require each party to prepare a skeleton argument before any substantive hearing.
- 17.1.3 Parties should also prepare skeleton arguments before any interim hearing in the course of a judicial review (including any hearing for interim relief or directions), even where the issue is straightforward.

17.2 Content of Skeleton Argument

- 17.2.1 The skeleton argument must include the following:¹⁶⁷
 - 17.2.1.1 A time estimate for the complete hearing, including delivery of judgment.
 - 17.2.1.2 A list of issues.
 - 17.2.1.3 A list of the legal points to be taken (together with any relevant authorities with page references to the passages relied on)
 - 17.2.1.4 A chronology of events with page references to the bundle of documents.
 - 17.2.1.5 A list of essential documents for the advance reading of the Court (with page references to the passages relied on);
 - 17.2.1.6 A time estimate for the advance reading suggested; and
 - 17.2.1.7 A list of persons referred to in the claim.
- 17.2.2 It is helpful if the skeleton argument sets out the points to be made as clearly and as concisely as possible. Ideally, the skeleton argument should be in the following form:

¹⁶⁷ CPR PD 54A paragraph 15.3

- 17.2.2.1 The decision under challenge should be clearly identified, or the relevant failure to make a decision if that is what is under challenge.
- 17.2.2.2 The relevant facts should be summarised including any relevant change of facts or circumstances since the claim form and supporting documentation were lodged.
- 17.2.2.3 The grounds for seeking judicial review (or interim relief, or any other order) should be set out under numbered headings.
- 17.2.2.4 Relevant legal principles should be set out. Lengthy extracts from EU Directives, international Conventions, statutes, case law and other sources should be avoided if possible. It is much more helpful to the Court if the skeleton states the proposition of law which the party contends for, and then refers to the source of or authority for that proposition, with short extracts quoted if that is appropriate. It is not usually necessary or helpful to cite more than one case in support of each proposition of law.
- 17.2.2.5 The remedy sought should be identified.
- 17.2.2.6 Any urgency, other matter relevant to the timing of the case, and any other relevant point, such as alternative remedy, should be identified.

17.3 Format of Skeleton Argument

- 17.3.1 A skeleton argument should be clearly typed and properly spaced. A font style of not less than 11-point should be used, and lines should be reasonably spaced (1.5 or double spacing is ideal).
- 17.3.2 Paragraphs should be numbered sequentially.
- 17.3.3 Pages should be numbered. It is rarely necessary for skeleton arguments to be any longer than 20 pages in length.

17.4 Method of Service

- 17.4.1 Skeleton arguments may be lodged with the Court by email on the relevant email address set out in annex 1 so long as they do not exceed the maximum which the appropriate court office has indicated it can accept by email (see paragraph 6.7 of this Guide).¹⁶⁸ Otherwise, they should be lodged at the Court in hard copy. However, service by email is encouraged, wherever possible, and is likely to be of greatest assistance to the Court.

- 17.4.2 Skeleton arguments should always be served on the other party or parties to the case, whether or not that party is in a position to provide a skeleton by way of exchange.

17.5 Timing of Service of Skeleton Arguments

- 17.5.1 Skeleton arguments must be served in good time before any hearing.

- 17.5.2 That means that the skeleton argument must be served on or before the date set by the Court, if directions are in place. The standard direction usually ordered by the Court for substantive hearings is that the claimant's skeleton argument is to be filed with the Court and served on the other parties not less than 21 days before the date of the hearing of the claim, and the defendant's skeleton argument is to be filed with the Court and served on the other parties not less than 14 days before the hearing date. (But see paragraph 9.1.4 of this Guide for computation of time for service of skeleton arguments.)

- 17.5.3 These standard directions may be varied by the Court, in which case the parties must comply with those specific directions.

- 17.5.4 For all other hearings where there are no standard directions (for example, hearings for renewal of permission), and in the absence of specific directions, skeleton arguments should be served at least 2 working days before the hearing is listed. If there is or may be a problem with compliance with that deadline, the ACO should be alerted as soon as possible.

- 17.5.5 Failure to lodge a skeleton argument in good time before the hearing may result in the Court having insufficient time to read the skeleton before the hearing which may lead to the hearing being adjourned and/or a costs sanction being imposed on the party in default.

17.6 Sanction for Non-Compliance

- 17.6.1 If the skeleton argument does not comply with this guidance, or is served late, the Court may refuse to permit the party in default to rely on the skeleton; alternatively, the Court make an adverse costs order against the party in default (see paragraph 23.1 of this Guide on costs).

¹⁶⁸ CPR PD5B, paragraph 2.2(b)

18. Documents

18.1 Bundles for Substantive Hearings

- 18.1.1 The rules require the claimant to file a bundle of documents at the same time as the claimant files his or her skeleton argument for the substantive hearing.¹⁶⁹ The bundle of documents should contain all relevant documents, including any documents required to be included by the defendant and any other party who is to make representations at the hearing.
- 18.1.2 The Court expects, therefore, to have a joint bundle of documents for the judicial review which includes all the documents to which any party present at the hearing will refer. The Court does not expect to have documents handed up to it during the course of the hearing, save in exceptional circumstances (and always subject to the Court's permission to adduce documents or evidence in that way).

18.2 Other Hearings

- 18.2.1 In some instances, there will be no directions about the production of bundles (for example, where an urgent application is made by one party), but that party should still make sure that all relevant documents are before the Court. Any bundle containing documents which are to be put before the Court should be served on the Court and the other party or parties in good time before the hearing.
- 18.2.2 Good time means at least three clear days before most ordinary hearings.
- 18.2.3 If the matter is urgent, the bundle should be served on the Court and the other party or parties no later than 1pm on the day before the hearing.

18.3 Format of Court Bundles

- 18.3.1 Any collection of documents to go before the Court is a 'bundle'. Bundles should ideally be secured in files which are sufficiently large to accommodate the documents contained in them. The pages should be numbered sequentially and indexed.

¹⁶⁹ 54APD.16

- 18.3.2 The bundle spines should be clearly marked with the reference number of the case and name of the parties.
- 18.3.3 Photocopying should be 2-sided in portrait format (not landscape).
- 18.3.4 Photocopies must be legible.
- 18.3.5 Documents should be presented in chronological order.
- 18.3.6 In cases where the documents are extensive (as a guideline, more than 500 pages), the parties should endeavour to agree a 'core bundle' of key documents. In those cases, consideration should be given to including only the important and relevant parts of a long document in the Court bundle and not copying the whole of that document.
- 18.3.7 The judge may refuse to read a bundle which does not comply with these requirements, or direct that a revised bundle is submitted which does comply, in which event the judge may disallow the costs of preparing the bundle or make a different adverse costs order.

18.4 Timing of Lodging of Trial Bundles

- 18.4.1 Trial bundles must be lodged in good time before any hearing.
- 18.4.2 That means that the trial bundle must be lodged on or before the date set by the Court if directions are in place. The direction usually ordered by the Court for substantive hearings is that the trial bundle must be filed and served not less than 4 weeks before the date of the hearing.
- 18.4.3 For substantive hearings, where there are no direction, trial bundles must be lodged when the claimant is due to lodge a skeleton argument (see paragraph 9.1.4.5 of this Guide for more detail) For all other hearings, or where there are no specific directions in place, any documents must be filed at Court as soon as possible and in good time before the hearing.
- 18.4.4 Any unavoidable submission of late bundles should clearly state the date of the hearing on the bundles. The bundles should be accompanied by a letter to the ACO setting out the reasons for late submission. Failure to make it clear that the bundles relate to an imminent hearing may result in the bundles not being placed before the judge in advance of the hearing.

18.5 Sanction for Non-Compliance

- 18.5.1 If the trial bundle or bundle of documents does not comply with this guidance, or is served late, the Court may refuse to allow the party in default to rely on the bundle of documents; alternatively, it may make an adverse costs order against the party in default (see paragraph 23.1 of this Guide on costs).

19. Authorities

19.1 General

- 19.1.1 Parties are encouraged to limit the number of authorities (ie cases) cited, to those which are really necessary for the fair disposal of the claim, and which establish the particular principle of law contended for. In most cases, it is unnecessary to adduce more than 10 authorities, and some cases will require fewer, if any, authorities.
- 19.1.2 Where extensive authorities are cited, it is preferable to agree a core bundle of authorities, itself not exceeding 10 authorities.

19.2 Format of Authorities Bundles

- 19.2.1 Bundles of authorities should be paginated or tabbed, and indexed.
- 19.2.2 Photocopying should be 2-sided in portrait format (not landscape).
- 19.2.3 Copies should be legible.
- 19.2.4 Authorities which have been reported should be produced in their reported form. Transcripts are only acceptable where the case has not been reported.

19.3 Agreement of Contents, and Service of Authorities Bundles

- 19.3.1 A party should always notify the other party or parties of any authorities on which he or she intends to rely at the hearing, in good time before the hearing, and ensure that copies of those authorities are available for that party at the hearing.
- 19.3.2 The Court will usually give directions for a joint bundle of authorities to be filed in advance of any substantive hearing. But if there are no such directions in place, the parties are required to work together to arrive at a joint list of authorities, and to ensure that a bundle of those authorities is filed at Court in good time before any hearing. If agreement cannot be reached, separate bundles will have to be filed by each party in which event there should be no duplication in the two sets of bundles.
- 19.3.3 All authorities on which the parties intend to rely at the substantive hearing should be included in the bundles of authorities, even if those authorities were filed at Court with the Claim Form, Acknowledgement of Service or

Detailed Grounds. The Court will not necessarily have the permission or earlier bundles available at the substantive hearing.

19.4 Sanction for Non-Compliance

- 19.4.1 If the bundle of authorities does not comply with this guidance, or is served late, the Court may refuse to allow the party in default to rely on those authorities, may require the bundle to be adjusted to meet the Court's requirements, and/or may make an adverse costs order against the party in default (see paragraph 23.1 of this Guide on costs).

20. Evidence

20.1 Witness Evidence

- 20.1.1 Witness statements must comply with Court rules¹⁷⁰. Specifically, they must
- 20.1.1.1 Be in the witness' own words;
 - 20.1.1.2 State that person's full name and address;
 - 20.1.1.3 State which of the statements in it are made from the witness' own knowledge, and which are matters of information or belief (also stating what is the source of matters of information or belief);
 - 20.1.1.4 Be produced on A4 paper, and legible, with numbered pages and paragraphs.
- 20.1.2 Witness statements must include a statement of truth in the following terms: "I believe that the facts stated in this witness statement are true". The witness must not sign that statement of truth unless he or she holds an honest belief in the truth of the statements made in the witness statement.
- 20.1.3 Proceedings for contempt of Court may be brought against a person if he or she makes or causes to be made a false statement in a document verified by a statement of truth, without an honest belief in its truth.¹⁷¹
- 20.1.4 In judicial review proceedings, it is rare for a witness to be called to give oral evidence: see paragraph 10.2 of this Guide.

20.2 Expert evidence

- 20.2.1 Sometimes a party will wish to rely on expert evidence to advance its case although this is unusual in judicial review.
- 20.2.2 Expert evidence must be restricted to that which is reasonably required to resolve the proceedings.¹⁷²

¹⁷⁰ CPR PD32.17-25

¹⁷¹ CPR 32.14

¹⁷² CPR 35.1

20.2.3 Experts owe an overriding duty to the Court. It is the duty of an expert to help the Court on matters which are within their expertise. That duty overrides any obligation owed to the person from whom the expert received instructions or by whom the expert was paid.¹⁷³

¹⁷³ CPR 35.3

21. Sanctions

21.1 Overview

21.1.1 The Court has at its disposal various means to enforce compliance with the CPR, Practice Directions and rules. The following is a summary. Details of the various means, and when they may be used, are set out elsewhere in this Guide.

21.2 Costs Sanctions

21.2.1 So far as costs sanctions are concerned, the Court has a discretion on whether to award costs to or against a party. The Court can sanction non-compliance by ordering the party in default to pay the other side's costs, or by disallowing the costs by the party in default even if that party is successful in the claim (see paragraph 23.1 of this Guide).

21.2.2 The Court can make a wasted costs order in appropriate circumstances, if the non-compliance has been the fault of the party's legal representatives. A wasted costs order falls to be paid by those legal representatives (see paragraph 23.12 of this Guide).

21.2.3 If the Court does make a costs order in favour of one of the parties, the Court can order that costs should be paid on the 'indemnity' basis, which means that in quantifying those costs, the party in whose favour the order has been made gets the benefit of the doubt on any question going to the reasonableness or proportionality of those costs (see paragraph 23.2.4 of this Guide).

21.3 Procedural Sanctions

21.3.1 If Court documents are filed out of time according to the Court's directions, that party must file an application for an extension of time. The Court will only grant that extension if it is satisfied that it is appropriate to do so, according to the rules (see paragraphs 12.7 and 12.9 of this Guide)

21.3.2 If no extension of time is granted, the party in default will not be able to rely on the late-filed documents, and that may be to that party's disadvantage. If the Court does grant an extension of time, it may be on the basis that the party in default should pay some or all of the other party's costs (see paragraph 23.1 of this Guide).

21.3.3 If there are no directions in place relating to the serving and filing of documents, but nonetheless documents are filed late (for example a skeleton argument on an application for directions), then the Court may refuse to consider those documents, which may disadvantage the party which seeks to rely on them (see, for example, paragraphs 17.5 and 18.4 of this Guide).

21.4 Other Sanctions

21.4.1 The Court can summon before it professional representatives who appear to have abused the procedure for urgent consideration pursuant to Hamid, and if not satisfied of the explanation given, may refer those professional representatives to their disciplinary body with a view to further action being taken (see paragraph 16.5 of this Guide).

Part D: Ending the Claim

22. Ending a Claim

22.1 Introduction

Once a claim has been started then there are a set number of ways to end the claim. They broadly fit into three categories: where the case is determined by the Court, where the case is discontinued and where the case is settled by consent. A claim cannot be ended by simply writing to the Court asking to withdraw the claim.

22.2 Determined by the Court

Where the Court makes a final determination, and produces a Court order, the case will have concluded in the Administrative Court (subject only to an appeal to the Court of Appeal, see CPR Part 52 and chapter 26 of this Guide). Such a determination will generally be one of the following:

- 22.2.1 Permission to apply for judicial review is refused (either at an oral hearing or on the papers where the claim is held to be totally without merit or reconsideration is not requested).
- 22.2.2 The substantive claim is dismissed.
- 22.2.3 The substantive claim is allowed.

22.3 Discontinuance

- 22.3.1 A case may be ended by discontinuing the claim, which may be done at any point in the proceedings.¹⁷⁴
- 22.3.2 Discontinuance requires the claimant to file a notice of discontinuance (form N279) and serve it on all parties.¹⁷⁵ There is no Court fee payable when discontinuing.
- 22.3.3 The claimant may discontinue the claim in relation to all or some of the parties.¹⁷⁶

¹⁷⁴ CPR 38.2(1)

¹⁷⁵ CPR 38.3(1)

¹⁷⁶ CPR 38.2(3)

- 22.3.4 The Court's permission is required to discontinue where the claimant has obtained an interim injunction¹⁷⁷ or any party has given an undertaking to the Court.¹⁷⁸ This can be done by filing the notice of discontinuance, referring to the fact that permission is required, and the ACO will forward the notice to a judge to give permission without a hearing (unless the judge orders a hearing and representations). In other cases, permission is not required.
- 22.3.5 The discontinuance will take effect from the date on which the notice of discontinuance is served on the defendant(s).¹⁷⁹
- 22.3.6 By filing a notice of discontinuance the claimant accepts that he/she is liable for the defendant's costs up until that date¹⁸⁰ and a costs order will be deemed to have been made on the standard basis¹⁸¹ (see paragraph 23.2.3 of this Guide).¹⁸² The claimant may apply to reverse the general rule that they are liable for costs and /or may claim their costs. Any such application must demonstrate a good reason for departing from the general rule. A good reason will normally exist if the Defendant has behaved unreasonably. Any such application must be made in accordance with the interim applications procedure (see paragraph 12.7 of this Guide).

22.4 Consent Orders and Uncontested Proceedings

- 22.4.1 Subject to the approval of the Court, the parties may agree to end the claim by filing two copies of a draft, agreed order with the ACO, accompanied by the relevant fee.¹⁸³ The Court will only approve the order if it is satisfied that the order should be made; if not so satisfied, the Court may make any further or different order which it considers to be appropriate.

¹⁷⁷ CPR 38.2(2)(i)

¹⁷⁸ CPR 38.2(2)(ii)

¹⁷⁹ CPR 38.5(1)

¹⁸⁰ CPR 38.6(1)

¹⁸¹ CPR 44.9(1)(c)

¹⁸² CPR 44.3(2)(a)

¹⁸³ CPR PD 54A paragraph 17

- 22.4.2 The terms of the order can include anything that the parties wish the Court to approve, but will generally include the following:
- 22.4.2.1 The draft order must note (often in the header to the order as well as in the recitals) that the order is made 'By Consent'.¹⁸⁴
 - 22.4.2.2 The draft order must be signed by the legal representative for every party to the claim (including interested parties), or by the party themselves where they are acting in person.¹⁸⁵
 - 22.4.2.3 Where the claim has been finally determined the consent order must detail the manner of determination, which includes:
 - 22.4.2.3.1 The claim is 'withdrawn'. The effect of this is to leave the challenged decision in place (unless the defendant has voluntarily withdrawn the decision, thus removing the claimant's need to obtain the relief of the Court).
 - 22.4.2.3.2 The parties agree that the decision challenged should be quashed (see paragraph 11.3 of this Guide). Where the parties do agree that the order should be quashed they must also supply a schedule to the consent order detailing the reasons, including legal provisions, outlining why the decision should be quashed.¹⁸⁶
- 22.4.3 The consent order should make provision for determining costs, otherwise a deemed costs order will apply (see paragraph 23.7 of this Guide for deemed costs orders). This is generally done in one of three ways:
- 22.4.3.1 By providing for an agreed, set sum to be paid between the parties.
 - 22.4.3.2 By allowing the parties to agree the quantum of costs after the consent order has been finalised, with a fallback option of applying for detailed assessment of costs, for example – the Claimant is to pay the Defendant's reasonable costs, to be subject to detailed assessment if not agreed (see paragraph 23.3.4 of this Guide for detailed assessment).

¹⁸⁴ CPR 40.6(7)(b)

¹⁸⁵ CPR 40.6(7)(c)

¹⁸⁶ Paragraph 1 of the Practice Direction (Administrative Court: Uncontested Proceedings) [2008] 1 W.L.R. 1377

- 22.4.3.3 By making provision for summary assessment of costs on the papers. Such a provision should follow the ACO Costs Guidance, which is outlined at paragraph 23.5 of this Guide.

22.5 Settlements on behalf of Children and Protected Parties

- 22.5.1 Where a claim is made by or on behalf of, or against, a child or a protected party¹⁸⁷ no settlement, compromise or payment and no acceptance of money paid into Court shall be valid without the approval of the Court.¹⁸⁸
- 22.5.2 To obtain the Court's approval, an application must be made in accordance with the procedure described at paragraph 12.7 of this Guide.

22.6 Other Points of Practice

- 22.6.1 The parties have an obligation to inform the Court if they believe that a case is likely to settle as soon as they become aware of the possibility of settlement.¹⁸⁹ Such information allows judges and staff to allocate preparation time and hearing time accordingly. Failure to do so may result in the Court making an adverse costs order against the parties (see paragraph 23.1 of this Guide for costs).
- 22.6.2 When a case is closed by the ACO the file may be immediately reduced in size for storage (or 'broken up'). Particulars of claim and witness statements are retained on the closed file but all exhibits, written evidence, and authorities are confidentially destroyed. The reduced file is retained for three years after the case is closed before it too is confidentially destroyed. If the parties believe there is a need to keep fuller papers on file, or would like full bundles returned to them once the case has been closed, then they should inform the ACO before the case is closed.

¹⁸⁷ CPR 21.1

¹⁸⁸ CPR 21.10

¹⁸⁹ Yell Ltd v Garton [2004] C.P. Rep. 29

23. Costs

23.1 Liability for Costs

- 23.1.1 The Court has a discretion as to whether costs are payable by one party to another.¹⁹⁰ There are provisions which guide this discretion.
- 23.1.2 Where the Court decides to make an order for costs, the general rule is that the unsuccessful party will be ordered to pay the costs of the successful party, subject to the abovementioned discretion of the Court.¹⁹¹
- 23.1.3 In deciding whether to make an order contrary to the general rule, the Court must have regard to all the circumstances of the case, including the conduct of the parties and whether a party has succeeded on part of his or her case even if he/she has not been wholly successful.
- 23.1.4 The conduct of the parties includes (but is not limited to):¹⁹²
- 23.1.4.1 Conduct before as well as during the proceedings, and in particular the extent to which the parties followed the pre-action Protocol (see paragraph 5.2 of this Guide).
 - 23.1.4.2 Whether it was reasonable for a party to raise, pursue or contest a particular allegation or issue.
 - 23.1.4.3 The manner in which a party has pursued or defended his/her case and whether he/she has wholly or partly exaggerated his claim.
- 23.1.5 As a result of the provisions above, where a party has failed to comply with orders of the Court or other procedural rules (such as those outlined in this Guide) the Court may reduce the amount of costs to which a successful party would normally be entitled. Further, in such a scenario, a liable party may be required to pay more than would normally be considered to be reasonable had the breach of the provision not occurred.
- 23.1.6 Liability to pay costs is not necessarily an all or nothing decision and a judge may require one party to pay a percentage of the other party's costs,

¹⁹⁰ s.51(1) of the Senior Courts Act 1981 and CPR 44.2(1)

¹⁹¹ CPR 44.2(2)(a) and R. (M) v Croydon London Borough Council [2012] 1 W.L.R. 2607, at paragraphs 58 – 65

¹⁹² R (KR) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2012] EWCA Civ 1555

thus deciding that the losing party is, for example, liable to pay 80% of the other party's costs.

- 23.1.7 The Court does not generally order an unsuccessful claimant to pay two sets of costs (typically the costs incurred by the defendant and an interested party), although the Court may order two sets of costs to be paid where the defendant and the interested party deal with separate issues, or have different interests and so require separate representation.¹⁹³ The Court may order an unsuccessful claimant to pay two sets of costs of preparing Acknowledgements of Service.¹⁹⁴

23.2 Reasonable Costs and the Basis of the Assessment

- 23.2.1 The Court will not allow costs which have been unreasonably incurred or are unreasonable in amount.¹⁹⁵ In determining if costs are reasonable the Court will have regard to all the circumstances of the case.¹⁹⁶

- 23.2.2 The basis of the assessment is important when determining whether the costs claimed are reasonable. In determining the basis of the assessment the Court has two options; the standard basis or on an indemnity basis.

23.2.3 The Standard Basis

- 23.2.3.1 Most costs orders are made on the standard basis. Where a Court is silent as to the basis on which it is assessing costs, the presumption is that assessment is on the standard basis.¹⁹⁷

- 23.2.3.2 Where the amount of costs is to be assessed on the standard basis, the Court will only allow costs which are proportionate to the matters in issue. Where there is doubt as to whether costs were reasonable and proportionate in amount the Court will determine the question in favour of the paying party.¹⁹⁸ Costs incurred are proportionate¹⁹⁹ if they bear a reasonable relationship to:

¹⁹³ See Bolton MDC v Secretary of State for the Environment [1995] 1 WLR 1176)

¹⁹⁴ See R (Luton Borough Council) v Central Bedfordshire Council [2014] EWHC 4325 (Admin).

¹⁹⁵ CPR 44.3(1)

¹⁹⁶ CPR 44.4(1)

¹⁹⁷ CPR 44.3(4)(a)

¹⁹⁸ CPR 44.3(2)

¹⁹⁹ According to CPR 44.3(5)

- 23.2.3.2.1 The sums in issue in the proceedings;
- 23.2.3.2.2 The value of any non-monetary relief in issue in the proceedings;
- 23.2.3.2.3 The complexity of the litigation;
- 23.2.3.2.4 Any additional work generated by the conduct of the paying party; and
- 23.2.3.2.5 Any wider factors involved in the proceedings, such as reputation or public importance.

23.2.4 The Indemnity Basis

- 23.2.4.1 This basis is reserved as a sanction. The Court will apply indemnity costs in those cases where the losing party has acted unreasonably in bringing or maintaining the claim or in any other way.
- 23.2.4.2 Where the amount of costs is to be assessed on an indemnity basis, the Court will resolve any doubt which it may have as to whether costs were reasonably incurred or were reasonable in amount in favour of the receiving party.²⁰⁰ There is no requirement that the costs be proportionate, as appears in the standard basis assessment.

23.3 Manner of Assessment and Potential Costs Orders

- 23.3.1 Where the Court orders a party to pay costs to another party, it may either make a summary assessment of the costs or order detailed assessment of the costs.²⁰¹
- 23.3.2 Where the Court does not proceed to summary assessment and does not mention the manner of assessment in a costs order then the costs order is presumed to order detailed assessment.²⁰²

²⁰⁰ CPR 44.3(3)

²⁰¹ CPR 44.6(1)

²⁰² CPR PD 44 paragraph 8.2

23.3.3 Summary Assessment

- 23.3.3.1 Summary assessment involves a judge determining the amount of costs payable by the liable party. The judge will then make an order for the amount of costs to be paid, for example: The Claimant is to pay the Defendant's costs in the sum of £5,000.
- 23.3.3.2 The parties must lodge a statement of costs not less than 24 hours before the hearing at which costs will be assessed or with the papers where an application is to be determined without a hearing (unless a judge has ordered a different timescale).²⁰³
- 23.3.3.3 The Court is not entitled to summarily assess the costs of a receiving party who is a child or protected party unless the legal representative acting for the child or protected party has waived the right to further costs.²⁰⁴
- 23.3.3.4 Unless a judge orders otherwise, any costs order must be complied with within 14 days of the costs order,²⁰⁵ although the parties may vary this time limit and agree their own payment terms without seeking the agreement of the Court.

23.3.4 Detailed Assessment

- 23.3.4.1 Detailed assessment involves a costs judge considering the claim for costs in accordance with the procedure in CPR Part 47. An outline of the procedure can be found in the Senior Courts Costs Office Guide, which can be found online at the following website; <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/senior-courts-costs-office-guide>.
- 23.3.4.2 Where detailed assessment has been ordered by the Administrative Court in London, the application for detailed assessment of costs must be started at the Senior Courts Costs Office in London.
- 23.3.4.3 Where detailed assessment has been ordered by any of the Administrative Courts outside of London, the application for detailed assessment of costs must be started in the District Registry associated with the relevant ACO. For example, a judicial review determined by the Administrative Court in Cardiff

²⁰³ CPR PD 44 paragraph 9.5(4)(b)

²⁰⁴ CPR PD 44 paragraph 9.9

²⁰⁵ CPR 44.7(1)(a)

would result in any detailed costs assessment being started in the District Registry in Cardiff Civil Justice Centre.²⁰⁶ Western Circuit cases administered by the ACO in Cardiff but heard on the Western Circuit must also be lodged in the District Registry in Cardiff.

- 23.3.4.4 It should be noted that detailed assessment proceedings cease to be Administrative Court proceedings and a new case number will be assigned to the proceedings. The ACO will not have any further involvement with the case.

23.4 Costs at the Permission Stage

- 23.4.1 There is a discrete procedure on applying for and considering costs when a judge is considering permission to apply for judicial review, although this procedure may be varied by judicial order:²⁰⁷
- 23.4.1.1 If permission has not been granted, either on the papers or at an oral hearing, then the claimant's costs are deemed to be costs in the case, and the question of whether the claimant will be able to recover those costs will depend on the outcome of the case.
 - 23.4.1.2 Where a proposed defendant or interested party wishes to seek costs at the permission stage, the acknowledgement of service should include an application for costs and should be accompanied by a schedule setting out the amount claimed;
 - 23.4.1.3 The judge, if refusing permission on the papers, should include in the refusal a decision whether to award costs in principle, and an indication of the amount which he/she proposes to assess summarily.
 - 23.4.1.4 The claimant should be given 14 days to respond in writing and should serve a copy on the defendant.
 - 23.4.1.5 The defendant will normally have 7 days to reply in writing to any such response, and to the amount proposed by the judge;
 - 23.4.1.6 The judge will then decide and make an award on the papers.
 - 23.4.1.7 In the event that the claimant requests an oral hearing for reconsideration of refusal of permission, the Court at that hearing may also consider the question of costs of the permission stage.

²⁰⁶ Public Services Ombudsman for Wales v Heesom [2015] EWHC 3306 (QB)

²⁰⁷ R. (Ewing) v Office of the Deputy Prime Minister[2006] 1 W.L.R. 1260

- 23.4.2 If permission to apply for judicial review is refused there are additional principles which the Court will generally apply:²⁰⁸
- 23.4.2.1 A successful defendant or other party at the permission stage who has filed an acknowledgment of service should generally recover the costs of doing so from the claimant, whether or not they attend any permission hearing.
 - 23.4.2.2 A defendant or other party who attends and successfully resists the grant of permission at a renewal hearing should not generally recover from the claimant the costs of attending, but will still be entitled to the costs of preparing the acknowledgment of service.²⁰⁹
 - 23.4.2.3 A Court, in considering an award of costs against an unsuccessful claimant at a permission hearing, should only depart from the general principles above if it is considered that there are exceptional circumstances for doing so.
 - 23.4.2.4 Exceptional circumstances may consist in the presence of one or more of the features in the following non-exhaustive list:
 - 23.4.2.4.1 The hopelessness of the claim.
 - 23.4.2.4.2 The persistence in it by the claimant after having been alerted to facts and/or of the law demonstrating its hopelessness.
 - 23.4.2.4.3 The extent to which the Court considers that the claimant, in the pursuit of his application, has sought to abuse the process of judicial review (see paragraph 12.10.3 of this Guide for examples of abuse of process).
 - 23.4.2.4.4 Whether, as a result of the deployment of full argument and documentary evidence by both sides at the hearing, the unsuccessful claimant has had, in effect, the advantage of an early substantive hearing of the claim.
 - 23.4.2.4.5 Whether the unsuccessful claimant has substantial resources which it has used to pursue the unfounded claim and which are available to meet an order for costs.

²⁰⁸ R. (Mount Cook Land Ltd) v Westminster City Council [2004] C.P. Rep. 12

²⁰⁹ See R (Davey) v Aylesbury Vale DC (Practice Note) [2008] 1 WLR 878

23.4.2.4.6 Whether the permission was refused at a rolled up hearing, in which event the defendant, who has prepared for a substantive hearing, may be awarded costs.

23.5 Costs After Settling

23.5.1 The onus lies on the parties to reach agreement on costs wherever possible and in advance of asking the Court to resolve costs, in order to support the overriding objective and ensure that efficient use is made of Court time. The parties should not, therefore, make submissions to the Court on costs following a compromise of proceedings without first seeking to agree costs through reasoned negotiation, mindful of the overriding objective to the CPR, the amount of costs actually at stake, and the principles set out in M v Croydon [2012] EWCA Civ 595, paragraphs 59-63.

23.5.2 Where a claim has settled (see paragraph 22.4 of this Guide) but the parties have been unable to agree costs, the parties may use the procedure for assessing costs outlined in the ACO Costs Guidance (<http://www.justice.gov.uk/courts/rcj-rolls-building/administrative-court/applying-for-judicial-review>).

23.5.3 The costs section of the consent order should state:

23.5.3.1 Within 28 days of the order, the defendant may file with the Court and serve on all other parties, submissions as to what the appropriate costs order should be. If the defendant does not file submissions, the order will be that the defendant will pay the claimant's costs of the claim on the standard basis, to be the subject of detailed assessment if not agreed.

23.5.3.2 Where the defendant does file submissions within 28 days, the claimant or any other party may file and serve submissions within 14 days of service of those submissions. If neither the claimant nor any other party files such submissions in response, the costs order will be in the terms sought by the defendant.

23.5.3.3 Where submissions are filed by the claimant or any other party, the defendant shall have 7 days in which to file and serve a reply. The matter shall then be put before the judge for a decision on costs or further order.

- 23.5.4 In accordance with the costs guidance, the submissions must:
- 23.5.4.1 Confirm that the parties have used reasonable endeavours to negotiate a costs settlement.
 - 23.5.4.2 Identify what issues or reasons prevented the parties agreeing costs liability.
 - 23.5.4.3 State the approximate amount of costs likely to be involved in the case.
 - 23.5.4.4 Identify the extent to which the parties complied with the pre-action Protocol.
 - 23.5.4.5 State the relief the claimant sought (i) in the claim form and (ii) obtained.
 - 23.5.4.6 Address specifically how the claim and the basis of its settlement fit the principles in M v Croydon London Borough Council and Tesfay [2016] EWCA Civ 415 (see paragraph 23.5.6 below), including the relationship of any step taken by the defendant to the claim.
- 23.5.5 In accordance with the costs guidance, the submissions must be made in documentation as outlined below:
- 23.5.5.1 Submissions should be of a normal print size and should not normally exceed two A4 pages in length unless there is good reason to exceed this, which is properly explained in the submissions.
 - 23.5.5.2 Submissions should be accompanied by the pre-action Protocol correspondence (where this has not previously been included as part of the documents supporting the claim), the correspondence in which the costs claim is made and defended, along with any other correspondence necessary to demonstrate why the claim was brought in the light of the pre-action Protocol correspondence or why the step which led to settlement was not taken until after the claim was issued.
 - 23.5.5.3 Unless advised otherwise, the parties should assume that the Court has the claim papers originally lodged by the parties. Further copies of these should not be provided unless requested by the Court.

23.5.6 The following is a short summary of how the Court will consider what order on costs to make, based on M v Croydon London Borough Council and Tesfay:

23.5.6.1 Where a claimant has been wholly successful in terms of the relief sought the claimant will generally recover all his/her costs, unless there is some good reason to the contrary.

23.5.6.2 Where a claimant has only succeeded in part the judge will normally determine how reasonable the claimant was in pursuing the unsuccessful relief (the defendant has refused to adhere to the demands of the claimant but the claim has settled anyway), how important the unsuccessful relief was compared with the successful relief, and how much the costs were increased as a result of the claimant pursuing the unsuccessful relief.

23.5.6.3 Where there has been some compromise which does not actually reflect the claimant's claims the default position will generally be no order for costs. However, in some cases, the judge may look at the underlying claim and inquire whether it was tolerably clear who would have won if the matter had not settled. If it is, then that may well strongly support the contention that the party who would have won did better out of the settlement, and therefore did win.

23.6 Interveners and Costs

23.6.1 A person may apply to file evidence or make representations at a hearing²¹⁰ (see paragraph 2.2.4 of this Guide). Such a person is commonly referred to as an intervener and there are specific rules governing whether an intervener can recover its costs or be ordered to pay costs, summarised below.²¹¹

23.6.2 A relevant party, that is to say a claimant or defendant in substantive or permission judicial review proceedings,²¹² cannot be ordered to pay an intervener's costs²¹³ unless there are exceptional circumstances that make such a costs order appropriate.²¹⁴

²¹⁰ CPR 54.17

²¹¹ s.87 of the Criminal Justice and Courts Act 2015

²¹² See above, s.87(9) and (10)

²¹³ See above, s.87(3)

²¹⁴ See above, s.87(4)

23.6.3 If the Court is satisfied that any one of four conditions is met, the Court must order the intervener to pay any costs specified in an application by a claimant or defendant that the Court considers have been incurred by them as a result of the intervener's involvement in that stage of the proceedings.²¹⁵ The four conditions are:

23.6.3.1 The intervener has acted, in substance, as the sole or principal applicant, defendant, appellant or respondent.

23.6.3.2 The intervener's evidence and representations, taken as a whole, have not been of significant assistance to the Court.

23.6.3.3 A significant part of the intervener's evidence and representations relates to matters that it is not necessary for the Court to consider in order to resolve the issues that are the subject of the stage in the proceedings.

23.6.3.4 The intervener has behaved unreasonably.

23.6.4 If the intervener becomes a party, the costs provisions above no longer apply and are deemed never to have applied.²¹⁶

23.7 Orders Which Do Not Mention Costs

23.7.1 Where an order does not mention costs then a deemed costs order is presumed to have been made. There are two scenarios in the Administrative Court where deemed costs orders apply. Those two scenarios are:

23.7.1.1 Subject to paragraph 23.7.1.2 below, where an order is silent as to costs and makes no provision for how costs are to be assessed, then the Court is deemed to have ordered that there be no order for costs.²¹⁷

23.7.1.2 Where the Court makes an order granting permission to appeal, an order granting permission to apply for judicial review, or any other order or direction sought by a party on an application without notice, and its order does not mention costs, it will be deemed to include an order that the costs are in the case, and will be determined according to the outcome of the claim.²¹⁸

²¹⁵ See above, s.87(5)

²¹⁶ See above, s.87(11)

²¹⁷ CPR 44.10(1)(a)(i)

- 23.7.2 A party may apply to set aside the deemed costs order at any point.²¹⁹ Such an application must be made in accordance with the interim orders procedure (see paragraph 12.7 of this Guide).

23.8 Setting Aside Costs Orders

- 23.8.1 Save for deemed costs orders (see paragraph 23.7 above) any costs order where the parties have had the opportunity to make representations before the order was made, be that a costs order on the papers or after an oral hearing, is a final costs order.²²⁰ The Administrative Court may not set it aside or reconsider the order at a hearing. If challenged, the order must be appealed (see chapter 26 of this Guide for appeals).

23.9 Costs when the Claimant has the Benefit of Legal Aid

- 23.9.1 Costs orders can be made against persons who have the benefit of legal aid (subject to the principles discussed earlier in this section of the Guide). Where the Court does make such an order it will order that the person with the benefit of legal aid must pay the costs of the requesting party and the Court may set the amount to be paid, but the Court will note that the person with the benefit of legal aid is subject to costs protection in accordance with s.26 of the Legal Aid, Sentencing, and Punishment of Offenders Act 2012.
- 23.9.2 As a result of the costs protection, the person with the benefit of legal aid is not automatically liable for the costs. If the person awarded costs wishes to require the person with the benefit of legal aid to pay those costs they must apply for an order from the Senior Courts Costs Office or, where the costs order was made by an Administrative Court not in London, he/she must apply to the relevant associated District Registry.

23.10 Costs from Central Funds (Criminal Cases)

- 23.10.1 In judicial reviews relating to a criminal cause or matter, where a claimant is successful, a Divisional Court may make a costs order, which shall be for

²¹⁸ CPR 44.10(2)

²¹⁹ CPR 44.10(3)

²²⁰ R. (Jones) v Nottingham City Council [2009] A.C.D. 42 and R. (Bahta) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2011] C.P. Rep. 43 payment out of central funds (that is to say, it will be paid by the Ministry of Justice).²²¹

- 23.10.2 The costs order is made in such amount as the Court considers reasonably sufficient to compensate for any expenses properly incurred in the proceedings, unless the Court considers that there are circumstances that make it inappropriate to recover the full amount when the Court may order a lesser amount in a sum the Court considers just and reasonable.
- 23.10.3 The costs order may not require the payment out of central funds of an amount that includes legal costs unless those costs were incurred in proceedings in the Court below (Magistrates' Court or Crown Court on appeal against conviction or sentence).
- 23.10.4 There is no power for a single judge to order costs be paid out of central funds. Where a claimant seeks an order for costs from central funds when appearing before a single judge, the judge will adjourn the matter to be considered on the papers by a Divisional Court, constituted of the single judge who heard the case and another judge.
- 23.10.5 When making the costs order, the Court will fix the amount to be paid out of central funds in the order if it considers it appropriate to do so.²²² Where the Court does not fix the amount to be paid out of central funds in the order it must describe in the order any reduction required and the amount must be fixed by means of a determination made by or on behalf of the Court by the Senior Courts Costs Office.²²³
- 23.10.6 If the claimant has the benefit of a representation order or a legal aid certificate (see paragraph 3.5.4 of this Guide) then he/she cannot claim costs out of central funds.²²⁴
- 23.10.7 Where an order for costs from central funds has been made the claimant must forward the order to the Senior Courts Costs Office, which will arrange for payment of the amount specified.

²²¹ s16(6) and 17 of the Prosecution of Offences Act 1985

²²² See above, s.16(6C)

²²³ See above, s.16(6D)

²²⁴ See above, s.21(4A)

23.11 Costs against Courts or Tribunals

23.11.1 Where the defendant in judicial review proceedings is a Court or Tribunal the Administrative Court will generally not impose costs orders against the Court or Tribunal where the Court has not acted obstructively or improperly and only makes representations neutrally on the procedure or law applied by the lower Court. Where the Court or Tribunal contests the claim the Court or Tribunal may become liable for costs, subject to the principles discussed in this section of the Guide.²²⁵

23.12 Wasted Costs Orders

23.12.1 In appropriate cases the Court has power to order that a legal representative should pay the costs of an opposing party or that a specified sum for costs is disallowed.²²⁶ These orders are referred to as wasted costs orders.

23.12.2 A wasted costs order may be made against the receiving party's own legal representatives or against those of the paying party.²²⁷

23.12.3 An application for a wasted costs order may be made by the party who suffered the wasted costs or may be ordered of the Court's own volition.

23.12.4 When considering whether to make a wasted costs order, the Court will consider three points:²²⁸

23.12.4.1 Did the legal representative (or any employee of the representative) act improperly, unreasonably or negligently?

23.12.4.2 If so, did the conduct cause the party who incurred the costs to incur unnecessary costs or has the conduct caused costs incurred by a party prior to the conduct to be wasted?

23.12.4.3 If so, is it just in all the circumstances to order the legal representative to compensate the subject of the wasted costs for the whole or part of the relevant costs?

²²⁵ R (Davies) v Birmingham Deputy Coroner [2004] EWCA Civ 207

²²⁶ s.51(6) of the Senior Courts Act 1981 and CPR 46.8

²²⁷ Brown v Bennett [2002] 2 All ER 273

²²⁸ CPR PD 46 paragraph 5.5 and Re a Barrister (Wasted Costs Order) (No 1 of 1991) [1993] QB 293

23.12.5 The Court will give the legal representative a reasonable opportunity to make written submissions or, if the legal representative prefers, to attend a hearing before it makes such an order.²²⁹

23.12.6 Unless there is good reason otherwise, wasted costs applications should generally be considered by the Court at the end of proceedings.²³⁰

23.13 Costs where a Party is Represented Pro Bono

23.13.1 Section 194 of the Legal Services Act 2007 makes provision for the recovery of costs where the representation has been provided pro bono (free of charge to the represented party), see paragraph 3.5.5 of this Guide.²³¹ Where such an order is made, the costs awarded in favour of that party will not be payable to the party's legal representatives but to a charity, the Access to Justice Foundation.

²²⁹ CPR 46.8(2)

²³⁰ Filmlab Systems International Ltd v Pennington [1994] 4 All ER 673

²³¹ CPR 46.7

24. Protective Costs Orders and Judicial Review Costs Capping Orders

24.1 Legislative Change

24.1.1 Sections 88-90 of the Criminal Justice and Courts Act 2015 introduce a new comprehensive code for cost capping in judicial reviews, including a new form of cost capping order for judicial review (“judicial review cost capping order” or “JRCCO”)²³². The JRCCO replaces Protective Costs Orders (see below) and removes cost capping orders under CPR Part 3 from judicial review claims (see chapter 25 of this Guide for “old” style cost capping orders).

24.1.2 Sections 88-90 of the 2015 Act come into force on 8 August 2016. Accordingly, for claims issued before 8 August 2016, the old rules apply. For claims issued on or after that date, the new rules apply. Both sets of rules are outlined below.

24.2 Before 8 August 2016: Protective Costs Orders

24.2.1 A Protective Costs Order (or ‘PCO’) may take a number of forms. Frequently, the order may specify a limit on the amount that a claimant can be ordered to pay in respect of the other side’s cost if the claimant loses (e.g. the claimant’s liability for costs will be limited to £5,000). Often, that order is coupled with an order placing a limit on the amount that a claimant who is successful can recover from a defendant even if the claimant ultimately wins the case.²³³

24.3 PCO: General Principles

24.3.1 The lead case on when a PCO should be granted is R (Corner House Research) v Trade and Industry Secretary [2005] EWCA Civ 192. In Corner House the Court of Appeal stated that the following matters were relevant threshold criteria:

24.3.1.1 The issues raised must be of general public importance;

24.3.1.2 The public interest requires that those issues should be resolved;

²³² For implementation, see the Civil Procedure (Amendment No 2) Rules 2016, SI 2016/707; and see the Criminal Justice and Courts Act 2015 (Commencement No. 4 and Transitional provisions) Order 2016, SI 2016/717

- 24.3.1.3 The applicant must have no private interest in the outcome of the case;
 - 24.3.1.4 Having regard to the financial resources of the applicant and the respondent(s) and to the amount of costs that are likely to be involved, it is fair and just to make the order;
 - 24.3.1.5 If the order is not made the applicant will probably discontinue the proceedings and will be acting reasonably in so doing.
- 24.3.2 If those acting for the applicant are doing so pro bono this will be likely to enhance the merits of the application for a PCO.

24.4 PCO: Procedure

- 24.4.1 Corner House gave guidance on the appropriate procedure for applying for a PCO in the Administrative Court. The Court of Appeal confirmed the Corner House procedural principles in R (Buglife) v Thurrock Thames Gateway Development Corp [2008] EWCA Civ 1209 and clarified them. The Corner House / Buglife principles can be summarised as:
- 24.4.1.1 A PCO should, in normal circumstances, be sought on the claim form (in section 8).
 - 24.4.1.2 The application must be supported by evidence establishing the principles outlined in Corner House, and should include a schedule of the claimant's future costs of and incidental to the full judicial review application.
 - 24.4.1.3 If the defendant wishes to resist the making of the PCO, or any of the sums set out in the claimant's schedule, it should set out its reasons in the acknowledgment of service. Similarly, if the defendant wishes to request a reciprocal PCO (thus capping both parties costs), such a request should also be made in the acknowledgment of service.
 - 24.4.1.4 The claimant will be liable for the Court fee(s) for pursuing the claim, and it will also be liable for the defendant's costs incurred in a successful resistance to an application for a PCO.
 - 24.4.1.5 The judge will consider whether to make the PCO on the papers (usually alongside permission to apply for judicial review) and if he or she decides a PCO is appropriate, will decide its terms including the level of the cap on the recoverable costs.

24.4.1.6 If the judge refuses to grant the PCO and the claimant requests that his decision is reconsidered at a hearing (see paragraph xx of this Guide) the hearing should be limited to an hour and the claimant will face liability for costs if the PCO is again refused. The paper decision should only be revisited in exceptional circumstances.

24.4.1.7 The Court should not set aside a PCO unless there is an exceptional reason for doing so.

24.4.2 A PCO can be made at any time, although the above procedure is preferred to ensure that any PCO is in place at an early stage of the claim. But a party can still apply for a PCO after the claim has been started, in which the application should be made in accordance with the interim applications procedure (see paragraph 12.7 of this Guide), but taking into account the requirements above.

24.5 On or After 8 August 2016: Judicial Review Costs Capping Orders

24.5.1 Judicial Review Costs Capping Orders (“JRCCOs”) replace PCOs (see paragraphs 24.2-24.4 above). The name and procedure was changed with the coming into force of the relevant provisions in the Criminal Justice and Courts Act 2015 on 8 August 2016.²³⁴ A JRCCO may take a number of forms. The order may specify a limit on the amount that a claimant can be ordered to pay in respect of the other side’s cost if the claimant loses (e.g A costs capping order is granted. The claimant’s liability for costs will be limited to £5,000). That order must be coupled with an order placing a limit on the amount that a claimant who is successful can recover from a defendant even if the claimant ultimately wins the case (sometimes called a reciprocal costs capping order).²³⁵

24.6 JRCCOs: General Principles

24.6.1 A JRCCO may only be granted after permission to apply for judicial review has been granted (see paragraph 8.2.2 of this Guide);²³⁶

24.6.2 A JRCCO may only be applied for by a claimant, not a defendant, interested party, or intervener;²³⁷

²³⁴ The new provisions apply to all claims lodged after the 8th August 2016. See the Criminal Justice and Courts Act 2015 (Commencement No. 4 and Transitional Provisions) Order 2016 SI 2016/717. And see Civil Procedure (Amendment No 2) Rules 2016, SI 2016/707 .

²³⁵ s.89(2) of the Criminal Justice and Courts Act 2015

²³⁶ s.88(3) of the Criminal Justice and Courts Act 2015

²³⁷ s.88(4) of the Criminal Justice and Courts Act 2015

24.6.3 The court may only make a JRCCO if it is satisfied that:²³⁸

24.6.3.1 The proceedings are public interest proceedings. Public interest proceedings are defined²³⁹ as an issue that is the subject of the proceedings which is of general public importance. Further, the public interest requires the issue to be resolved and the proceedings are likely to provide an appropriate means of resolving it. When considering this issue, the court must have regard²⁴⁰ to the number of people likely to be directly affected if relief is granted, how significant the effect on those people is likely to be, and whether the proceedings involve consideration of a point of law of general public importance.

24.6.3.2 In the absence of the order, the claimant would withdraw the application for judicial review or cease to participate in the proceedings and it would be reasonable to do so.

24.6.4 The court must have regard,²⁴¹ when considering whether to make a JRCCO, to the following:

24.6.4.1 The financial resources of the parties to the proceedings, including the financial resources of any person who provides, or may provide, financial support to the parties;

24.6.4.2 The extent to which the claimant is likely to benefit if relief is granted (see chapter 11 of this guide for final remedies);

24.6.4.3 The extent to which any person who has provided, or may provide, the applicant with financial support is likely to benefit if relief is granted;

24.6.4.4 Whether legal representatives for the applicant for the order are acting free of charge; and 24.6.4.5 Whether the claimant is an appropriate person to represent the interests of other persons or the public interest generally.

²³⁸ Further to s.88(6) of the Criminal Justice and Courts Act 2015

²³⁹ s.88(7) of the Criminal Justice and Courts Act 2015

²⁴⁰ Under s.88(8) of the Criminal Justice and Courts Act 2015

²⁴¹ Further to s.89(1) of the Criminal Justice and Courts Act 2015

24.7 JRCCOs: Procedure²⁴²

24.7.1 An application for a JRCCO must normally be contained in the claim form at section 8 or it must accompany the claim form in a separate document.²⁴³

24.7.2 The application must be supported by evidence setting out:²⁴⁴

24.7.2.1 Why a JRCCO should be made, having regard, in particular, to the matters at paragraph 24.6.3 and 24.6.4 above.

24.7.2.2 A summary of the claimant's financial resources, unless the court has dispensed with this requirement.²⁴⁵ The summary must provide details of the following:²⁴⁶

24.7.2.2.1 The claimant's significant assets, liabilities, income and expenditure; and

24.7.2.2.2 In relation to any financial support which any person has provided or is likely to provide to the claimant, the aggregate amount which has been provided and which is likely to be provided.

24.7.2.3 The costs (and disbursements) which the claimant considers the parties are likely to incur in the future conduct of the proceedings.

24.7.2.4 If the claimant is a body corporate, whether it is able to demonstrate that it is likely to have financial resources available to meet liabilities arising in connection with the proceedings. Where it cannot the court must consider giving directions for the provision of information about the body's members and their ability to provide financial support for the purpose of the proceedings.²⁴⁷

24.7.3 If the defendant wishes to resist the making of the JRCCO it should set out its reasons in the acknowledgment of service. Similarly, any representations on a reciprocal costs capping order (capping both parties' costs) should be made in the acknowledgment of service.

²⁴² The relevant procedure is outlined in the Criminal Justice and Courts Act 2015 and supplemented where appropriate by the pre-existing procedural provisions on protective costs order in R. (Corner House Research) v Trade and Industry Secretary [2005] 1 W.L.R. 2600 and R. (Buglife) v Thurrock Thames Gateway Development Corp [2009] C.P. Rep. 8 at paragraphs 29 – 31

²⁴³ CPR PD 46 paragraph 10.2 and R. (Corner House Research) v Trade and Industry Secretary [2005] 1 W.L.R. 2600

²⁴⁴ CPR 46.17(1)(b)

²⁴⁵ CPR 46.17(3)

²⁴⁶ CPR PD 46 paragraph 10.1

²⁴⁷ CPR 46.18

- 24.7.4 The claimant will usually be liable for defendant's costs incurred in a successful resistance to an application for a JRCCO.
- 24.7.5 If the judge grants permission to apply for judicial review on the papers the judge will then consider whether to make the JRCCO on the papers and if so, in what terms. If the judge does not grant permission the judge cannot make a JRCCO (see paragraph 24.6.1 above).
- 24.7.6 If the judge grants permission to apply for judicial review, but refuses to grant the JRCCO, and the claimant requests that the decision is reconsidered at a hearing (see paragraph 15.5 of this Guide for the procedure), that hearing should be limited to an hour and the claimant will face liability for costs if the JRCCO is again refused. The paper decision should only be revisited in exceptional circumstances.
- 24.7.7 The court should not set aside a JRCCO unless there is an exceptional reason for doing so.
- 24.7.8 An application for a JRCCO can be made at any time, not just when lodging the claim, although it is discouraged. When the preferred procedure, outlined above, cannot be utilised, a party may still apply for a JRCCO. In such circumstances the application should be made in accordance with the application procedure outlined at paragraph 12.7 of this Guide.

24.8 Environmental Law Cases

- 24.8.1 There are limits on the amount of costs that a party may be ordered to pay in what are known as Aarhus Convention claims (that is, certain claims involving environmental issues).
- 24.8.2 An Aarhus Convention claim is a claim which deals with subject matter within the scope of the Convention on Access to Information, Public Participation in Decision Making and Access to Justice in Environmental Matters ('the Aarhus Convention'). The Aarhus Convention defines what constitutes 'the environment':

"Art.2(3) - "Environmental information" means any information...on:

(a) The state of elements of the environment, such as air and atmosphere, water, soil, land, landscape and natural sites, biological diversity and its components, including genetically modified organisms, and the interaction among these elements;

(b) Factors, such as substances, energy, noise and radiation, and activities or measures, including administrative measures, environmental agreements policies, legislation, plans and programmes, affecting or likely to affect the elements of the environment within the scope of subparagraph (a) above, and cost-benefit and other economic analyses and assumptions used in environmental decision-making;

(c) The state of human health and safety, conditions of human life, cultural sites and built structures, inasmuch as they are or may be affected by the state of the elements of the environment or, through these elements, by the factors, activities or measures referred to in subparagraph (b) above.”

24.8.3 Where the claimant believes that his or her claim comes within the terms of the Aarhus Convention then they should note it in part 6 of the claim form. Where the claimant contends that the Aarhus Convention applies, unless the defendant challenges that assertion, the costs limit is automatically in place.²⁴⁸

24.8.4 The current costs limit is £5,000 where the claimant is claiming only as an individual and not as or on behalf of, a business or other legal person. In all other cases the limit is £10,000. Where a defendant is ordered to pay costs, the limit is £35,000.²⁴⁹

24.8.5 Where the defendant intends to challenge the assertion that the Aarhus Convention applies and, therefore, that the costs limit does not apply, the procedure to challenge the assertion can be found at CPR 45.44:

24.8.5.1 The defendant must indicate if he refutes the assertion in the acknowledgment of service at section E.

24.8.5.2 The defendant must set out the defendant’s grounds for such denial.

24.8.5.3 Where the defendant argues that the claim is not an Aarhus Convention claim, the Court will determine that issue at the earliest opportunity, usually at the same time as considering permission to apply for judicial review on the papers.

24.8.6 In any proceedings to determine whether the claim is an Aarhus Convention claim:

²⁴⁸ CPR 45.43(1)

²⁴⁹ CPR PD 45 paragraph 5.1

- 24.8.6.1 If the Court holds that the claim is not an Aarhus Convention claim, it will normally make no order for costs in relation to the application for a costs cap;
- 24.8.6.2 If the Court holds that the claim is an Aarhus Convention claim, it will normally order the defendant to pay the claimant's costs in relation to the application on an indemnity basis (see paragraph 23.2.4 of this Guide), and that order may be enforced notwithstanding that this would increase the costs payable by the defendant beyond the £35,000 limit (see paragraph 24.8.4 above).
- 24.8.7 The automatic costs limit provisions also apply where the claimant is a public body.²⁵⁰
- 24.8.8 A claimant may indicate on the claim form that they wish to opt out of the automatic costs limit. If the claimant does not indicate on the claim form that the Aarhus Convention applies, the claimant is taken to have opted out.²⁵¹

²⁵⁰ R. (HS2 Action Alliance Ltd) v Secretary of State for Transport [2015] 2 Costs L.R. 411

²⁵¹ CPR 45.42

25. “Old-Style” Costs Capping

25.1 Legislative Change

From 8 August 2016, a new comprehensive code for costs capping in judicial review will apply. The new “judicial review costs capping order” or “JRCCO” is outlined above, see paragraph 24.5-24.7 of this Guide. The rest of this chapter concerns “old-style” costs capping orders which remain available only in relation to cases issued before 8 August 2016.

25.2 Old-Style Costs Capping

A costs capping order is an order limiting the amount of future costs (including disbursements) which a party may recover pursuant to an order for costs subsequently made.²⁵²

25.3 Old-Style Costs Capping: Procedure

- 25.3.1 A costs capping order may be made in respect of the whole litigation, or any issues which are to be tried separately.
- 25.3.2 The Court may make a costs capping order if it is:
 - 25.3.2.1 In the interests of justice to do so;
 - 25.3.2.2 There is a substantial risk that without such an order costs will be disproportionately incurred; and
 - 25.3.2.3 The Court is not satisfied that the risk identified in the forgoing paragraph can be adequately controlled by case management directions, or order, and/or detailed assessment of costs.
- 25.3.3 In considering whether to exercise its discretion to make a costs capping order, the Court will consider all the circumstances of the case, including
 - 25.3.3.1 Whether there is a substantial imbalance between the financial position of the parties;
 - 25.3.3.2 Whether the costs of determining the amount of the cap are likely to be proportionate to the overall costs of the litigation;

²⁵² CPR 3.19(1), and see PD 3F

- 25.3.3.3 The stage which the proceedings have reached; and
 - 25.3.3.4 The costs which have been incurred to date and future costs.
- 25.3.4 A costs capping order, once made, will limit the costs recoverable by the party subject to the order unless a party successfully applies to vary the order. No variation will be made unless:
- 25.3.4.1 There has been a material and substantial change of circumstances since the date when the order was made; or
 - 25.3.4.2 There is some other compelling reason why a variation should be made.
- 25.3.5 An application for a costs capping order must be made by way of application on notice to the other party or parties (see paragraph 12.7 of this Guide). The application must set out what order is sought, and why a costs capping order should be made. The application should be accompanied by a budget setting out the costs and disbursements incurred by the applicant to date, and the costs and disbursements which the applicant is likely to incur in the future conduct of the proceedings.²⁵³
- 25.3.6 The Court may fix directions for the hearing of the application (see paragraph 13.2.3 for listing).
- 25.3.7 Any application to vary a costs capping order must be made by application on notice to the other party or parties.²⁵⁴

²⁵³ CPR 3.20 and PD 3F

²⁵⁴ CPR 3.21

26. Appeals

26.1 Appeals in Civil Cases

26.1.1 All parties have a right to seek to appeal to the Court of Appeal (Civil Division) against a substantive decision or against refusal of permission to apply for judicial review. Permission to appeal is required.

26.2 Challenging the Grant of Permission

26.2.1 Where permission to bring a judicial review has been granted:

26.2.1.1 Neither the defendant nor any other person served with the claim form may apply to the Administrative Court to set aside an order giving permission to bring a judicial review.²⁵⁵

26.2.1.2 If the defendant or another interested party has not been served with the claim form, they may apply to the Administrative Court to set aside permission, but the power to set aside permission is exercised sparingly and only in a very plain case.²⁵⁶

26.3 Appeals against the Refusal of Permission

26.3.1 Where permission has been refused after a hearing in the Administrative Court, the person seeking permission may apply to the Court of Appeal.²⁵⁷

26.3.2 Where permission has been refused on the papers and there is no right to renewal, the person can apply to the Court of Appeal for permission to appeal, and that application will be determined on paper without a hearing.²⁵⁸

26.3.3 An appeal (including any application for permission to appeal) against the refusal of permission to apply for judicial review must be lodged with the Court of Appeal within 7 days of the date of the decision, or within the time limit ordered by the Administrative Court.²⁵⁹ This is also the case where

²⁵⁵ CPR 54.13

²⁵⁶ See R v Secretary of State ex p Chinoy (1992) 4 Admin L Rep 457

²⁵⁷ CPR 52.15

²⁵⁸ CPR 52.15(1A)

²⁵⁹ CPR 52.15(2)

permission has been refused and the right to renewal has been removed (cases where the Upper Tribunal is the defendant (see paragraph 8.7 of this Guide) and totally without merit cases (see paragraph 8.3 of this Guide)),²⁶⁰ although in these cases the 7 days begins from the date of service of the order, not the date of the decision.²⁶¹

- 26.3.4 The Court of Appeal may, instead of giving permission to appeal, give permission to apply for judicial review, in which event the case will proceed in the Administrative Court unless the Court of Appeal orders otherwise.

26.4 Appeals Against Substantive Decisions

- 26.4.1 Permission to appeal against the Court's decision following the substantive hearing is required and it can be granted by the Administrative Court at the hearing where the decision being appealed is made. The application must be made at the hearing; there is no provision to allow for it to be made once the hearing has concluded. The Court may adjourn the question of permission to another date or to be considered on written representations, but it must make an order doing so at the time of the hearing.²⁶²
- 26.4.2 In the event that permission to appeal is refused by the Administrative Court, a second application can be made to the Court of Appeal itself in the appellant's notice (form N161).²⁶³ The application for permission can be made to the Court of Appeal even if permission to appeal was not sought from the Administrative Court.
- 26.4.3 An appeal (including any application for permission to appeal) against a substantive decision of the Administrative Court must be lodged with the Court of Appeal within 21 days of the date of the decision,²⁶⁴ or within the time limit ordered by the Administrative Court.
- 26.4.4 Permission to appeal will only be granted if the Court finds that the appeal would have a real prospect of success or there is some other compelling reason why the appeal should be heard.²⁶⁵

²⁶⁰ CPR 52.15(1A)

²⁶¹ CPR 52.15(2)

²⁶² CPR 52.3(2)(a)

²⁶³ CPR 52.3(3)

²⁶⁴ CPR 52.4(2)(b)

²⁶⁵ CPR 52.3(6)

26.4.5 Further information on appeals to the Court of Appeal can be provided by the Civil Appeals Office (see annex 1 for contact details).

26.5 Appeals in Criminal Cases

26.5.1 There is no right of appeal from the Administrative Court to the Court of Appeal in cases relating to any criminal cause or matter.²⁶⁶

26.5.2 The only route of appeal from the Administrative Court is to the Supreme Court. An appeal to the Supreme Court is only possible where two conditions are satisfied. First, the Administrative Court must certify that the case raises a point of law of general public importance.²⁶⁷ The second is that permission to appeal must be granted. An application for permission to appeal to the Supreme Court and for a certificate of a point of law must be made to the Administrative Court within 28 days of the decision challenged or the date when reasons for the decision are given.²⁶⁸

26.5.3 The application for a certificate of a point of law and for permission to appeal may be made in the same application. The procedure is the same as the interim applications procedure (see paragraph 12.7 of this Guide).

26.5.4 The right of appeal to the Supreme Court applies only to substantive decisions. There is no appeal from the decision of the Court if permission to apply for judicial review is refused.²⁶⁹

26.5.5 Further information on appeals to the Supreme Court can be obtained from the Supreme Court (see annex 1 for contact details).

26.6 Appealing Case Management Orders

26.6.1 The principles applied above at paragraphs 26.1 – 26.4 (for civil cases) and 26.5 (for criminal cases) apply for appeals against case management orders, although paragraph 15.5 of this Guide on reconsideration of interim orders made without a hearing should be considered before appealing.

²⁶⁶ s.18(1)(a) of the Senior Courts Act 1981

²⁶⁷ s.1(2) of the Administration of Justice Act 1960

²⁶⁸ s.2(1) of the Administration of Justice Act 1960

²⁶⁹ Re Poh [1983] 1 All ER 287

- 26.6.2 The time limit for appealing remains 21 days in civil cases, but the proceedings in the Administrative Court will not necessarily await the decision of the Court of Appeal. If the parties wish the Administrative Court proceedings to be stayed pending the decision of the Court of Appeal they must apply for a stay (see paragraph 12.8 of this Guide).
- 26.6.3 Permission to appeal is generally granted more sparingly in appeals against case management orders as not only will the Court consider whether the appeal would have a real prospect of success or there is some other compelling reason why the appeal should be heard, but it will generally also consider the significance of the decision, the costs involved in appealing, the delay or disruption likely to be caused to the Administrative Court proceedings, and whether the point would be better dealt with at or after the substantive hearing.²⁷⁰

26.7 Appeals Against an Interim Order Made by the Master

- 26.7.1 An appeal against the order of the Master made at an oral hearing may be appealed to a High Court Judge.²⁷¹ If the Master's decision is made on the papers the provisions on reconsideration at paragraph 15.5 of this Guide should be considered.
- 26.7.2 The application for permission to appeal must be filed on form N161 and lodged with the Administrative Court Office. The parties should also consider the guidance in paragraphs 26.1 – 26.4 above, which, save for any references to the Court of Appeal, would equally apply to appeals against the Master's decisions.

²⁷⁰ CPR PD 52A paragraph 4.6

²⁷¹ CPR PD 52A paragraph 4.3

Contact Details

The Administrative Court Offices

Website: www.gov.uk/courts-tribunals/administrative-court

Birmingham

The Administrative Court Office
Birmingham Civil and Family Justice Hearing Centre
Priory Courts
33 Bull Street
Birmingham
West Midlands
B4 6DS
DX 701987 Birmingham 7

Telephone Number: 0121 681 4441

General Email: administrativecourtoffice.birmingham@hmcts.x.gsi.gov.uk

Skeleton Arguments Email:

administrativecourtofficebirmingham.skeletonarguments@hmcts.x.gsi.gov.uk

Leeds

The Administrative Court Office
Leeds Combined Court Centre
The Courthouse
1 Oxford Row
Leeds
West Yorkshire
LS1 3BG
DX: 703016 Leeds 6

Telephone Number: 0113 306 2578

General Email: administrativecourtoffice.leeds@hmcts.x.gsi.gov.uk

Skeleton Arguments Email:

administrativecourtofficeleeds.skeletonarguments@hmcts.x.gsi.gov.uk

London

The Administrative Court Office
Royal Courts of Justice
Strand
London
WC2A 2LL
DX 44450 Strand

Telephone Number: 020 7947 6655

General Email: administrativecourtoffice.generaloffice@hmcts.x.gsi.gov.uk

Skeleton Arguments Email:

administrativecourtofficelondon.skeletonarguments@hmcts.x.gsi.gov.uk

Manchester

The Administrative Court Office
Manchester Civil and Family Justice Centre
1 Bridge Street West
Manchester
M60 9DJ
DX 724783 Manchester 44

Telephone Number: 0161 240 5313

General Email: administrativecourtoffice.manchester@hmcts.x.gsi.gov.uk

Skeleton Arguments Email:

administrativecourtofficemanchester.skeletonarguments@hmcts.x.gsi.gov.uk

Wales and Western Circuit

The Administrative Court Office
Cardiff Civil Justice Centre,
2 Park Street,
Cardiff,
CF10 1ET
DX 99500 Cardiff 6

Telephone Number: 029 20376460

General Email: administrativecourtoffice.cardiff@hmcts.x.gsi.gov.uk

Skeleton Arguments Email:

administrativecourtofficecardiff.skeletonarguments@hmcts.x.gsi.gov.uk

Upper Tribunal (Administrative Appeals Chamber)

Upper Tribunal (Administrative Appeals Chamber)
5th Floor Rolls Building
7 Rolls Buildings,
Fetter Lane
London
EC4A 1NL
DX 160042 STRAND 4

Email: adminappeals@hmcts.gsi.gov.uk
Telephone Number: 020 7071 5662

Upper Tribunal (Immigration and Asylum Chamber)

For the UT(IAC) – Judicial Reviews Only:

For London:

Upper Tribunal (Immigration and Asylum Chamber)
IA Field House
15 Breams Buildings
London
EC4A 1DZ

For UT(IAC) judicial reviews in Birmingham, Cardiff, Leeds, or Manchester, see the contact details for the Administrative Court Office in that area above.

For UT(IAC) – All non judicial review cases:

Lodging Appeals:
Upper Tribunal (Immigration and Asylum Chamber)
IA Field House
15 Breams Buildings
London
EC4A 1DZ

Unless advised otherwise, all other correspondence to:
Upper Tribunal (Immigration and Asylum Chamber)
Arnhem Support Centre
PO Box 6987
Leicester
LE1 6ZX

Fax: 0116 249 4130
Customer Service Centre (Enquiry Unit) telephone: 0300 123 1711

Senior Courts Costs Office

Senior Courts Costs Office
Royal Courts of Justice
Strand
London
WC2A 2LL
DX 44454 Strand

Telephone Number: 020 7947 6469/ 6404 / 7818

Email: SCCO@hmcts.gsi.gov.uk

Website: <https://www.gov.uk/courts-tribunals/senior-courts-costs-office>

Court of Appeal (Civil Division)

Civil Appeals Office
Room E307
Royal Courts of Justice
Strand
London
WC2A 2LL
DX: 44450 Strand
Telephone Number: 020 7947 7677

Supreme Court

The Supreme Court
Parliament Square
London
SW1P 3BD
DX 157230 Parliament Sq 4
Telephone Number: 020 7960 1500 or 1900
Facsimile: 020 7960 190

Annex 2

Forms and Fees

Act / Application	Form*	Fee	Ref
Application for permission to apply for judicial review	N461 (Judicial Review Claim Form)	£154.00	1.9(a)
Reconsideration of permission at an oral hearing	86b	£385.00	1.9(aa)
Continuing judicial review after permission has been granted Any fee paid under 1.9(aa) is deducted	-	£770.00	1.9(b)
Appeal	N161 (Appellant's Notice)	£240.00	2.4
Acknowledgment of Service	N462 (JR)	£0.00	-
Interim Application	N244 (Application Notice)	£255.00	2.6
Consent Order	N244 & Consent Order	£100.00	2.7
Discontinuance	N279 (Notice of Discontinuance)	£0.00	-
Urgent Consideration (within 48 hours of lodging claim)	N463 (Application for Urgent Consideration)	£255.00 (unless made when lodging when the fee is £0.00)	2.6

*= current forms can be found at www.gov.uk/courts-tribunals/administrative-court

=schedule 1, Civil Proceedings Fee Order 2008 (as amended). The fees above were correct on the 25 July 2016.

Addresses for Service of Central Government Departments²⁷²

Government Department	Solicitor for Service
Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service, Board of Trade, Cabinet Office, Commissioners for the Reduction of National Debt, Crown Prosecution Service, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills, Department for Communities and Local Government, Department for Culture, Media and Sport, Department for Education, Department of Energy and Climate Change, Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs, Department for Health, Department for International Development, Department for Transport, Department for Work and Pensions, Foreign and Commonwealth Office, Forestry Commissioners, Government Actuary's Department, Government Equalities Office, Health and Safety Executive, Her Majesty's Chief Inspector of Education and Training in Wales, Her Majesty's Treasury, Home Office, Ministry of Defence, Ministry of Justice, National Savings and Investments, Northern Ireland Office, Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills, Ordnance Survey, Privy Council Office, Public Works Loan Board, Revenue and Customs Prosecutions Office, Royal Mint, Serious Fraud Office, Statistics Board (UK Statistics Authority), The National Archives, Wales Office (Office of the Secretary of State for Wales)	The Government Legal Department, One Kemble Street, London, WC2B 4TS, DX 123242 Kingsway
Crown Estate Commissioners	Legal Director, The Crown Estate, 16 New Burlington Place, London, W1S 2HX
Export Credits Guarantee Department	The General Counsel, Export Credits Guarantee Department, P.O. Box 2200, 2 Exchange Tower, Harbour Exchange Square, London, E14 9GS

²⁷² Taken from published list by Sir Francis Maude, Cabinet Secretary, on the 26 October 2012. Also found at annex 2 to CPR PD 66. The above table has been amended from the 2012 published version to add the Department of Health and the Department for Work and Pensions to the Government Legal Department's remit, thus reflecting the current position for those departments. It also updates by replacing the Treasury Solicitor's Department with the Government Legal Department.

Food Standards Agency	Director of Legal Services, Food Standards Agency, Aviation House, 125 Kingsway, London, WC2B 6NH
Gas and Electricity Markets Authority	Senior Legal Director, Office of Gas and Electricity Markets, 9 Millbank, London, SW1P 3GE
Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs	General Counsel and Solicitor to Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs, HM Revenue and Customs, South West Wing Bush House, Strand London, WC2B 4RD
Office of Fair Trading	General Counsel, Fleetbank House, 2-6 Salisbury Square, London, EC4Y 8JX
Office of Qualifications and Examinations Regulation (Ofqual)	Head of Legal Ofqual, 1410 Spring Place, Herald Avenue, Coventry Business Park, Coventry, West Midlands, CV5 6UB
Office of Rail Regulation	Director of Legal Services ORR, One Kemble Street, London, WC2B 4AN
Water Services Regulation Authority (OFWAT)	Director of Legal Services and Board Secretary, Water Services Regulation Authority (OFWAT), Centre City Tower, 7 Hill Street, Birmingham, B5 4UA
Welsh Assembly Government	The Director of Legal Services to the Welsh Assembly Government, Cathays Park, Cardiff, CF10 3NQ